I wonder if this new Secretary of Health had time to familiarize himself with the health conditions in the State before he was called upon to make the decision. He should know that that stretch of area west of the mountains extending from Lake Erie to the Maryland line has not a single institution to care for tuberculous patients.

In an interview he was quoted as saying that the Department of Health could accommodate all waiting patients in the institutions now functioning. I ask Mr. Secretary of Health "How and in what fashion and how efficiently?" If you succeed along these lines I will suggest the Governor decorate you as the first living medical "Houdini."

We joined the eminent Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden, in bills to safeguard the health of the people against syphilis and the venereal diseases, because we felt that it was an assurance of healthy minds and bodies to the present and future citizens of Pennsylvania.

Social workers were very active in voicing their approval of these bills, and labored diligently to affect their passage. Is the great army of 50,000 known tuberculous cases wandering about this State mixing with healthy individuals, frequently expectorating promiscuously in public places, a greater source of infection than the syphilitic who frequently invites the antecedent infection under dimmed lights in the arms of a known woman of the street? Are the economic effects less serious upon the public at large? If not, why do we not meet both problems frankly. Why are the voices of the social worker so loud in clamor for reform and restoration in the one problem, and so still and quiet in dealing with one so much greater?

I make this appeal as a matter of conscience. I would be derelict in my duty, blind to the truths of a noble profession, if I neglected to make this plea. I want to go to bed at night to sleep and not lie awake visioning hollow hectic flushed cheeks, brilliantly illumed eyes staring, gaunt arms outstretched, pleading with me for "God's sake not to forget them."

I sincerely hope too that the Governor of Pennsylvania and the Secretary of Health are not so calloused as not to be affected by a sympathetic plea. I wish for both pleasant dreams.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and members of the Senate, I would be indeed derelict in my duties to my constituency if I failed to enter into this discussion this afternoon relative to the vital problem of closing the Butler institution.

I could not help but think as I heard the reading of the letter from the Secretary of Health by the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, that the Secretary of Health and his department are not consistent.

I would like to read here a letter that I received personally from the Deputy Secretary of Health, on February 21, 1939, which was over a month ago.

February 21, 1939.

Honorable John H. Dent, Jeannette, Pennsylvania.

Dear Senator Dent:

We have your letter of February 16th in the interest of Mr. Edward Leseman, North Third Street, Jeannette, Pennsylvania.

The application for sanatorium treatment for Mr. Leseman was received on February 15th and he is the type of case for which there has been a scarcity of vacancies at the sanatoria. We have listed him for Cresson and will admit him as promptly as possible, but regret that a definite date cannot be given at this time.

Very truly yours,

A. H. STEWART, M. D.
Deputy Secretary of Health.

Last week-end when I was at home relatives of this man came to see me and told me that if he was not placed in some sort of sanatorium before thirty days were up the State would be relieved of the obligation of placing him in any sanatorium—that the Lord would take care of him.

I have here a letter from the Johnstown Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, which also gives figures which do not entirely agree with the figures given by the Secretary of Health.

March, 23, 1939.

Hon. John J. Haluska, Senator,
Harrisburg, Pa.

Dear Senator:

The Johnstown Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis is very much interested in having the Sanitarium at Butler opened for use of the tuberculosis patients of Pennsylvania, and also increased bed space. From our knowledge of the cases needing hospital and sanitarium care, as there were 4,800 deaths in Pennsylvania last year, and on the basis of nine (9) cases to every death, there are approximately 44,000 active cases of tuberculosis in Pennsylvania at the present time. The most conservative estimate would show at least 12,000 of these are in need of hospital treatment and there are but 4,512 beds available in Tuberculosis Hospitals or sanatoria in the State at this time.

As it is recognized by authorities on tuberculosis that the minimum requirements are two beds for each annual death, there is a dire need for provisions for additional hospital beds.

With best wishes we are,

Very truly yours,

HARRY B. HERSHEY,
President.

March 9, 1939.

Honorable Arthur H. James, Governor
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
State Capital Building
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Governor:

We are writing you in behalf of Mrs. Margaret A. Shane, 251 Sherman Avenue, Vandergrift, Pennsylvania, who is residing with her husband, Mr. Milfred R. Shane, three children, ages 13, 3 and 1 year respectively.

Mrs. Shane is suffering from a chronic case of tuberculosis. She was examined in the early part of January, 1939, by the State Clinic at Greensburg, Pennsylvania and was informed by the Clinic that it would be necessary for her to return home at that time and await her turn to be admitted to a state institution.

We are writing you and begging that you take immediate steps to have this mother admitted to a State Institution for treatment.

Yours truly,

JAMES B. FEENEY,
Field Representative.

P. S.—For your information, copies which are self-explanatory and further request that you help us in any way you can to have the patient immediately admitted.

I want to say here to the members of this Senate that I have no doubt whatsoever that the Butler institution will be opened before the two-year period is up. Public indignation at the so-called governmental economy at the expense of the health and the welfare of the people of this State will force the opening of that institution before the period is up.

I think it is only fair that we should call attention to a few pertinent facts that will assist this wave of public indignation in getting those who are in power to see the light and do that which is their bounden duty to do, to open that sanatorium.

I want to say that the estimates of the General State Authority that I received last fall stated that the hospital would be ready for occupancy around the first of June. The Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, in his remarks stated that the institution would not be ready until late fall. Why will it not be ready until late fall? Because your Governor, who has taken the attitude of a little Napoleon and has to have his fingers in every function and department of government has interfered in the due process of the workings of the General State Authority; that for a period of over two months the General State Authority has not met and only recently did they break bread together, all simply because this man who was elected Governor takes the attitude that the people in Pennsylvania repudiated everything Democratic, that persons who have the stigma of being registered Democratic are not to serve, in his opinion, in any department of government whether it be the Turnpike Commission, Public Utility Commission or the General State Authority or any other, because this Governor has placed political patronage, political expediency, ahead of the welfare of the people of Pennsylvania and because he thinks that this general election recently held in Pennsylvania has given him a clear road and the dictatorial power to go in and smash down all the institutions created by the Democratic Administration for four years and to interfere in their proper functioning; and if the General State Authority was left alone this sanatorium would be ready by June first or near that date.

And so I say do not come in here with alibis. You have asked for it and now take it; you did not know what you were doing when you closed, or said you would keep closed, that institution; your Secretary of Health was only in office about six weeks when he said that the sanatorium was not needed.

I agree with the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy, and I say that I too doubt whether he has sufficient knowledge to make that statement. And so I do not pay much attention to the letters of explanation, to the letters of excuse given us by the department head. I state to the people of Pennsylvania from this Senate floor that this sanatorium must be opened; that it will be opened, because public indignation will open it.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, sometime in early January one of our school teachers in Washington County made application to one of our sanatoriums, and up until today he has not been admitted. I have here a letter from Doctor Keck, of February 18, 1939, setting forth the seriousness of this teacher's case; and, on February 17, 1939, I have a petition signed by twenty-four of the school teachers of the West Pike Run Township stating that it was of very great importance that this young man be entered in one of our sanatoriums as a patient; and to date I have been in close touch with the Department of Health and have just recently learned again that no definite arrangements can be made for his admission; and I ask, Mr. President, the right to have these two papers, one from Doctor Keck and the other from the school teachers of West Pike Run Township entered in the record of the Senate.

February 17, 1939.
West Pike Run Twp.

Dear Mr. Reed:

We, the undersigned teachers of the West Pike Run School District, are asking your aid in behalf of one of our fellow teachers, Anthony Zaharewicz. Mr. Zaharewicz has taught in our district until his health failed him, and is now in desperate need of proper attention. It is a matter now of immediate attention to regain his health or of a delay which may prove fatal to him.

We, the undersigned, ask your aid.

Name: Address:

(Signed by 24 petitioners, together with their addresses.)

Senator J. Albert Reed
California, Penna.

Dear Sir:

I am writing you in behalf of Anthony Laharewicz, a school teacher of West Pike Run Township. Mr. Laharewicz had a lung abscess followed by impuenna. He has now developed tuberculosis, and is in urgent need of proper hospital or sanitarium care.

W. F. KECK, M. D.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I had hoped that this subject, which is of extreme importance, should be discussed without the calling of any names. I also would like to see the Senator of Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, ask that the names of the persons he read be stricken from the record.

I am sure that in zeal of the discussion he did not give any thought to the fact that he is advertising a matter which I think is more private than public, at least to the extent of the names; I therefore hope that he will of his own motion ask that these names be stricken from the record.

I want to say that for the past ten years Pennsylvania has stood still in the development of prevention and cure of tuberculosis. I would like to have the members of this Senate read a book which was written by a Paul de Kruif, who wrote "Microbe Hunters," and the book is called "Why Let Them Live," which was published two years ago. It should be illuminating to us, and to the citizens of Pennsylvania, to know what has been done in Detroit and Cincinnati in this respect to this very serious subject; it may be illuminating to the Senator from Westmoreland to know that the thing he calls a waiting list is not a waiting list of tuberculosis patients at all it is merely a list of names of those people who have tuberculosis, or suffer from it, who have applied for institutional care.

It does not scratch the surface of the people who have given up hope in applying, nor of those who have tuberculosis but who are not even known to be suffering from it; and in Detroit and Cincinnati the State itself, and the localities pay to private physicians for X-ray work which is being done in their offices to disclose the number of persons who are suffering from tuberculosis and who are not known.

In the last twenty-one years, the doctors can tell you, members of this Senate who are physicians can tell you—there has been a development in phrenic treatment from the so-called pneumothorax treatment which is complete collapsing of the lung, for those who do need institutional care and it is the semi-collapsing of the lung or semi-pneumothorax treatment. They have developed a thorocaplastic operation which is known as a deribbing operation. All of these new developments have resulted in a change of our attitude of hopelessness as to the cure of tuberculosis.

In other words we require beds, more beds than are even now possible for the placing and segregating of these patients.

In Long Island, New York, one hundred patients who were declared to be hopeless were placed in a sanatorium, and because of their hopelessness and because of the fact that this new deribbing operation was so dangerous, and, in many cases, thought to be fatal, they determined to perform this thorocaplastic operation on those patients; and after a period of five years 45 per cent of the patients on whom that operation was performed are still alive and will continue to live. When you consider the proposition from that aspect you can get some idea on how neglectful the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been in the last ten years on this very important subject.

Let us be frank about it. It is useless and not proper to say that we have sufficient institutions to care for this terrible disease. We will never have until we take steps to prevent it.

In Cincinnati and Detroit the number has been decreased, many causes have been wiped out, slum areas have been investigated, X-ray and proper treatment have reduced the percentage of new cases; and we can do the same thing here, and I am not at all, in dealing with that question, interested in what the situation of the budget is.

I say that the more you neglect it the more you spend in the institution, and I think that the time has now come that we should take some action on this matter and not think of it merely as an occasion for the venting of spleen by the gentleman from Butler—whose attitude some of you may not like by his continuing to harp on this subject; if he does not do it nothing will ever come of it.

I do not know how many of you remember last year, or the session before, when we were flooded with circulars from someone connected I think with the Saturday Evening Post, discussing the movement to develop in Pennsylvania the same situation that has disclosed and developed in Detroit and Cincinnati but nothing was done about that. We all got those circulars and read them and stood by and did nothing.

I recommend to you that you read that book by Paul de Kruif and you will see what we are now doing in Pennsylvania and will understand that the Butler institution is merely a signal and that is all.

When the Governor of Pennsylvania can tell you in his budget that it is not necessary to open the Butler County institution, I am sure his information comes from people who have not gone deeply enough into the subject. I made inquiry about the situation, with respect to the building, and I am told by people who know that if that building is allowed to remain idle, in its present condition, for two years, then the 55 per cent completion will only mean 20 per cent completion, because it will deteriorate 30 per cent in the next two years. That is not saving money; that is losing it.

I would rather see the many thousands of dollars we are appropriating here forgotten and substitute for that some solution of this problem which has been raised by the Senator from Butler, Mr. Sipe. It is not his fight nor my fight, it is the obligation of everyone of us; and unless by next week some of the gentlemen from the other side where I think it will be more effective, submit a resolution for complete information to be furnished to the members of this Senate, I shall present a resolution myself not only asking that we be given full information about the capacity and about the waiting list complete—not special waiting lists and not what is going to be done in the next few weeks—but what our problem is for the next few years; and I hope somebody on the other side will take the trouble to prepare such a resolution and that we will take some action.

I think it is time we got some results.

I hope, however, in our discussion of this subject we will not mix it up with our resentment against the Governor or anybody else but treat this purely on an humanitarian basis; otherwise it will get lost among the Senators themselves.

This is not a proposition between Governor James and Mr. Sipe; it is not a proposition between any one of them and the Governor; there is no necessity for criticism here of the Governor's action; but unless we and the Governor act certainly it will be a subject of criticism at the proper time and there is no sense in muddying the issue now calling him names or criticizing him.

I call upon the members on the Republican side of the house to proceed with due diligence in this matter.

MR. DENT. I usually try to be reasonable and sensible in my enunciation and in my denunciation of things, but I cannot understand how any harm whatsoever can come from stating simple truths. I do not believe I called the Governor or anybody else, any names, other than the fact that I said he took a Napoleonic attitude, which I believe. As far as the names of the persons who are afflicted with this disease and pleading for help are concerned if I do not read names someone might say that the cases were only fictitious; that I had made them up.

Names must be read to make the record straight. There is nothing criminal about these poor people having tuberculosis; the thing that is criminal is that we are denying them treatment. There is nothing wrong with reading a person's name into the record, who is suffering from a disease, and that person himself is not interested in the publicity he gets; all he asks is that he gets treatment that he may live; and so I do not intend to ask that any names or any of the remarks I have made be taken from the record; and I will fight to the limit of my ability to keep those remarks on the record, where I intended them to be.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Luzerne, Dr. Mundy.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Mundy permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I wish to ask the Senator from Luzerne whether he has presented the facts which he referred to in his address to the Secretary of Health and to the Governor.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I have not. I have had absolutely no contact with the Governor or the Secretary of Health.

Mr. EALY. I wish to ask the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. President, if the Medical Society of the State to which he belongs has taken up this matter with the Secretary of Health or with the Governor.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I understand from Dr. Palmer that he has already talked to them—what his conversation was I do not know, but I am informed he has talked to them on various occasions. For your information, if that is the knowledge you want to know, whether the State Medical Society had any influence on my standing on the floor and talking today, I would say no, I have talked as an individual.

Mr. EALY. Mr. President, I am glad that this discussion occurred here today I am sorry it has in some manner degenerated into an attack on the Governor. We are all very anxious to take care of the tuberculosis patients in Pennsylvania; we are all interested in that matter; we know the conditions, and the State has not been entirely derelict in this matter.

Besides, the sanatoria at Hamburg and Mont Alto and Cresson there are quite a number of appropriations to hospitals which are equipped especially to take care of consumptives, State aided hospitals.

As was pointed out in the statement by the Secretary of Health it is not intended at all to let the Butler hospital go—he made it very clear in that statement, as I recall that the Butler Hospital would be completed—but the General Authority could not complete that until late in the fall, and in the meantime additions will be completed and fully equipped in these other sanatoria to take care of all the waiting patients.

I think the statement of the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, that there should be a different approach to this problem is perhaps worthy of consideration; not merely that hospitals be erected, but that more preventative action should be taken in all the localities throughout the Commonwealth. The State is working on that. We are all interested in this problem, but I am sorry it has simply degenerated into an attack on the Governor.

If these men have these facts so fully at hand it should have been presented to the Secretary of Health long ago, and if the money is demanded for rushing this institution to completion at an earlier date than the General Authority says it can complete it, why that should be done; but if the facts are so bad that this mere five hundred beds or whatever it is there, is going to take care of the situation, surely the Governor and Secretary of Health will use every effort to find the means to complete it.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I want to correct one misapprehension, one statement, made by the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy. He says this has degenerated into an attack upon the Governor of Pennsylvania.

I think we are all intelligent enough to distinguish between an attack on the Governor and an attack on the judgment of some of his men. There is a distinct difference between an attack, a personal attack on anybody, and a criticism or discussion of some of the judgments of that official, and I think it is perfectly fair that we stand on this floor and criticize judgment, I might say further that in my talk I was very particular to say that, after all, the Governor's judgment is formed by the knowledge—or should be formed by the knowledge he receives from his cabinet heads. The Senator in his speech said the deduction was made because of the presentation of certain facts by statistician in the bureau, and I thought it was clear in the minds of the Senators and everybody—and it was far from my intention at any time to attack the Governor of Pennsylvania, but rather his judgment in a matter of State, which I think is the prerogative of a Senator on the floor. I might say, for the Senator's information, that on the evening of November 8th when the election returns came in, my attacks on the Governor of Pennsylvania ceased.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, in regard to a remark of the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy, I think the figures which he quoted, 611, are in error, or else the Department of Health has changed its figures in a very short time.

Some time ago, a year or so ago, I used to appeal to the Department of Health on special cases. One day I happened to visit the hospital in Elwood when a chest clinic in the hospital was being conducted by the county physicians, and for an hour and a half I listened to pleas from mothers and fathers and sisters, asking me if I would use my influence to get members of their families preference in the tuberculosis hospital. From that time on I knew that there were so many urgent cases that I ceased to make personal appeals, because I could not do so without doing injustice to somebody else that needed to be in there as badly as the person that appealed to me.

However, if the figures are true, then I think the Senator can cut one off, because we buried a man near to me Monday, who had been trying for months to get in a tuberculosis hospital; and if 611 are correct, I say to him most of them must be in my district.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I was very much surprised, and so were some of my colleagues on this side of the House, that Senator Ealy should make the implication on the floor of this Senate that my zeal for the opening of this wonderful institution for suffering humanity was due to my desire to make a speech when the institution is formally dedicated.

I must speak plainly and state to Senator Ealy that is pretty cheap stuff, in my opinion, I am not seeking to make any speech at the dedicatory exercises. I did not appear on the program when the ground-breaking took place. The speeches that I am making for the opening of the sanatorium are being made here on the floor of this Senate, and I will continue to make them right along, because while Brother Ealy is fighting for dollars I am fighting for humanity, and I will keep on until this session is ended.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, we have listened with great attention and concern to the discussion of a very vital problem, and from all the discussion and knowledge that we have it appears that the problem has arisen because of the efforts of His Excellency the Governor to bring about economy of administration of government.

Because the problem was developed by the Governor's economy policy I at this time offer the following resolution:

RESOLUTION URGING RECALL OF CONFIRMATION OF SECRETARY OF REVENUE, WM. J. HAMILTON

Mr. CAVALCANTE offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, March 29, 1939.

Whereas, On the 6th day of February, 1939, this Senate confirmed the appointment of one certain William J. Hamilton, Jr., to the office of Secretary of the Department of Revenue of this Commonwealth, and

Whereas, The Senate Journal definitely indicates that said confirmation was given by this Senate as a mark of courtesy to his Excellency the Governor and also on the theory that failure to give the same would interfere with the orderly administration of the Department of Revenue to the great embarrassment of His Excellency the Governor, and

Whereas, One month and upwards has elapsed since the confirmation and the said Hamilton has failed to assume the oath and duties of said office, and

Whereas, The failure of said Hamilton to assume the oath and duties of said office within a reasonable time is a mark of discourtesy both to his Excellency the Governor and to this Senate, and

Whereas, Senate Bill No. 192 introduced by the gentleman from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, and the economy policy of his Excellency the Governor, and the administration of said Department without the said Hamilton all indicate that the office of Secretary of the Department of Revenue is surplusage and unnecessary, and

Whereas, The said Hamilton has shown no disposition to assume the oath and duties of said office

Now be it Resolved, That his Excellency the Governor be immediately advised that if it pleases his Excellency it is the resolve of this Senate to recall said confirmation unless the said Hamilton assumes the oath and duties of said office on or before the first day of April, 1939.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I now move that this resolution be adopted.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I have moved that this resolution be adopted and there has been a second of my motion. The vote is on the motion. As to the number of votes required that is a matter for the Chair to decide, whether it takes a majority or two-thirds.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object immediate consideration of the motion and I ask that it be referred to a committee under the rules.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. I have not, Mr. President, asked for unanimous consent. I have moved the adoption of the resolution and my motion has been seconded. If it takes a two-thirds vote to adopt the motion, all well and good, but I am entitled to have action on the motion which has been seconded.

The PRESIDENT. Rule 39 provides the following: "39. The following resolutions after they have been twice read, shall be referred to an appropriate committee, without debate (unless by unanimous consent the Senate shall otherwise direct)....." I declare that motion out of order.

MOTION TO SUSPEND RULE 39

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move that Rule 39 be suspended and that we proceed to immediate consideration of the resolution.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CAVALCANTE and Mr. REED, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—21.

Cavalcante,	Gilson,	Kunkel,	Rice,
Coleman,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Ruth,
Dando,	Jacobs,	McGinnis,	Shapiro,
Dent,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Sipe,
DiSilvestro,	Kilgallen,	Reed,	Stiefel,
Eroe,

NAYS—24.

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Letzler,	Stevenson,
Chapman,	Gelder,	Mallery,	Taliman,
Crowe,	Geltz,	Miller,	Thomas,
Deitrich,	Heyburn,	Owlett,	Walker,
Ealy,	Homsher,	Pierson,	Wolfenden,
Edmonds,	James,	Snowden,	Woodward,

So the question was determined in the negative.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on State Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

URGING APPROPRIATION TO PAY UNPAID SALARIES

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, will state his point of order.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, if you will be a little liberal in your ruling now I would like to announce the five members of the Senate who have been appointed by the President Pro Tempore of this Senate as members of the Council of State Government, to attend the convention in Chicago next week, at a meeting of the Council of State Government on the question of trade barriers between States. I believe that committee consists of Senator DeSilvestro, Senator Heyburn, and myself, and two unknown Senators that we are trying to find out about here.

NOMINATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR

NOTARIES PUBLIC

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented in writing from His Excellency, the Governor of the Commonwealth, nominations for appointment as Notaries Public which were laid on the table.

REPORTS FROM COMMITTEES

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Sections, from eight to one inclusive of the bill were severally reconsidered.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the first section?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move to amend the bill Section 1, page 2, line 4 by inserting after the word

"exceeding" the following: S "eighty per cent (80%) of." Amend the bill Section 1, page 2, line 11 by inserting after the word "exceed" the following: S "eighty per cent (80%) of."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

It was agreed to.

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh and eight sections of the bill were read as follows and agreed to:

Section 2 For the purpose of creating a sinking fund for the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds created under the provisions of this act and any taxes covenanted to be paid thereon the governing bodies of the municipalities or quasi municipalities issuing same shall annually (until payment of the said bonds and the interest thereon and any taxes covenanted to be paid thereon be fully provided for) levy and collect in addition to the other taxes a tax sufficient to pay the interest and principal of said indebtedness and any taxes covenanted to be paid thereon within ten (10) years from the date of said bonds. Such taxes shall be called the "Emergency Sinking Fund Tax" and shall be paid into the treasury of such municipality or quasi municipality and shall be kept separate and distinct from all other funds in a fund to be called "Emergency Sinking Fund" and shall be applied to the redemption of said bonds and the payment of the interest and taxes if any thereon and to no other purpose whatsoever and said bonds when so redeemed shall be cancelled.

Section 3 Each ordinance or resolution authorizing the issuing of said bonds shall recite an amount of the uncollected taxes then due at least equal to the amount of the proposed issue of bonds which amount of uncollected taxes so recited shall become a trust fund for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of the interest and taxes if any thereon and it shall be the duty of the secretary or clerk of the governing body to credit the emergency sinking fund with such taxes and of the treasurer of such municipality or quasi municipality to deposit in the emergency sinking fund immediately upon receipt thereof any and all said uncollected taxes provided that the amount of said uncollected taxes received and deposited in the emergency sinking fund in any year may be deducted from the amount of the annual tax levied for the year following to be levied and collected for the redemption of said bonds and the payment of the interest and taxes if any thereon.

Section 4 Any person who shall directly or indirectly apply or use any of said uncollected taxes to or for any purposes other than to deposit the same in the emergency sinking fund shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000) or imprisoned for a term not exceeding one (1) year or either or both in the discretion of the court.

Section 5 The trust fund and the emergency sinking fund covering each issue of bonds under the provisions of this act shall be alike numbered and in consecutive order and the amount thereof as well as the uncollected taxes due and collectible shall be deducted from the gross indebtedness in ascertaining the net indebtedness of such municipality or quasi municipality.

Section 6 The temporary emergency power hereby granted shall be in addition to the powers granted to such municipalities or quasi municipalities to issue and create indebtedness under existing law.

Section 7 Any bonds issued under the provisions of this act shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of this Commonwealth and the act approved the twentieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four (Pamphlet Laws sixty-five) entitled "An act to regulate the manner of increasing the indebtedness of municipalities to provide for the redemption of the same and to impose penalties for the illegal increase thereof" as supplemented and amended and shall require the approval of the Department of Internal Affairs

Section 8 This act shall become effective immediately upon its approval by the Governor and remain in force and effect only for six (6) years thereafter

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act authorizing counties cities boroughs townships of the first and second class and school districts to issue and sell bonds for certain purposes and for a certain period of time providing for a trust fund and a sinking fund for the payment thereof and defining the duties of the officers and governing bodies of the said municipalities or quasi municipalities in relation to said funds and fixing a penalty for the violation thereof.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill as amended?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, when this bill was introduced originally, inadvertently, there was a mistake made in it providing that borrowing capacity on uncollected taxes should include the full amount of those taxes. No borrowing power should exceed eighty per cent and therefore this bill was amended to provide that the extent of loans against money to be borrowed shall be only eighty per cent of the amount of the delinquent taxes.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lancaster, Mr. Homsher, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does this amendment, under sections 2 and 3, enable increasing of taxes by the tax levying body?

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, it does not.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 83, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 694) entitled "An act providing for the payment monthly by the counties to the Department of Revenue of the expenses of keeping convicts in State penitentiaries" by imposing upon the State the keeping of certain convicts

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 694) entitled "An act providing for the payment monthly by the counties to the Department of Revenue of the expenses of keeping convicts in State penitentiaries" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 The expenses of keeping the convicts in the State penitentiaries shall be borne by the respective counties in which they shall be convicted except in cases in which convicts are in the State penitentiaries as a result of the commutation of a death sentence by the State Board of Pardons or by a judgment of the Supreme Court modifying a death sentence the expenses of keeping such convicts shall be paid by the State The [said expenses] expenses for which the counties are liable shall be paid to the Department of Revenue by orders to be drawn by the duly authorized agents of said department at said penitentiaries on the treasurers of the said counties who shall accept and pay same to the Department of Revenue Promptly after the last day of each calendar month the agents of the Department of Revenue shall transmit by mail to the commissioners of such of the counties as may have become indebted for convicts confined in said penitentiaries during such calendar month accounts of the expense of keeping said convicts which accounts shall be sworn or affirmed to by them and it shall be the duty of the said commissioners immediately on receipt of said accounts to give notice to the treasurers of their respective counties of the amount of said accounts with instructions to pay promptly to the Department of Revenue the amounts of said orders when presented and it shall be the duty of such county treasurers to make such payments as instructed by their respective county commissioners Provided That the aforesaid accounts and orders rendered as of the thirty-first day of July one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine shall include all amounts due the Commonwealth from the counties which shall have accrued since the last prior billing of the said counties by the respective boards of Trustees of the several penitentiaries And provided also That all salaries of the wardens or superintendents their deputies and assistants the guards and other officers engaged in managing the said penitentiaries or holding positions of authority over the inmates therein shall be paid by the State and shall not be included in computing the cost of keeping convicts in said penitentiaries

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 111, (House Bill No. 92), on second reading, entitled:

An Act to prohibit assessments and demands for contributions for political purposes and providing a penalty go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I propose to offer amendments to this bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. OWLETT. I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, the effect of these amendments, as he conceives them to be.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, the purpose of this amendment is to restore in Pennsylvania a vote for the people, by the people, and of the people. It simply is not to allow too big contributions. If contributions are to be gathered they are to be gathered from the people of the State and not from the big corporations.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the amendments have not been submitted to anyone on this side of the Senate, to my knowledge at least, and I therefore suggest that the Senator withdraw his amendments for the time being, and that the bill lay over until Monday.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia withdraw his amendment?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I will. Do I understand the bill will lay over until Tuesday?

The PRESIDENT. The Chair understands until Monday.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I have asked a leave of absence for the Senator from Philadelphia on Monday.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, under the circumstances, of course I will agree that the bill should lay over until Tuesday.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

(d) To collate interpret and publicize statistics and reports relating to the problem of juvenile delinquency and crime

(e) To prepare and sponsor legislation bearing upon the many specific problems incident to crime prevention

(f) To take such other steps as may be deemed advisable to reduce and prevent crime

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I move to amend, section 1, page 3, line 25, striking out the following: "deemed ad-" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "as maybe necessary to procure such information and data as may be deemed helpful"; amend, section 1, page 3, line 26, by striking out the following: "visable to"

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to amend article twenty-three of the act approved the ninth day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177) entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments boards commissions and officers thereof including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges abolishing creating reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments boards and commissions defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers and of the several administrative departments boards commissions and officers fixing the salaries of the Governor Lieutenant Governor and certain other executive and administrative officers providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments boards and commissions and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments boards and commissions shall be determined" by imposing upon the Department of Welfare the duty to investigate the subject of crime prevention and to stimulate develop and coordinate crime prevention activities in this Commonwealth

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 286, (House Bill No. 400), entitled:

An Act to amend the title and the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (P. L. 132), entitled "An act to give preference of appointment or employment to honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines who fought for the Union cause in the late war of the rebellion" by extending the same preference to veterans and nurses of any war in which the United States has engaged

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wish to interrogate the chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Luzerne, Mr. Miller, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, is there another bill in the committee which deals with the same subject matter as is treated in this bill, which has just been read the second time?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President, this bill is now in passage and had been referred to the Committee on State Government; it was not in the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I wanted that information and I wonder if there is any objection to placing this bill on the postponed calendar, now that it has been read the second time, so that we might consider in the Committee on Military Affairs Senate Bill No. 117 which deals with the same subject, I would like to get that bill out of committee and get these two bills passed together. I would like to have the bill placed on the postponed calendar, Senate Bill No. 286, until we get some action on Senate Bill No. 117.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I would suggest the Senator ask that the bill be placed on the postponed calendar. I do not think that there will be any objection on this side.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 288, (House Bill No. 474), entitled:

An Act to further amend section three of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of June one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 452) entitled "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth creating a General State Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct improve and operate projects and to lease the same and to fix and collect fees rentals and charges for the use thereof authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds of said Authority and providing for the payment of such bonds and the rights of the holders thereof and to enter into agreements with Government of the United States or any Federal agency and authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to grant assign convey or lease to the Authority lands of the Commonwealth and interests therein and to acquire lands therefor granting the right of eminent domain and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act" fixing terms for the appointed members of the General State Authority and terminating the terms of present members

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am constrained to ask that this bill be sent back to committee. I am a member of the committee which has considered this bill, and I do not believe it would be proper for me to divulge what happened in that committee.

This is a bill of great importance and it should be considered by the entire membership of the committee. The learned Senator from Montgomery, Senator Edmonds, pointed out on several occasions one of the objections of our Governor concerned the many frequent changes in the personnel of some departments.

He pointed out, as an example the Department of Revenue, I fully concur with the Senator about the frequent changes in our government but these changes, transfers, by the administration of any department developed into a parade.

This bill if passed, will permit frequent changes in the administration of the State Authority, and for that reason I believe we should have more mature consideration by the entire committee.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 288 be sent back to committee for further study and consideration.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I object to the bill being referred back to committee. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel, voiced the same objection in committee that he is voicing here, and the matter was fully considered at that time and the bill was reported out.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. TALLMAN, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Cavalcante,	Haluska,	Mundy,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Jacobs,	Reed,	Shapiro,
Dando,	Kilgallen,	Rice,	Stiefel,
Frey,	McGinnis.

NAYS—25

Bartlett,	Gelder,	Kunkel,	Snowden,
Chapman,	Geltz,	Letzler,	Stevenson,
Crowe,	Gilson,	Mallery,	Tallman,
Ealy,	Heyburn,	Miller,	Thomas,
Edmonds,	Homsher,	Owlett,	Walker,
Eroe,	James,	Pierson,	Wolfenden,
Farrell,

SENATE BILL NO. 288 POSTPONED

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 288 be placed on the postponed calendar.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object. I ask that the Senate vote down this motion.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. OWLETT and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—14

Cavalcante,	Haluska,	Mundy,	Ruth,
Coleman,	Heyburn,	Reed,	Shapiro,
Dando,	Jacobs,	Rice,	Stiefel,
Frey,	McGinnis.

NAYS—23

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Kunkel,	Snowden,

Crowe,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Thomas,
Ealy,	Gilson,	Miller,	Walker,
Edmonds,	Homsher,	Owlett,	Wolfenden,
Eroe,	James,	Pierson,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY SENATE TO SENATE BILL NO. 79.

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act permitting the county treasurer, with the consent of the county commissioners or the approval of the court, to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties, except counties of the first class, and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands.

SENATE INSISTS UPON ITS NON-CONCURRENCE IN AMENDMENTS MADE BY HOUSE TO SENATE BILL NO. 79, AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE.

Whereupon,

A motion was made by Mr. OWLETT and Mr. GELDER.

That the Senate insist upon its non-concurrence in amendments to the foregoing bill made by the House of Representatives, and appoint a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the House of Representatives (if the House should appoint such a committee) to consider the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

Which was agreed to.

Ordered, That Messrs. CAVALCANTE, TALLMAN and FARRELL be said committee on the part of the Senate, and that the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

MOTION TO READ BILLS THE FIRST TIME

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

And said bill having been read at length the first time,
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to introduce a bill at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. WALKER, by request, read in place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 375, entitled:

An Act authorizing the Commonwealth, political subdivisions and certain institutions to purchase blind-made commodities and services from organizations for the blind without contract or advertisement; providing for the fixing of fair market prices for such commodities and services by a committee composed of heads of certain departments and representatives of institutions where blind-made commodities are manufactured; and imposing certain duties upon the Department of Property and Supplies and the State Council for the Blind.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, on Thursday of last week there was a hearing of the Committee on Municipal Government on Senate Bill Nos. 1, 2, and 3, dealing with the proposed change in the form of government for the City of Philadelphia, commonly known as the City Charter Bill. In the public hearing on that bill my colleagues of the Republican party raised the question of the contributions of money to the City Charter Committee. Some of my colleagues were confused between the similarity of names and assumed that the literature and the publicity which was being given to that bill and the propaganda being spread with regard to its provisions were being paid for by the City Charter Commission.

I think it is pretty well cleared up now that the City Charter Commission is a commission appointed by the Governor to study and recommend and prepare a charter, and subsequently there was created a City Charter Committee and they have been receiving public funds and contributions for the purpose of printing and publishing and disseminating information concerning the charter.

At that meeting the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, requested that he be furnished, or that the committee be furnished, with a list of the contributions. I have not seen the list but I am informed that a list has been sent Senator Stevenson, who is chairman of that committee, but I should like to call attention of my colleagues to the fact that the total amount of contributions received by the committee—this City Charter Committee, composed of public spirited citizens of Philadelphia—amounted to $38,043 over a five month period; that there were 157 contributions from one dollar to a hundred dollars; that there were 15 contributions from one hundred to five hundred dollars; that there were 11 contributions from five hundred to a thousand dollars; that there were 8 contributions of one thousand dollars each; one contribution of fifteen hundred dollars; and 7 contributions of twenty-five hundred dollars; that the committee does not and will not accept contributions in excess of twenty-five hundred dollars.

With respect to the question raised as to the number of bankers in Philadelphia contributing, out of sixty odd banks in Philadelphia there were seven Philadelphia banks who contributed a total of $8,500.

I would like to say to the Chairman of the Committee on Municipal Government, Mr. Stevenson, that I would appreciate it—and I think the Senate is entitled to know—if he would let the Senate know the names of those contributors; I think it will be of interest to the gentlemen to find that those names will contain a number of their political colleagues of the Republican party, and I make the request of the Senator from Clinton that he submit to the Senate the names of the contributors.

I should also like to add to my remarks that I understand that the committee had a meeting yesterday, which I did not attend, and that the list was then available, but I want to call attention to the committee the fact that some action will have to be taken on this bill, because unless it is passed by May first it will be ineffectual, for this year at least, because under the provisions of the bill there must be some final action on the bill—the bill must be signed by May the first—in order to comply with the provision relating to nominations and holding of the election.

RECESS

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess until 4:00 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

HOUSE MESSAGE

HOUSE INSISTS UPON ITS AMENDMENTS NON-CONCURRED IN BY THE SENATE TO SENATE BILL NO. 79, AND APPOINTS COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, informed the Senate that the House insists upon its amendments non-concurred in by the Senate to Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act permitting the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners or the approval of the court to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands and has appointed Messrs. GILLETTE, WILKINSON and ACHTERMAN, as a Committee of Conference to confer with a similar committee of the Senate (already appointed) to consider the differences existing between the two Houses in relation to said bill.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON SENATE BILL NO. 79

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that we do now proceed to the consideration of the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 79, entitled:

An Act permitting the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners or the approval of the court to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands

The report was read as follows:

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL NO. 79

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We the undersigned Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 79, entitled,

An Act requiring the county treasurer to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands respectfully submit the following bill as our report

ANTHONY CAVALCANTE,

O. J. TALLMAN,

LOUIS H. FARRELL,

(Committee on the Part of the Senate)

LEO H. ACHTERMAN,
DON WILKINSON,
WILSON D. GILLETTE,

(Committee on the part of the House of Representatives)

An Act requiring the county treasurer to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The county treasurer of every county except counties of the first class shall adjourn or readjourn to such time or times not later than the first Monday of August one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine all tax sales on seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes. Where any such tax sales are adjourned or readjourned after advertisement an additional advertisement and notice shall be necessary for such adjourned or readjourned sale. No such adjournment or readjournment shall invalidate the lien of any tax due and unpaid or any penalties or interest due thereon but the lien of all such taxes shall remain in full force and effect until such sale shall take place in accordance with this act

Section 2 This act shall have no force or effect upon any tax sale held prior to the approval hereof

Section 3 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 4 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to Report of Committee of Conference?

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President. As the co-sponsor of this bill, I desire to definitely establish my actions and upon which such action has been motivated. This bill vitally affects my own county, that of Luzerne, and firmly believe, that I voice the sentiments of the majority of residents residing therein.

If the amendments, as submitted by the House, for concurrence, establishing a tax sale date, as of August 1, 1939, thousands of citizens, who in years of prosperity, displayed the American progressive spirit, took the initiative to provide and establish for their family, a modest home. In a great number of cases, these individuals are not, or have not been unemployed. But, due to the economic depression, they have been through circumstances, compelled to take into their household, their aged parents, and akin relatives. This condition has burdened these individuals with additional financial responsibilities, which they have, in numerous cases been willing to assume, at the same time being forced to submit to a reduction in salary.

In the case of the unemployed, that individual, has not in the past few years been able to pay his taxes. I am cognizant of the fact, that there was enacted into law, I believe in 1935, a provision whereby twenty per cent of the taxes in arrears might be paid annually, providing the current year taxes had been met. Many people took advantage of this feature, but unless they took advantage in 1935, they now have no opportunity to attempt to pay their tax arrearage, under this plan, I am fearful to predict, that if these tax sales must be held in August of this year, that it will drive many of my residents in Luzerne County to insane institutions, fearful that they will lose their modest home, for which they sacrificed and struggled to obtain.

I am of the opinion, that people want to pay taxes and assume their full responsibility in maintaining good government. But, by the same token, I believe, that these progressive citizens should be given a breathing spell, until, at least August 1, 1940, in which to endeavor to make necessary preparations for the payment, or at least partial payment of taxes in arrears.

I am, and will consistently, be in favor of relief measures, and I certainly am of the opinion, that the adjourning of these tax sales until August, 1940, is a relief measure.

I trust that this session of the legislature will see fit to enact legislation whereby a graduated scale of sales might be effected.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I agree with the Senator from Luzerne in his statement, and I want to ask the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, if he will not tell us what the plan is on this subject, for future legislation.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry of the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, I wish to explain that this act was introduced by Senator Miller and Senator Coleman, as I understand, originally, to take care of third class counties; it was amended to cover the situation in the entire State.

It appears that the Municipal Government Committee in the House has spent considerable time in developing a definite program with reference to the adjournment of tax sales and the payment of taxes by installment, the fact being that the time has now arrived, where, instead of the present hodge-podge of legislation on this subject, that a definite, concrete program be worked out and passed at this session. We understand that at the present time that legislation has been prepared and is about to be introduced in the House.

In the meantime, the present law requires the treasurers of the various counties to sell on or before April first, and with the thought in mind that those sales should be adjourned temporarily, to enable the legislation now in the course of enactment, to be adopted and the divergent views reconciled, it was thought best to pass this act today, thus enabling the treasurers of various counties to adjourn the sales on April first. This act adjourns them until August first of this year, and before this legislature adjourns it is the plan to adopt a comprehensive program covering this matter.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I understand then that the legislation will originate in the House and will be introduced there.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry, the authority for what I have said comes from the Speaker of the House, who advises me that the Committee on Municipal Government has legislation ready. Now, whether it is to be introduced now or whether it will be this week, I cannot say, but I understand it is ready for introduction, so that I think the Senate should understand in voting for this bill today that this is a temporary stop-gap to meet the present urgent situation which requires sales April first.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am voting for this bill, but for the purpose of keeping my record straight I am only voting because of the statement of the Senator from Tioga that this is merely stop-gap legislation.

Some of the wording of this bill, as it is convinces me that it should be subsequently corrected, and I want to keep my record clear in that respect. I shall vote for the bill on the assurance of the Senator from Tioga that subsequently the matter will be taken up again.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, should the House be unable to introduce the legislation because of the deadline they have set for the introduction of bills, there is no reason why the Senate can not put the program in during the present session of the Legislature, so that this matter is not out of our control, but we know that the House intends to prepare such legislation.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. I will.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, calling attention of the majority floor leader to a statement by the Republican floor leader in the House, with respect to the passage of this bill having to do with the proposition now under discussion, I would like to ask the Republican floor leader here if he can state definitely, exactly what the committee will propose, because I do not know whether or not it is in its final form or not.

I would like to ask the majority floor leader if he has any definite knowledge of a bill in the House which will take care of the situation with respect to adjournment or, rather, sale of property after August first of this year.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in reply to the inquiry of the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, I may say that I have no knowledge of any definite bill in the House postponing sales beyond August 1, 1939. However, in explanation of his inquiry I understand that there is a divergence of opinion between some of the members of the Senate and the members of this committee in the House, and from what was learned this morning in a discussion of Judiciary General Committee, I think we all came to the conclusion that there are many points to be ironed out between the two bodies, and I think that the answer to the Senator's inquiry could best be stated by suggesting that probably this whole program, when it is enacted and brought in in the way of legislation, will have to be ironed out in a committee between the Senate and the House, when the divergent views will have to be reconciled in some way.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, May I ask to what conference committee the Senator is referring?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry of the Senator from Lackawanna, I refer to fact that from the divergent views which I heard expressed this morning I am just merely suggesting the probability that before the whole program is enacted there will have to be a conference committee; but that conference committee is not as yet in being.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, at the request of five thousand property owners in the County of Lackawanna I introduced a bill in collaboration with my colleague from Luzerne, Senator Miller, calling for the adjournment of treasurers' sales to August 1, 1940. We made that bill optional, affecting only third class counties in the Commonwealth, with a view to enhancing its ultimate passage in the legislature.

When the bill was referred to the committee and discussed in the committee, why, everyone of the counties, with the exception of first-class counties, were so tremendously interested in the bill that they had it amended, making it all-embracing, including every county with the exception of Philadelphia.

The bill passed the Senate with only one dissenting vote, was sent over to the House, and the House amended the bill, which in effect, simply recesses or adjourns the treasurers' sales of property in the Commonwealth for a period of three months.

Now, Mr. President, I think that there are times when matters come before the Legislature where politics ought to be subordinated to the interests of the people as a whole, and while we are elected through the instrumentality of political parties, in the final analysis we ought to be responsive to the will of the people of the Commonwealth, and here is a bill in which there is a general agreement as to its necessity.

I am indebted to my good friend, Senator Dent's, breezy publication, the Chronicle, for a poem which I think expresses the spirit, in a proposition of this sort, of, to use the vernacular, passing a bone to the distressed property owners of the Commonwealth, and if the Senate will indulge me I would like to read that poem.

"In savage tribes, where skulls are thick,
And primal passions rage,
They have a system sure and quick,
To cure the blight of age.
For when a native's youth has fled,
And years have sapped his vim,
They simply knock him on the head,
And put an end to him.
BUT WE, in this enlightened age,
Are built of nobler stuff.
And so we look with righteous rage
On deeds so harsh and rough.
For when a man grows old and gray
And weak and short of breath,
We simply take his home away
And let him starve to death."

Mr. President, I believe that the distressed property owners of the Commonwealth are standing in the Hall of Pontius Pilate, their brow crowned with the thorns of worry, their bodies shackled by the manacles of disorganization; and they are supplicating the members of the General Assembly to lift from their backs the heavy burden of life to wrest from their minds the worry of the sale of their properties, and to burn deeply within their very souls the imperishable hope of happiness; and the first opportunity we have had to give them an answer this particular prayer we are turning down by a futile gesture in the form of an amendment inserted by the House.

I am put in the rather unfortunate position, Mr. President, of being forced to have no other alternative than to support this particular measure; but I would like to ask the leadership of the House—both Republican and Democratic leadership—to exert every influence at their command in order that there will be passed eventually in this session a bill that will be designed with a view to give the property owners a real break—a break that they richly deserve—and, accordingly, as I indicated before, I have no other choice, because the Senate will adjourn today and some of the county treasurers may take advantage of the bill—or, rather, the amendment as it now stands—and sell some of the properties before April first. So, I am again appealing to the sense of fairness of the members of the Senate to do everything that is possible to see that any bill that is passed will be passed with the property owners uppermost in their minds.

While I have no authority and no intention to discuss any bill that is not before us, it is my understanding, Mr. President, that there will eventually be passed a bill that will make mandatory the sale of properties that are in arrears over a period of five years; and commissioner John McGuffy, who happens to be the legislative chairman of the county commissioners in the Commonwealth, advises me that that will result in the sale of seventy per cent of the properties involved in this particular legislation.

Again I am asking the members of this Senate to do everything they possibly can to see that any bill that is passed will be passed with the thought in mind of giving the property owners a break, the people who are looking to us to breathe legislative life into the propositions that have for their purpose and motive the giving them a real break and easing the burden in these distressed times.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I think that the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, is becoming unduly concerned in questioning the progress of this bill. If the Legislature has done anything the last six or seven years it has listened and heeded the appeal of these distressed property owners and everybody else in distress in Pennsylvania. Year after year we have passed legislation here which allows a great many people in Pennsylvania to live in their homes without paying taxes.

Ultimately those taxes must be paid or the property pass into other hands. It is becoming a question in the minds of members of this Legislature and of the people of the State, as to whether or not any man who owes five or six or seven years' taxes is going to be able to redeem his property, when he cannot pay a single year of taxes—taxes for a single year. It is also becoming a question in the minds of the members of the Legislature whether the remaining property owners of the State who today are paying taxes are going to be able to pay the increased amount of taxes on their property to maintain the various municipal functions if we are going to relieve a certain portion of them from paying any taxes.

I am very sure, however, that the members of the Legislature are going to approach this subject with the idea that those people who have not paid taxes for the past five years are not going to be able to pay it all in a lump sum.

My own feeling is that if they were asked to pay taxes for the current year and just a portion of the tax of the year farthest in arrears, that may be some solution to the question, because it would be serving notice that ultimately they will have to pay.

When the Senator attempts to inject into this movement today the thought that we should keep politics out of it, I want to assure him that certainly politics has not been injected into this particular picture.

The conference committee report was prepared by the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, and I am sure he will not question the democracy of the Senator who represents that county; nor will he attempt, in my judgment, to impugn his motive, because if there is one Senator who has stood on this floor battling for the underdog it has been the Senator from Fayette. The conference committee report they arranged. We refused to concur in the House amendments because of the Senator from Fayette and the Senator from Washington, both on the minority side of this house; and therefore I want to call to the attention of the members of this body that there is certainly no politics in this particular piece of legislation. It is, as the Senator from Tioga has well said, a stop-gap, so that the county treasurers would not be forced at this time to sell out the distressed property owners, concerning whom the Senator from Lackawanna is so much concerned.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, we might as well know each others positions on the matters involved in this bill. Ever since 1935 property owners of this State have been just like a prisoner in the death cell, and every session of the Assembly has merely given them a reprieve on the sale of their property. These property owners, young and old, have been sitting at home just worrying and wondering what would happen after the reprieve, the same as the man in the death house.

The bill that is before us now is merely another reprieve and leaves the taxpayers at home still worrying and still in the darkness as to what might be the ultimate result.

Now, I say that we must face the crucial test sooner or later. There are hundreds and thousands of old men and women whose taxes have piled up far beyond their powers to ever redeem themselves to pay these taxes, and the time must come when this reprieving must stop, when we must tackle this problem, come to grips with it fully, and determine once and for all whether we are going to clear the records of these past taxes or whether we are going to insist that the owners of these properties be made to pay their taxes to the last red cent.

Since 1935 my position has been that the taxes imposed upon the real estate of this Commonwealth were unreasonable and unjust, and in 1935 the committee that considered the bill to postpone those tax sales took the same attitude—that the taxes imposed on real estate had been unreasonable and unjust; and at that time I stated that since the committee took that stand and admitted that, then we must also go a step further and admit that we owed to those property owners a duty to correct that injustice, to correct that improper and unreasonable imposition of taxes by going further than merely postponing the sales and trying to blackjack out of them by the postponement the payment of their blood money in installments.

I have always stood for the proposition that we must sooner or later come to the point where we must repose authority in somebody to take each case and compromise at the best possible terms on these properties that are burdened with these taxes in arrears; get the best settlement out of them and give them a clean bill of health. Then we can take a step further. If these taxes have piled up over these past years it has been due to the fact that the local collecting authorities have not pursued the Acts of Assembly, and permitted the taxes to pile up.

On that point I have also taken the position that our laws are at fault, because we have not given to the taxing power—the levying power—also the power to compromise and adjust taxes; and I say that in the solution, the final solution, of this problem we must come to that point. Also, that we cannot confer the power to levy these taxes on the local authorities and then assume the burden ourselves, here in the General Assembly, to say when these taxes shall be adjusted and compromised with the taxpayers. That power to adjust and compromise ought to be reposed in the power that imposes that tax and the General Assembly ought to wash their hands of that power, because it rightfully belong down below.

I went along with this proposition that is in this bill at this time because it is an emergency measure. We must stop these property sales that would otherwise take place next Saturday; but I also did so because I have confidence in the integrity of the members of this Senate and the members of the House—that they will, before the close of this session, sit down and come to some sensible, some sound and business-like solution of this whole problem. That is why I agreed in the Conference Committee to the report of this bill, because I think that it is the proper thing to do at this time—to peremptorily adjourn the sales and then trust in the integrity of the members of this Senate and the House that we will come to grips with the main problem and settle it once and forever.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I disagree with the Senator from Fayette in one particular—that the postponement of these sales will not settle this question once and for all. We have got to get deeper into the whole problem. We might as well learn now as later on that our present system of taxation is outworn; it has outlived its period of usefulness; and we have got to start now in order to protect those who come after us in this matter of taxation.

I know that it will cause some degree of suffering, but nevertheless we must meet the problem pointedly and decide now that we must have a different system, whereby we can cut down the huge expenses that are breaking the backs of all of our people, particularly those who own a home or a farm.

In my county I have checked up carefully on the working men during the last year, and they have made less than a thousand dollars. Few have had to pay any income tax, and those who make out income tax reports in my county tell me that the men who used to pay income taxes by the hundreds pay no income tax now because their wage will not warrant the imposition of such a tax.

Now, Mr. President, if a man makes less than a thousand dollars today—and most of them in my district who work in the mines and the mills, make less than a thousand dollars—and they have local taxes on their homes running up close to a hundred dollars, how can they support their families and pay that burdensome tax?

This problem will not be solved by postponing these sales today; this problem will not be solved by postponing these sales until tomorrow or next year; the question runs deeper than that. We must start at the bottom and rebuild the tax system, and in order to do that we must begin now to economize in all of our departments of State; our school system, our road system our county system and our state system are all spending far too much money today, and in many respects the system is outworn, and because of that it takes too much money in order to keep them functioning.

Mr. President, while I am heartedly in favor of protecting the small home-owner and the farmer by giving them this relief today, I repeat that this will not solve the problem; and I sincerely hope that ere long there will be some commission appointed to study a way whereby we can economize in the administration of our form of government, from the bottom clear to the top; and if we do not do that I can see no relief for those particularly who own real estate in Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the report?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—28

Bartlett,	Eroe,	Homsher,	Ruth,

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

WEDNESDAY, March 29, 1939

The House met at 1 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Elwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Walter Evans Deibler, offered the following prayer:

On this birthday of John Tyler, tenth President of the United States, the first Vice-President to be advanced to the Presidency; who took the oath of office and declared himself President "By the Constitution, by election and by the hand of God," we thank Thee for the recognition of Thy divine leadership by men in high office. Hitherto Thou hast guided our destinies, O God. We "Praise the Pow'r that has made and preserved us a nation!" For this is our motto "In God is our trust." We pray that every public official and every citizen may take this motto seriously. May Thy blessing so rest upon our state that we may be among those people of faith who shall be leaders, called of God, to direct the affairs of a free people. "And the star spangled banner in triumph shall wave o'er the land of the free and the home of the brave!" Through Jesus Christ Our Lord. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. VAN BELLE, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. DENMAN. Concurrent RESOLUTION No. 57.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1939.

Whereas, A bill is pending in the Congress of the United States, providing for the construction of the "Lake Erie to the Ohio River Barge" Canal; and

Whereas, The construction of such a canal would seriously affect transportation on and over the railroads operating in that section of the Nation, of goods and material now transported thereon; and

Whereas, Such curtailment of transportation on and over such railroads would cause gradual disintegration of such railroads, deprive them of the larger portion of their income, and necessitate the dismissal of thousands of employees; and

Whereas, The loss to the railroad industry would likewise affect the coal operators and coal miners, and would mean the dismissal of thousands of miners now gainfully occupied, thereby adding greatly to unemployment; and

Whereas, The injury to the railroads would be reflected in the business of the small steel mills which rely upon the prosperity of railroads for their existence; and

Whereas, In addition to this destruction that would be wrought by reason of the construction and operation of such canal, it is morally and financially unsound to build, by expenditure of public money, such an enterprise when a great part of that money is being contributed by the railroads, mine operators and the steel manufacturers, whose existence it threatens; and

Whereas, A public hearing is to be held on this bill at the National Capitol on March 28, 1939; therefore be it

Resolved, (If the Senate concur), That the General Assembly memorialize the Congress of the United States to oppose the passage of this bill and to refuse to make any appropriation of public moneys for the construction of the proposed canal; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the presiding officer of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. ATKINS. RESOLUTION No. 58.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1939.

Whereas, There is grave danger of certain groups, both at home and abroad, entangling this great country of ours in European and Asiatic affairs; and

Whereas, These same groups are now flooding the United States with propaganda along the same lines as plunged us into the great "World War" twenty-two years ago; and

Whereas, A number of Senators and Congressmen, perceiving the designs of these propaganda groups, have expressed themselves as favoring a policy of American Isolation from European and Asiatic affairs; Therefore, Be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania commend these Senators and Congressmen for their efforts and activities in "fighting" these groups, and in "furthering" the policy of isolation at this critical time in our history; And Be It Further

Resolved, That copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Vice-President of the United States and the President of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. HARKINS. RESOLUTION No. 59.

In the House of Representatives, March 28, 1939.

Whereas, The Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association conducts each year sectional and regional elimination tournaments in order to determine the Pennsylvania State Championship High School basket ball team, and

Whereas, The basket ball team of Homestead High School of Homestead, Allegheny County, Pennsylvania, was the winner of District VII of the Western Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association and later became the W. P. I. A. A. champion and subsequently by its victories over Conemaugh Boswell and Erie Academy fought its way to the final game with Lower Merion High School, and

Whereas, on Saturday evening, March 25, 1939, the Homestead High School coached by Paul Birch, assisted by Walter Miller, met the Lower Merion Township quintet at the Palestra in Philadelphia, where Homestead through its fine team work and great offensive playing won the Pennsylvania State I. A. A. championship title by the score of 29-24, and

Whereas, In forging to the front when the championship seemed lost because its opponent was ahead by a substantial score, the players on the Homestead Team, not only displayed hearts of courage, but also bodies with the strength of steel for which Homestead is famous, and

Whereas, Such interscholastic rivalry and competition is an integral part of our American system of education tending to break down sectionalism and promoting those ideals of fair play, clean, decent sportsmanship, of unflinching courage, loyalty and devotion to community, school, state and nation, all of which are basic attributes of Americanism, and which train the youth of our high schools in this State for the high type of citizenship demanded of them by the problems confronting them today, and

Whereas, the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, recognizing the value of such interscholastic competition and being aware of the high honor which has come to the Homestead Community, by reason of the success of the Homestead High School in winning the 1939 P. I. A. A. tournament, and being desirous of congratulating and complimenting the said High School team; Now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives do hereby express their congratulations to the Board of Education of the School District of Homestead to Head Coach, Paul Birch, and Assistant Coach Walter Miller, to Pat Logan, Bill Vojtko, Jim Furnival, Bill Coggin, Joe Penzelik, Jim Borgen, Steve Mock, Ed Spartz, Jim Feeney, John Huber, Bernard Rousher, and Andrew Kita, members of the Championship Team, to Port Eckles, Superintendent of Schools, D. H. Conner and William V. Campbell, Principals, and Robert C. Schenk, faculty manager, John Urban and Edward Mattis, student managers, and to Homestead High School student body and its cheerleaders upon the occasion of the winning of the P. I. A. A. championship by Homestead High; and be it further

Resolved, That the House of Representatives urge the members of the Championship Homestead basket ball team, as well as the Homestead High student body, to keep alive forever the spirit of Americanism and of love of Pennsylvania which such championship tournaments inspire; and which the said Homestead High basket ball team, its loyal student body its cheerleaders and its fans have shown throughout this tournament; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be sent by the Chief Clerk to each member of the championship team, to Coaches Paul Birch and Walter Miller, and that a copy engrossed on parchment be sent by the Chief Clerk to the Secretary of the Homestead School Board, such copy to be suitable for framing and for hanging in the trophy room.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 74, as follows:

An Act to amend section two hundred and seventy-eight and to repeal section two hundred and eighty of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as amended providing for the appointment the term and compensation of county detectives in counties of the fifth and sixth class

Section 1 Section two hundred and seventy-eight of the act approved the second day of May one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (Pamphlet Laws 1278) entitled "An act relating to counties of the second third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes and revising amending and consolidating the laws relating thereto" as last amended by section one of the act approved the twenty-eighth day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 941) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 278 In Counties of the Fifth and Sixth Class—[In Counties of the fifth class the district attorney with the approval of the court of quarter sessions may appoint a detective whose duties it shall be to assist in obtaining such evidence as shall be directed by the district attorney for the Commonwealth in all criminal cases and perform such other duties as the district attorney may direct The detective shall receive such monthly or annual salary payable by the county as the salary board of the county may fix Such detective shall be a general police officer and shall have all the powers that are now conferred on constables by the existing laws so far as they relate to crimes or criminal procedure] In counties of the fifth and sixth class the district attorney with the approval of the court of quarter sessions may appoint one chief county detective and one assistant county detective

The court of quarter sessions shall fix the compensation of the county detectives and shall direct the clerk of said court to certify the same to the county commissioners who shall draw their warrants on the treasurer in favor of said detectives for the amount so certified

Such county detectives shall hold their positions during the term of the district attorney appointing them and shall be removable at his discretion They shall have possess and exercise all the rights and powers conferred by law upon constables in so far as such law or laws relate to crimes and criminal procedure and shall when requested by the district attorney make an investigation and endeavor to obtain such evidence as may be required in any criminal case They shall also perform such other duties as the district attorney may direct Such county detectives shall be allowed their expenses actually and necessarily incurred in the performance of their duties

Section 2 Section two hundred and eighty of said act and its amendments are hereby repealed

SENATE MESSAGE

AMENDED SENATE BILL NONCONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has nonconcurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 79.

An Act permitting the county treasurer with the consent of the county commissioners or the approval of the court to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for nonpayment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that the House insist upon its amendments nonconcurred in by the Senate and that a Committee on Conference be appointed. The motion was agreed to.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE APPOINTED

The SPEAKER. The Chair appoints as a Committee of Conference on the part of the House Messrs. Gillette, Wilkinson and Achterman.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 410, entitled:

An Act relating to the practice of the occupation or business of opticians and providing for the licensing and registration of opticians and optical technicians and the registration of optician's apprentices and for the revocation and suspension of such licenses and registrations subject to appeal and for their reinstatement defining the powers and duties of the State Board of Examiners of Opticians and the Department of Public Instruction and providing penalties

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the sponsor of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SWEENEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inquire of the gentleman whether or not this bill will set up a new bureau or board in the Department of Public Instruction.

Mr. SWEENEY. I believe it will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, speaking for myself, I wish to more or less make a declaration of policy. I notice that the calendar already includes the establishment of this opticians board, or examining board or what not, and there are various other professional occupational or business licensing boards that are to be considered by the membership of this House. I feel that the extension of the field of licensure into non-professional activities is establishing a guild system that was discarded a number of years ago. I can't see by reading the bill and from my knowledge of the occupation of an optician wherein the welfare of the Commonwealth is going to be promoted by any such licensing. My personal feeling is that it is just an attempt on the part of the opticians, the same as it was on the part of the beauticians, to surround themselves with a permit whereby they can to a far greater extent take advantage of the consumers of the Commonwealth.

I personally feel that this is bad legislation and that it should not be extended into any field except the professional field, and I solicit the membership of the House to vote "no" on this bill.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, in part I agree with Mr. Cohen and I do not believe that every business should be licensed, but after all anyone who knows anything about this optician's bill will release the necessity for licensing these individuals. In the first place, an optician is a man who gets a prescription from a medical doctor, an eye doctor, and that prescription he has to fill. In other words, he is in practically the same position as a druggist. When you go to a medical doctor, you get a prescription for medicines, and you go to the drugstore to have it filled. When you go to an eye doctor and have your eyes examined, the doctor makes up the prescription and gives it to you, which you take to the optician. Now, it certainly isn't fair to allow anyone at all to go into that business. The way the business is operated now a shoemaker, a barber or anyone who has enough money to set himself up as an optician can go out and open up a place and fill prescriptions, and there is no protection to the public. I think that this is certainly a very necessary health measure, because all of you gentlemen who have trouble with your eyes realize how valuable they are to you. I therefore ask the members of this House to vote "aye" on this bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the analogy that the gentleman from Philadelphia uses is incorrect. If a doctor writes a prescription and you take it to a pharmacist, the pharmacist delivers the prescription to the individual. If an oculist or optometrist gives a prescription to a lens grinder—and that is what the optician is sought to be licensed for by this bill—before the lens is given to the patient it is returned to the oculist or the optometrist, the measurements are taken by the prescriber to determine whether the lens has been ground properly. It is purely a mechanical device, the grinding of lenses. Machines are set up and any person who has a machine, with two months training can perform that work. In each instance, before the prescribed lenses are delivered to the patient, they are returned to the prescriber to see whether or not they do conform to the prescription. It is not any different than any mechanical device utilized in any number of occupations.

I personally feel that the extension of our protective cloak of licensure to this particular business or occupation—and the act itself does not call it a profession, the act itself if you read the title, clearly relates to the practice of an occupation or business—and if we start to extend our protective cloak to the licensing of this business, then we are invoking the same governmental regulations as to businesses about which so many of us have complained.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, just so there will be no mistake on the part of the members of the House in reference to this bill, the bill does not refer in any way to optometrists; they are specially excluded from this bill. This bill only refers to opticians. The difference between an optician and an optometrist is this: when you go to a medical doctor and he gives you a prescription, you take it to an optician to have it filled, but if you go to an optometrist he refracts your eyes, makes the lenses and gives them to you. That is the difference. There isn't any use of talking about optometry, because it is excluded from this bill.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Sweeney, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SWEENEY. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I wish to inquire from the gentleman from Philadelphia, if this bill gives this Department the right to make rules and regulations.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker, I believe it would.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Professional Licensure for the purpose of amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I will have to oppose this motion as the bill has been on the calendar for third reading for two days. It has been in the Committee for a considerable time; the Committee considered it thoroughly, and it is now before the House for its consideration.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,
Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?
It was agreed to.
On the question,
Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I would request the sponsor of the bill to explain the bill.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Moran, desire to interrogate me on this bill?

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire that the sponsor of the bill explain the bill, but I do not at this time choose to interrogate him. I will interrogate him after he explains it.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Allegheny has asked the gentleman from Schuylkill to explain the bill.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is very plain in itself. The only thing this bill does, if a police officer of the Commonwealth should seize a gambling device, slot machine or any device of that nature, under this bill he is required, in the establishment where he seizes the machine, to open it, count the contents or the money in it in the presence of the owner of the establishment or his agent, and give the owner or his agent or agents a statement or receipt for the amount taken, make a duplicate statement, send one to the Department of Revenue, Motor Police Division, and give one to the owner.

Mr. MORAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank the gentleman for his statement.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Professional Licensure for further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I shall.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin explain why he wishes to return the bill to the Committee on Professional Licensure.

Mr. WOODSIDE. For the purpose of additional study, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, as simple a bill as this, the gentleman from Dauphin wants to return it for further study?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the most simple bills sometimes have the most complicated theories of government back of them and connected with them.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin tell us what influence if any was brought to bear by which this bill is to be returned to the committee.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that a question of that nature is hardly proper and is out of order.

Mr. TERRY. Mr. Speaker, I withdraw the question. I do not wish to embarrass anybody.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I shall not speak on this motion at length; it is a pretty hard thing to talk on a motion. I just want to say this, that if I want to shoot a man, I won't shoot him from ambush. Therefore, I am opposing this motion.

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 371, entitled:

An Act to provide for contribution among tortfeasors.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the sponsor of the bill, Mr. Alspach, from Lancaster.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Lancaster permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ALSPACH. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIORLANIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Lancaster be kind enough to explain how this bill changes the existing laws in regard to tortfeasors?

Mr. ALSPACH. Mr. Speaker, at the present time the law is somewhat in conflict concerning the right of contributions between tortfeasors. I might explain for the benefit of the members of this House, that the law at present is that all persons who contribute—may I suppose this little illustration it might be a better explanation: If two persons contribute in an act of negligence, are jointly negligent, the plaintiff may sue either of them, get a judgment against either and effectively collect from either. At the present time the law provides for contributions among tortfeasors where the act is an act of negligence, but does not provide for contributions where the act is a local tort. For instance, two people get together to defraud a plaintiff. The plaintiff brings action against one plaintiff and recovers a judgment against him. Under the present status of the law, the defendant who has paid judgment in full or satisfied the plaintiff, cannot get a contribution from the other tortfeasor, because of the analogy of the doctrine of clean hands. A person to come into court must come with clean hands. In other words, the court will not allow one defendant who is jointly liable to suit to compel the other one to contribute, because the court will say to the other defendant, "Well, after all, you are guilty of this act of fraud."

The act which I propose does not change the law in respect to negligence; the plaintiff can still bring his action against any defendant he wants to. It merely increases the right among defendants to require others who are jointly liable to contribute to make up the loss. If this were not the case, the defendant who had the most money would be the one who would be stung in full for the judgment. It has been suggested that this is purely explanatory or indicative of the present law, as the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania in the case of Goldman vs. Mitchell-Fletcher, 292 Pennsylvania, has taken cognizance of the fact that there is a question on this point in the law of Pennsylvania, and it explains the fact that there is a question because of a misapprehension of the parties who are sued. In other words, in Goldman vs. Mitchell-Fletcher, the court said, "The question is whether the plaintiff is suing the third party or whether one defendant is trying to force contributions among the others." This act merely clarifies the law as it exists today, or as it should exist. It takes no rights whatsoever from the plaintiff, it simply adds to the defendant's case, giving the additional right, where he has committed a tort to require the other defendant to dig down in his pockets and help pay the judgment.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Thank you.

Mr. ALSPACH. I might add, Mr. Speaker, that this bill has been sponsored by the Pennsylvania Bar Association and is one of the acts which they have advocated to clear up a discrepancy in the law and in order to clarify a situation which exists today. It is definitely a non-partisan measure.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 496, entitled:

As Act to amend section four of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of July, one thousand nine hundred thirteen (Pamphlet Laws, one thousand twenty-four), entitled "An act to protect the public health and welfare, by regulating the employment of females in certain establishments with respect to their hours of labor and the conditions their employment; by establishing certain sanitary regulations in the establishments in which they work; by requiring certain abstracts and notices to be posted; by providing for the enforcement of this act by the Commission of Labor and Industry and others; by prescribing penalties for violations thereof; by defining the procedure in prosecutions; and by repealing all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions thereof," by extending the restrictions on employment in manufacturing establishments in certain cases.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. WILLIAMS. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 263, entitled:

An Act to amend section two thousand one of the act approved the twenty-third day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-one (Pamphlet Laws 932) entitled "An act relating to cities of the third class and amending revising and consolidating the law relating thereto" by fixing the minimum compensation for patrolmen in such cities.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin please state in brief the purpose of this bill and the salaries proposed for policemen?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, the purpose of this bill is to establish a minimum salary starting at one thousand six hundred dollars for the first year and increasing each year for a period of six years, at eighty dollars in each increment, bringing it up to two thousand eighty dollars as the maximum.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman whether it is not true that one thousand dollars is the starting salary for teachers in Harrisburg and other third class cities.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I do not know what the salaries for teachers are. I believe the question is entirely irrelevant.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I wish to make a comparison in order that the members of the House may see the injustice of paying policemen from sixteen hundred to two thousand dollars a year when school teachers in the rural districts and also in the cities are getting about half that amount of money.

Is it not true that this bill starts a police officer on the taxpayers' payroll at six hundred dollars greater pay per year than the school teachers who have been from four to six years getting a professional education at a cost of several thousand dollars?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I advised the gentleman before that I do know anything specially about the salaries of school teachers to be able to quote figures.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I am sorry that he does not. Can the gentleman tell me what the salaries of twenty thousand fourth class school teachers are?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, my answer to all of these questions is that I do not know.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, the salary of twenty thousand fourth class school teachers is eight hundred to nine hundred dollars, which is half the amount the gentleman is asking for policemen.

Can he tell me how the bankrupt or nearly bankrupt cities, who cannot pay school teachers are going to be able to pay the extra salaries to policemen?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman be kind enough to restate the question?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, can he tell me how bankrupt or nearly bankrupt third class cities, who cannot pay their school teachers, are going to be able to pay extra salaries to policemen?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, it is entirely separate—

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I think it is very relevant.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman be kind enough to permit me to continue. It will come out of entirely different funds, and in reply to the gentleman, I am not acquainted with the status of bankrupt cities of the third class.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, for instance, Pottsville is going to discontinue paying school teachers and is asking for all teachers to be dismissed, I understand, on April 15, as well as other cities.

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, I understand that they have been paid.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Dauphin County believe in home rule?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. I certainly do, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is the taking of power away from mayors and councilmen of third class cities in our Commonwealth and setting the salaries of policemen in these forty-four cities by a Legislative enactment, a home rule measure?

Mr. DAVID P. REESE. Mr. Speaker, may I request that the gentleman keep in line and talk on the merits of this particular bill and not talk about the salaries of school teachers.

The SPEAKER. The Chair is unable to protect the gentleman in that respect. The gentleman can protect himself by refusing to answer questions that are not relevant or pertinent.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in view of the present state of the nation, and of Pennsylvania, and the critical financial condition of most of the cities of the third class, I am opposed to any legislative salary grab for any group of citizens, be they police officers or other public servants now better paid than the nearly twenty thousand public school teachers. And when countless thousands of clerical workers, skilled workmen in our factories and farmers in our agricultural sections of the state, must struggle along with half the cash income that this bill proposes, I think it is high time we should attend to our own affairs and let the duly elected officials of the cities set the salaries they desire to pay and can afford to pay.

I wonder if the gentleman from Dauphin, for whom I have the highest personal regard,—I wonder if he knows that this proposed salary grab will amount to over twice as much as is now paid to nearly twenty thousand of our fourth class school teachers who are working for from eight to nine hundred dollars per year, and this, mind you, is the maximum salary they can get, while the maximum proposed by this bill is over two thousand dollars, nearly three times as much as thousands of our well-educated school teachers receive. Many of these teachers spent from four to six years, after they leave high school, in college and extension courses, at a cost of many thousands of dollars, in order to prepare themselves to properly teach our children, while a police officer can in some cities be made and unmade at the beck and call of the person or persons who control the patronage of his city.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am against any salary grab for any public official, policeman or otherwise, at least until this state-wide and country-wide depression is over, until the low-income teachers are better paid, until clerical workers receive better wages, and until farmers and dairymen can, by the sweat of their brow, earn a decent profit. And these things cannot be accomplished until we have better business, and we cannot have better business by raising the salaries of public officials, thereby increasing taxes and adding to the burdens of the business man, the home owner, and the taxpayers of our Commonwealth.

I submit that many of these Third Class cities are bankrupt or nearly bankrupt, located where there are already distressed school districts,—cities that already are stretching out their hands for subsidies from the state, cities that are either unwilling or unable to collect their taxes to pay their public bills. I do not believe the public officials in many of these cities, and the taxpayers in all of them, want this legislative salary grab. If they do, where are the representatives of these cities?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for a question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Wayne how many third-class cities he has in his legislative district.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I have none, but just as soon as this salary grab is past, my city, which is a borough, will be asking for an increase for her policemen this year or probably two years from now, and I think we should stop it right now.

The SPEAKER. It would appear to the chair that the philosophy of government of both the gentlemen is the same.

Mr. DIX. Thank you, Mr. Speaker. I do not see any representatives of any of these cities or taxpayers stand up.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman can count me as one.

Mr. DIX. Then, not daring to face at home the wrath of an enraged public already overburdened with taxes, some representative of a special group has had this bill introduced to raise salaries far beyond what countless thousands of other public employees receive, and they want us to do by legislative enactment what they dare not do at home. This is not only class legislation by remote control, but if passed will lead the way for other special groups to do likewise.

To the gentleman from Dauphin, I wish to say that I am not familiar with the financial condition of Harrisburg, and if this legislation was confined to Harrisburg, it might be reasonable, but it is not confined to Harrisburg. It affects forty-four cities, some with only a few thousand inhabitants, and if this bill is passed within a few years all borough policemen may be asking a similar salary. Personally I do not care if the city of Harrisburg sets the minimum salary for policemen at two thousand dollars per year, provided the council and mayor is agreed upon that sum, but the city of Harrisburg and no other city has any business coming into the Hall of this House, and asking us to wash their linen for them. Why not pass a bill to raise everybody's salary to one thousand six hundred dollars a year, with an increase every year for six years of eighty dollars, or a total of over two thousand dollars, as this bill requires? It would be a fine thing every public official here at the Capitol and elsewhere could have this bill apply to them, but the state could afford it, and neither can the semi-bankrupt cities. The one thousand six hundred dollars starting salary for policemen of Harrisburg and other cities is eight hundred dollars more than the starting salary for school teachers. This is unfair to our teachers.

Mr. Speaker, I submit again, that when Governor Jaeger is making a desperate effort to balance the state budget when we all campaigned on a platform of home rule, strict economy and a reduction in taxes, it would be foolish to pass this salary grab at this time; it would be a slap in the face of every taxpayer in these forty-four cities, and also a slap in the face of these twenty thousand rural school teachers, who are working for less than half what this bill proposes, and it would be an insult to every day laborer in Pennsylvania, all of whom have had their incomes cut around twenty-five per cent within the last few weeks. For my part, I cannot and will not vote to legislate salaries that should be set by the duly elected public officials who haven't the courage to regulate their own affairs, who want us to pull their hot chestnuts out of their own political fire. I hope every member of this House will uphold the principle of home rule and vote against this legislative salary grab.

Mr. VAN BELLE. Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I do not have any third class cities in my district, but I am a taxpayer and I am in favor of this bill. I have already gone on record as being in favor of giving more thorough and rightful consideration to the policemen and firemen in the district from which I come, and also favor the passage of this bill. I don't know whether it is fair to make a comparison between school teachers and policemen, but one thing I do know, and that is, aside from the actual performance of their ordinary duties policemen and firemen risk their lives for the protection and the teachers do not. I exhort the support of the members of this House for this bill.

Mr. TARR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems strange that I should rise and try to defend the cops, because the only thing they have ever done for me was to trail me all over the city streets with gas tags. However, yesterday we were treated with gas, and today a gentleman compares the police with the school teachers. Since I am a school teacher and a taxpayer, notwithstanding the fact that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McNally, said I am not, I do want to defend this bill on the ground that it is not unfair. The gentleman stated that the starting salaries for teachers in the city of Harrisburg in one thousand dollars. I am not sure of that, but perhaps he knows. Being from a suburban community school district and being a teacher, I know that my starting salary was twelve hundred dollars with four increments, for nine months work.

Now, I am right here to say that the teachers are underpaid and we are going to try to get their salaries raised in the near future. The city policemen in my county, we do have three third class cities, who pound the pavement have it pretty easy until someone draws a gun on them. In my school room no one has yet drawn a gun on me, nor do I have to risk my life and limb. The amount of one thousand six hundred dollars, the starting salary for a policeman in a third class city is not too much, as I know in my third class city, the man who goes out collects garbage about four hours a day is making more money than that. In the interest of good business, if the members on the other side of the House want to bring back business prosperity, we should pass this bill. I might add too that if these policemen receive a little more money perhaps they will leave the fruit stands on the corner alone.

Just in closing, as a teacher I want to say that the teachers of the Commonwealth and the teachers in the House with whom I have spoken all agree with me that this bill is fair and should go through. Thank you.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I enjoyed the remarks of the gentleman from Fayette but he just should have said, "Scratch my back and I will scratch yours."

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I rise to support this bill for more reasons than one, but before I go into those reasons I would like to paint a picture for the members of the House of Representatives as to exactly the conditions that exist when a man becomes a policeman.

I want to say to the members of the House of Representatives that policemen are the only group of employees, if you want to use that word, who must go out and buy their own tools and pay for them out of their own pocket. Let me give you a picture of what happens in a third class city.

When one is selected from the civil service list, and let us bear in mind that the civil service list is the list of persons who have taken examinations in order to qualify, and then the one with the highest average from that particular list is selected and he is told, "Now you can become a policeman in our city." Immediately thereafter the policeman must go out and spend sufficient money to buy himself a uniform; he must go out and buy himself a revolver; he must go out and buy himself particular shirts and particular clothes that are only good for that particular purpose, and he must go out and buy his own shells. Just to give you this particular example, suppose a policeman should be called into a certain street where there is a mad dog running around, the policeman goes along and kills that dog with a bullet shot from his own gun. He has to pay for the cost of that act, although he is exercising his duty as a public citizen.

Let me tell you something else. Today a policeman in a third class city is not only protecting the interests of that particular city, but because of the use of automobiles third class cities have been brought closer to each other, and policing in a third class city actually means policing for the entire state. For example when a criminal escapes in one part of the state, teletype messages are sent all over the state and the policemen in third class cities must be alert and must attempt to catch the criminal who has committed the crime, not in his own vicinity, but in a vicinity which does not belong to him, so that you can see that the problem of exercising his duty is not only in the interests of his particular municipality but in the interest of the entire state. You want a man as your policeman who can live in a decent manner, who can become an upright citizen whose mind cannot be swayed by cheap bribery.

You heard the gentleman from one of the counties express before that certainly you want men of intelligence, you want men who are a credit to the community, and the only way that you can have a decent police system is by paying those members a salary sufficient to enable them to be straight citizens, law abiding and at the same time capable of carrying out their duties. Therefore, I say to the members of the House that this bill is not an excessive one. There is no one here to oppose this bill. Two years ago this very bill passed this House and at that time the sole objection raised by the Fathers of third class cities was that they weren't in position to pay the increase. Since that time two years have elapsed, and I can say to you now that third class cities are in good financial condition regardless of the fact that one of the gentlemen from a county that does not have a third class city wishes to say otherwise.

I think it would be unfair to compare a man, whose life is in danger every day, with one who teaches your children every day.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it is not my purpose to make an extended argument on this bill. I am absolutely for it. I do not think policemen are receiving enough compensation at present, regardless of the argument wherein the plight of the school teachers and school districts has been brought up on the floor of the House. I believe that is entirely out of order. Some of the members stated that they get eight hundred dollars, and some stated they get twelve hundred dollars. I represent the Schuylkill County districts and they don't get any compensation as school teachers and have not gotten anything for the last eight or nine months. Nevertheless, I am wholeheartedly in favor of this bill.

Mr. CHARLES E. DONAHUE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think that the gentleman from Fayette who just bragged about being a school teacher got in the wrong profession, he should have been a cop, since they start them in at sixteen hundred dollars a year.

The gentleman from Cambria and some of the other gentlemen might question me as to whether I have a third class city in my district. Let me say that I have. It is not listed in the ten thousand group. Its population is nine thousand nine hundred and seventy-two. I know the population of my city. There is another city in the state of Pennsylvania I understand, Corry, that has even a smaller population than the city that I represent. There are forty-six third class cities in the state of Pennsylvania and the range, as I understand, is from one hundred and fifteen thousand, which is Erie, ninety-two thousand, which is Allentown, eighty-thousand, which is Harrisburg, on down the line to about eight thousand for Corry, and yet we are trying to legislate at the present time the same provisions for the city of Erie with a population of one hundred and fifteen thousand, as would apply to the city of Lock Haven with a population of nine thousand nine hundred and seventy-two.

I say to you, ladies and gentlemen of the House, it is about time that we as legislators stop legislating for the people in the communities from which we come. I believe that it is fair to allow the mayor and city council, whether from Erie, Harrisburg, Lock Haven or any other city in this Commonwealth to have the right to determine what they shall pay their policemen. When you take that right out of their hands by legislation here in Harrisburg you are destroying the very principles upon which the great and true foundation of the city or community from which you come, the third class cities especially, bases its strength, and that is in the police force. If you legislate their salary as you have in civil service, they will soon tell the mayor and the city council where to go, and

I suppose they will have to go there. It will break down the police force in the district. There isn't any question about that because they will have no control over them. It will either mean in my city that we will have to place a certain millage upon the people of Lock Haven, or we will have to drop some of the policemen. We pay in Lock Haven at the present time, one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month for the policemen, and we have on the waiting list many applicants. If the people of Harrisburg, Erie, Allentown or other places would like to have some good policemen, I will send you twenty-five college graduates who are athletes, who are on the waiting list and they will work for you for one hundred and twenty-five dollars a month, and be mighty glad to get it.

There are no requirements for a policeman. He can step in at a salary of sixteen hundred dollars minimum, and go to two thousand eighty dollars, and in a few years you will be coming back and asking that that be increased. I know you will. You have done it in everything that you have purposed of this kind. You will go on down the line and say, "We got this bill through for first class cities, for second class cities and for third class cities, now we want a bill passed for the boroughs and townships of our state." Finally, you will have a tenure, like you have on your hands at the present time.

I am against the bill because it takes out of the hands of the local authorities the very thing that they should have to control the policemen of their cities and their districts.

Mr. COOPER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, it seems to me that some of us are under a misunderstanding as to what is provided for in this bill. In my opinion it is not a question of whether the school teachers or the policeman should get the most money: I understand that this bill provides that the minimum salary for a policeman shall be one thousand six hundred dollars. We already have given city council the right to appoint policemen and to fix their compensation. Why should we tell them now what the minimum salary of those policemen shall be? Perhaps in some municipalities salaries should be one thousand six hundred dollars, perhaps in other municipalities it should be less.

I think we are driving against the principle of home rule, and I am opposed to this bill for that reason. I ask the other members to support me in this contention.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I don't wish to take up the time of the House very long. I shall not endeavor to match the eloquence of the gentleman who preceded me, the gentleman from Lock Haven.

I do want to say to the members of this House, however, that it happens that the police force of these third class cities are necessary for the protection of the rest of us whether we live there or not. Whether they are fools or imbeciles or whether they are men of intelligence makes no difference. It is a good thing for us in Harrisburg, for example, that the policemen are pretty good men sometimes. I want to say to you, Mr. Speaker, that the question of whether they pay their policemen a decent wage has a whole lot to do with whether or not they get good men. I think we should even go farther than that, Mr. Speaker. I think, the police of the Commonwealth should all be under one central head. The head of the State Police does not have power to remove some of the incompetents and drones that are on the police force of many of our cities. I say to you, Mr. Speaker, that on these men who go out and risk their lives we do not carry insurance, nor do we carry insurance on State Police but we expect them to protect us and the other citizens of the Commonwealth. It is only right and reasonable that these people should perform their functions over the whole state, it is in the interest of the whole state, and they should be properly compensated. I should like to see the members vote on this bill.

Mr. HOYT. Mr. Speaker and ladies and gentlemen of the House, I do live in a third class city, and I am so to have to oppose this bill because of my fine feeling for the fine gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Reese. I believe he takes us in diametrically the opposite direction from where we ought to be going. I mean by that, bringing the cost of civil government down within the ability of the taxpayer to pay. Furthermore, I was elected on the home rule program. What does this bill do? It says to the people back home, "We are handing you our babies, you are the ones to take this baby, you are to feed it, clothe it, and we are unwilling to finance this obligation." That is what I object to. I don't object to the policemen getting good pay. I don't object to that feature as much as I do to one other feature. If we are going to put on the Commonwealth an additional financial obligation, why don't we provide right here and now to pay that obligation? What is more, a lot of these cities are on the verge of collapse. We have heard many of the members of this House tell us that the teachers are unpaid. How are these people going to be paid when they get the wages that we have voted for a minimum salary of sixteen hundred dollars to begin with for policemen, when the same municipalities are not able to pay the teachers and other officials who are already working there?

What I think this bill will do is this: It is going to compel some municipalities to do away with some policemen; it is going to add to the unemployment situation, and I am hopeful that that thing does not happen.

I am in favor of sufficient pay for State Police and local police too, but I believe this; if we are to give them additional pay, if we are going to give them insurance, if we are going to give them protection against injury, I believe that the state itself should do it. That is the place from which we ought to start and not send the word back home: "We are saying to you, we are ordering you to do the thing we tell you to do; you bear the burden; you pay the bill." Thank you.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, one of the gentlemen of the House intimated that reference to school teachers was out of order, but as I understand it, the Speaker did not so rule.

At this time I would like to speak in regard to school teachers. I hold in my hand an editorial from one of the leading newspapers of Pennsylvania in the anthracite valley—

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a parliamentary inquiry.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know what is before the House at the present time.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would state that it is H. B. No. 263, Printer's No. 146.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, then I believe the tleman is out of order when he is discussing school teachers.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman from Wayne will confine himself to discussing the bill before the House.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, would it not be proper to discuss the condition of the citizens of the third class districts and other districts in reference to this bill?

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that it would be a proper discussion to show the analogy between their salaries.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, that is my idea. Many of these cities cannot afford to pay, Mr. Speaker. This editorial reads as follows:

"Two thousand teachers in five anthracite counties, including Lackawanna and Luzerne, and three soft coal counties, we are told, have not received any pay for periods ranging from one to ten months. That's not only serious but utterly disgraceful."

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I don't think the gentleman is discussing the bill at all.

Mr. SPEAKER. The Chair feels that the gentleman from Northampton is captious in his argument. The gentleman from Wayne certainly has the right to discuss a matter pertaining to a minimum wage, or expenses to be incurred by municipalities, compared to the expenses incurred in paying the school teachers.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman has just discussed the policeman's clothes, the bullets and things of that nature. Now I wish to say in regards to bullets that only five per cent of the policemen, to my knowledge, have ever fired one, so they certainly would not be obliged to expend very much money for bullets. I consider myself a friend of policemen, but the attitude I am taking is this, that we have no right to legislate salaries to be paid by municipalities. They ought to do their own salary setting.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman yield for a question?

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Wayne permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DIX. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman from Wayne have in his possession a pink copy of House Bill 856?

Mr. DIX. I haven't a copy here, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Will the gentleman look on his desk to see if he has a copy of that bill, and will the gentleman from Wayne please inform the House what that bill provides?

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, it appears to provide one million dollars for financially handicapped and distressed school districts.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman inform me whether that one million dollars will go to the teachers of the state.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I think the gentleman from Cambria can answer that.

Mr. ANDREWS. I think I can. Mr. Speaker—

The SPEAKER. Does the gentleman from Cambria desire to be recognized?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Wayne has recognized me.

The SPEAKER. The Chair doesn't recognize the gentleman from Wayne for such recognition. The gentleman from Wayne will proceed.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, this editorial reads as follows:

"Of course, the state is not responsible entirely for this situation. In many districts it is due in a large measure to extravagance, waste and even worse than that. Then there is the fact that property owners and industrialists are finding it difficult, if not impossible, because of economic conditions, to pay their taxes".

I say that raising the policemen's salaries in the present state of our counties and cities is a salary grab.

I have another news item which says:

"Several hundred unpaid teachers of Schuylkill and Northumberland counties have decided to ask their school boards to notify the Department of Public Instruction schools will have to be closed April 15 if financial assistance is not received by that time.

"The teachers will ask their school directors to set the April 15 'deadline' as a means of calling attention of the assembly and the entire state to their desperate financial straits".

I say, Mr. Speaker, that in view of the distressed condition of many of our third class cities this bill should not be passed at the present time.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows, viz:

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. CHECK filed the following reasons for his vote:

I am voting aye for House Bill No. 263 for the following reasons:

1. I believe that if the policemen were paid a decent living wage there would apt to be less chance of a policeman accepting graft.

2. I believe that the policeman's salary should be increased because of the risk involved.

3. I believe that the policeman's salary should be increased because he has to buy his own equipment, such as clothes, gun and bullets.

4. I believe that the policeman's salary should be increased because it would encourage a better class of men to become policemen.

Mr. ROSENFELD filed the following reason for his vote:

I vote in favor of House Bill No. 263 because it is my feeling policemen who by their very duties subject themselves to loss of life are entitled to every consideration in a question concerning their salary.

It is good policy to allow the state to fix minimum compensation for patrolmen in the end that they shall not be underpaid.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 291, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the first day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2681) entitled "An act relating to and regulating the manufacture storing and possession of explosives requiring permits for magazines and prescribing permit fees and providing penalties" by excluding from the provisions of said act explosives used in clay mining or in rock or stone quarries

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate either of the sponsors of this bill.

The SPEAKER. Will either of the gentlemen from Clearfield permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KRISE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman if this bill does not exclude from the provisions of the act of 1937 relative to the storage of explosives, clay mining, slate, rock, or stone quarry operations.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, that is still of the law of 1937.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman what operations would be left under the protective cloak of this act.

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, practically all of the wholesale traffic in explosives. The bill was primarily designed to curtail, not exactly curtail but to regulate the traffic in explosives, particularly of a re-sale nature. That was the original intent of the bill.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that with the passage of this bill the protective features relative to the storage of explosives will be obviated as far as all industrial operations are concerned?

Mr. KRISE. No, Mr. Speaker, because clay mining as well as coal mining has another provision that does regulate the storage and sale of explosives. By the passage of this bill it is primarily intended to give to the clay mining the same protection that is now given to the coal mining with this thought primarily in mind; at the present moment, in order to sell explosives it is necessary to sign a book of regulations and that takes an hour or an hour and a half, because only one day's supply of explosives which can be handed out to the miners.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, what protective features relative to the storage of explosives will there be left for rock and stone quarries?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, the same protection as the coal mines have.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. And what are they, Mr. Speaker?

Mr. KRISE. Mr. Speaker, their magazines have to comply with regulations.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I think there is a difference of opinion. I well remember the passage of this act in 1937. I remember the events that led up to its passage. Those of us who live in Southeastern Pennsylvania possibly remember the explosion that occurred in the lower end of York County in the pump holes in one of the quarries that resulted in the death of some seven or eight employees, due to the faulty method in which explosives had been stored in that stone quarry.

I come from a locality that has any number of stone quarries, and I know that the limestone quarries are very numerous in counties from which a lot of the other members come. On the other hand I have not had any complaint whatsoever from the operators of stone quarries in my locality relative to the protection that the state insisted should surround the storage of explosives. I feel that stone quarries or rock quarries do not have the same protective features that surround the bituminous and anthracite coal mines, which have been exempted from the provisions of this act. I also know that the operators and employees of stone quarries do not have the experience that individuals in coal mine operations have, relative to the handling of explosives.

The use of explosives in stone quarries occurs only at infrequent intervals, while in the operation of coal mining it is a regular daily occurrence, which means that stone quarries do not have men trained in the handling of explosives. To take away from the employees of the stone quarries the protective features of the act of 1937 is to expose them to situations with which they are not able to cope.

I feel that it is a mistake for the Legislature to remove the protective features that have surrounded those men and it is a mistake for the operators because they all have heard considerable about the high cost of compensation and the rates of compensation are based to a very great extent upon the experience that the particular industry has had relative to the accident ratio.

I would suggest that this bill be defeated for the reason that we are dealing here with the safety of employees. In the first instance, and in the second instance, you will find that it is going to cost the operators of these quarries more money as a result of the failure of proper safety methods being utilized in the storage of explosives. I would ask the membership of this House not to support this bill.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

SENATE MESSAGE

SENATE ADOPTS CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT ON SENATE BILL No. 79

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has adopted the report of the Committee of Conference on the subject of the difference existing between the two Houses on Senate Bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 79.

An Act requiring the county treasurer to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE OF CONFERENCE ON SENATE BILL NO. 79

Mr. WILKINSON. Mr. Speaker, I desire to call up the report of the Committee of Conference on Senate Bill No. 79, House Bill No. 556, Printer's No. 37.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives:

We the undersigned Committee of Conference on the part of the Senate and House of Representatives for the purpose of considering Senate Bill No. 79 entitled

An Act requiring the county treasurer to adjourn county treasurers' sales of seated and unseated lands for non-payment of taxes in all counties except counties of the first class and preserving the lien of all taxes on such lands

respectfully submit the following bill as our report

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 298, as follows:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 313) entitled "An act to enable cities of the first second and second class A incorporated towns boroughs and townships of the second class to govern and regulate by ordinance the construction alteration repairs occupation maintenance sanitation lighting ventilation water supply toilet facilities drainage use and inspection of all buildings and land appurtenant thereto providing for the enforcement of such ordinances and repealing existing laws" by making provisions for adoption of standard building codes and dispensing with the publishing of such codes in full

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the fourteenth day of April one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 313) entitled "An act to enable cities of the first second and second class A incorporated towns boroughs and townships of the second class to govern and regulate by ordinance the construction alteration repairs occupation maintenance sanitation lighting ventilation water supply toilet facilities drainage use and inspection of all buildings and land appurtenant thereto providing for the enforcement of such ordinances and repealing existing laws" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That in addition to other remedies provided by law and in order to promote the public health safety morals and the general welfare all cities of the first second and second class A incorporated towns boroughs and townships of the second class in this Commonwealth are hereby authorized and empowered to enact and enforce suitable ordinances to govern and regulate the construction alteration repairs occupation maintenance sanitation lighting ventilation water supply toilet facilities drainage use and inspection of all buildings and to the sanitation and inspection of land appurtenant thereto and the said ordinances may provide proper penalties not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) for the violation of their provisions

Such ordinances may adopt any standard building code published and printed in book form covering any or all of the above items without incorporating such building code in the ordinance or any such city borough town or township may enact any such building code as its ordinance authorized under the provisions of this act In either event such building code shall not be published or advertised in full as required by law in the case of the adoption of ordinances Provided That a notice of the adoption of such standard building code as the building ordinance of the city borough town or township together with a brief summary thereof setting forth the principal provisions of said ordinance in such reasonable detail as will give adequate notice of its contents pursuant to a uniform form which shall be prepared or approved by the Department of Internal Affairs and a reference to the place or places within the municipality or township where copies of the building code adopted are deposited and may be examined shall be published in the manner provided by law for the publication of ordinances Not less than three such copies shall be made available to public inspection and use during business hours for a period of not less than three months after the adoption of such building code

Section 2 The provisions of this act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Gates,

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

ADDRESS BY MR. KANE

Mr. KANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House I won't keep you very long, but it is quite important that we have a meeting of the Committee on Mines and Mining immediately after the session in Room A.

The purpose of this meeting I would like to state to the House, it this: It has recently been an amazing occurrence that one of the members of the Public Utility Commission has challenged the right of the Attorney General to intervene on behalf of the coal interests of Pennsylvania in securing lower freight rates and opposing an unjust attempt to increase anthracite freight rates at this time.

The purpose of the committee meeting is to consider immediately a bill directing the Attorney General to take such action and also to appropriate the necessary money for that purpose; also to inquire of the gentleman on the Public Utility Commission what he had in mind in challenging the right of the Attorney General to intervene.

I would like to have all the members present from both parties.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from McKean.

The SPEAKER. Only for the limited purpose of interrogating him with reference to the statement made by him.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent of the House to indulge in a slight interrogation.

The SPEAKER. Will the House give its unanimous consent for the interrogation? Is there objection? The Chair hears none and consent is granted.

Will the gentleman from McKean permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I will be glad to answer the gentleman from York, but first I want to state to the House that the meeting is to be held in Room A directly back of the House caucus room, immediately after the session.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire whether that was an official act of the Public Utility Commission to which the gentleman referred, or the act of an individual member.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I do not wish to cast any aspersions on the Commission as a whole; it was the act, as I understand it, of a single member of the Commission of which the other members did not approve.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, may I inquire of the gentleman which member of the Commission he is referring to?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I am not in a position to verify this because I was not present, however, I was told by a person who was present that the member of the Commission was Mr. Thomas Buchanan of Beaver County.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I would like to inquire of the gentleman from McKean from what source he secured the information that was contained in the remarks made by him.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I really believe that this is a matter that should be considered in Committee. I have not the desire to drag the name of the official before the House. I think this has gone beyond a slight interrogation. However, if the gentleman cares to attend the meeting of the committee, it is an important problem, and I would like to have him attend, and I will then if the committee approves, inform the House as fully as he desires.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to inquire of the gentleman the name or the source from which he obtained the information that formed a part of the public statement that he made before this House.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, I obtained that information by reason of the fact that I heard a rumor to that effect, and I asked the Attorney-General if it were true, and he said it was.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, do I understand that this information came from the Attorney-General of the Commonwealth?

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker, the Attorney-General volunteered no information. I submit further, Mr. Speaker, that I think this has gone past a slight interrogation, and I do not wish to go into the matter in detail.

ADDRESS BY HERBERT B. COHEN

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the information that I have is quite to the contrary. I understand that the Public Utility Commission has been concerning itself relative to intervention before the Interstate Commerce Commission for the purpose of securing lower freight rates on shipments of anthracite and bituminous coal out of Pennsylvania. I further understand that the Public Utility Commission, through some of its members, had an interview with the Governor relative to securing the Commonwealth's intervention through the Attorney General, and I understand that various counsel have been consulted, and that one of the outstanding members of the Pennsylvania Bar has been consulted relative to such intervention.

The necessity for this particular haste I cannot see. My information, as I have indicated, is directly opposite to what has been presented on this floor by the gentleman from McKean.

I understand that the Commission has exerted itself to secure such intervention. Beyond that I have heard no rumors that would substantiate the statements that have been made by the gentleman from McKean. However, apparently those statements were made as the result of information that he had, that possibly did not come to my attention.

ADDRESS BY MR. KANE

Mr. KANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I wish to state that I think perhaps the gentleman has my statement mixed up. Possibly I did not make myself clear.

What I intended to convey to the House was, and it is a well known fact, that some members of the Commission, and perhaps the whole Commission, have tried to resist the present attempt to increase anthracite freight rates. The Attorney General intended to assist in the matter and one of the Commissioners challenged his right to do so.

I have no desire to cast any reflections upon the action of the entire Commission which I approve. I think they have the right to resist this increase.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

SYMPATHY EXTENDED

Mr. DIX offered a resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration.

The resolution was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1939.

Again this House has been shocked by the sorrowful news of the death of one dear to a fellow member.

The mother of the Honorable Gaylord Carpenter of Pike County died yesterday at her home in Bushkill.

The tie that so closely binds a son to his mother has been severed and that wonderful and constant mother's love that was such a help to him throughout life is forever gone; therefore be it

Resolved, by this House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth that, realizing the great grief and deep sorrow that is his, we sincerely extend our deepest sympathy, and direct the Chief Clerk of this House to transmit a copy of this Resolution to him, the said Honorable Gaylord Carpenter.

SENATE

MONDAY, April 3, 1939.

The Senate met at 9:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

In the absence of the Chaplain, prayer was offered by the Senator from Berks, Rev. FRANK W. RUTH, D.D., as follows:

Almighty God, our Heavenly Father, at the beginning of Holy Week we come into Thy presence in deep humility, feeling our sense of unworthiness of the great sacrifice which Thou didst make for our sake; and we pray Thee that Thou wilt help us to understand the depth of Thy love, which prompted Thee to come into this world and assume unto Thyself the debt of humanity and pay the price in full for our sins.

We pray that this spirit may be spread and accepted throughout the world and that strife, prejudice and hatred may be wiped off the face of the earth.

Guide us in our individual sphere in the work to which Thou hast assigned us, that we may reciprocate Thy love, that we may give the best that we have for Thee, for Thy kingdom and for our fellow man. We ask in the Master's Holy Name. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. OWLETT and Mr. HEYBURN, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Senate Bill No. 132, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one two and four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 180) entitled "An act providing a method of establishing title to land acquired at a sale for unpaid taxes or municipal claims" extending the provisions of said act to include land acquired at county treasurer's sales for unpaid taxes.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE MESSAGE

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO STUDY REGULATIONS OF MILK CONTROL

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Resolution No. 3, entitled:

Whereas, Milk Control has been the subject of much controversy, and

Whereas, The production and distribution of milk is a subject of such vital importance to the citizens of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President Pro Tempore shall appoint three members of the Senate, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint four Members of the House, who, together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to investigate and study, (a) all regulations records and activities of the several departments and boards engaged in any manner in the administration of laws regulating the production and distribution of milk and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain full facts which will be useful and helpful in formulating future remedial and regulatory legislation

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its Chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

with the information that the House has passed the same with amendments, in which the concurrence of the Senate is requested.

SENATE RESOLUTION NO. 3 LAID ON THE TABLE

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, in view of the fact that the House had made certain amendments to this resolution which neither I nor any other member of the Senate has had a chance to read, I move that the resolution be laid on the table.

Mr. MALLERY. I second the motion.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise in my place and offer the following bills, about which I wish to make a short statement. On account of the action last week by the Supreme Court relative to compensation, I believe it is necessary that a new bill covering compensation be introduced, and I am therefore introducing a bill tonight which will cover the Supreme Court decision relative to this other Act, which they have discovered to be unconstitutional.

Mr. DENT read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 403, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended, "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employee in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder, and prescribing penalties," by eliminating from said act unconstitutional provisions.

Which was committed to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. CROWE read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 404, entitled:

An Act providing for a uniform commission to fire insurance agents; prohibiting additional compensation or excess commissions in any form; providing for the enforcement of the provisions of this act by the Insurance Commissioner; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

Mr. MILLER read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 405, entitled:

An Act to amend the act approved the first day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety; regulating the use of highways, and the operation of vehicles, tractors, street cars, trackless trolley omnibuses, bicycles, pedestrians, and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth; providing for the titling, including liens, encumbrances, and legal claims; registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof, upon payment of prescribed fees; prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act; conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue, the Department of Highways, peace officers, mayors, burgesses, magistrates, aldermen, justices of the peace, the courts and the clerks thereof, owners of vehicles, and garage keepers; providing that records are admissible as evidence; imposing upon owners, counties, cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, within the Commonwealth, liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles; imposing penalties; imposing certain costs upon counties; providing for the disposition of fines, forfeitures, fees, and miscellaneous receipts; making an appropriation and providing for funds," by limiting the hours of service of operators of commercial motor vehicles, motor omnibuses, motor buses, and truck tractors; requiring such operators to keep certain records; and imposing penalties.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

Mr. COLEMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 406, entitled:

A Supplement to the act approved the first day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 1172), entitled "An act establishing certain streets in boroughs and incorporated towns as State highways, and providing for their construction and maintenance at the expense of the Commonwealth," establishing an additional route in the Borough of Minooka, Lackawanna Township, Lackawanna County.

Which was committed to the Committee on Highways.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 407, entitled:

An Act to amend section five hundred and thirty-six of the act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; an repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by allowing a change of the fiscal year of school districts of the second class.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. WOLFENDEN, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 408, entitled:

An Act to authorize insurance companies to include in any general, blanket or group policy covering accidental bodily injuries or sickness, a provision for payment of certain expenses incurred by the insured for dependents.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

He also, by request, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 409, entitled:

An Act to amend clauses six and nineteen and to eliminate clause seven of section twelve hundred ten of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," fixing the minimum annual salary and increments of members of the teaching and supervisory staff in school districts of the fourth class; increasing the percentage of state-aid for all districts; and providing additional state-aid through an equalization fund created by this act to be maintained from state appropriations.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. GELTZ read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 410, entitled:

An Act regulating and improving the civil service of the Commonwealth, vesting the Pennsylvania Civil Service Commission and Pennsylvania Civil Service Administrator with certain powers and duties; providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth; authorizing cooperation with counties, cities, boroughs, and towns and townships in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 411, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two hundred one, two hundred ten, two hundred eleven, two hundred thirteen, two hundred fourteen, two hundred twenty-one, two hundred twenty-two and seven hundred nine, and to add sections three hundred four, and two thousand eight hundred fifty-one to the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," as amended, by creating the Pennsylvania Civil Service Commission; prescribing its powers and duties, and the compensation of its members; and relating to the appointment, compensation, and work of certain persons in the employ of the Commonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. CHAPMAN offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, 1939, at nine o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, 1939, at eight o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION PROPOSING MONUMENT TO MARIO IZZO

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this morning I found in The Patriot, a newspaper printed here in Harrisburg, the following article on the editorial page:

A MONUMENT TO CITIZENSHIP

With every propriety, the borough of Aliquippa is raising funds to erect a monument to the late Mario Izzo. Izzo is the Italian immigrant who, forced on relief by lack of employment, swept the streets of his neighborhood as a return for a government's kindness to him.

This is a movement in which many citizens of the United States could participate. The monument, when erected, might well become a shrine for those who believe with Mario Izzo that American citizenship means support of rather than support by the Government.

There was never a better time in this Nation's history to emphasize this idea which Mario Izzo personified than now when the Country reeks with men and women who think that Government owes them a living instead of an opportunity to work.

"My bread tastes sweet and I feel like a man because I work" are the memorable words of Mario Izzo as he looked up from his sweeping before death struck him down. Such words befit any monument.

RESOLUTIONS

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. CAVALCANTE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Whereas, In the borough of Aliquippa in this Commonwealth, a certain Mario Izzo an Italian immigrant who, forced on relief by lack of employment, voluntarily swept the streets of his neighborhood as a return for the relief granted him by this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, This conduct on the part of Mario Izzo was highly exemplary of the gratitude that ought to prevail in the hearts of all men for the blessings conferred by American Citizenship; and

Whereas, The borough of Aliquippa is raising funds to erect a monument to the memory of the said Mario Izzo who was recently struck by death:

Therefore Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That it is the wish of this General Assembly that the Department of Public Assistance, the Department of Property and Supplies, the Department of Highways and the Department of Public Instructions do render their cooperation to the borough of Aliquippa with material and advisory assistance to the end that a modest and fitting monument may be erected to the memory of the said Mario Izzo; and

Be It Further Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretaries of the Departments therein mentioned and also to the borough council of Aliquippa and the family of the said Mario Izzo.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

RESOLUTION MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO VOTE FOR HOUSE BILL NO. 2 KNOWN AS THE TOWNSEND PLAN

Mr. DENT offered the following resolution which was twice read as follows:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Whereas, Demand for Old Age Pensions is one of the foremost social security issues of the day, and

Whereas, In the past, the cost of caring for the aged has been borne almost entirely by relatives and friends of the aged persons in need. Because of the great number of aged persons included in the lists of the unemployed this burden has exhausted the savings of the working people and has depressed their living standards and is rapidly demoralizing their social standards, and

Whereas, Because of these reasons and many others, a great deal of pressure is put upon the Representatives of the people to pass legislation designed to relieve the situation, and

Whereas, There are thousands of worthy Pennsylvania citizens who have given their full support to candidates for office who have promised them that action would be taken on such pension systems as are presented in Congress and in our State Legislature, particularly, one system known to all as the Townsend Plan of Old Age Pensions, and

Whereas, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States House Bill No. 2, embodying the features of the Townsend Plan, and

Whereas, Many persons have petitioned their Representatives that action be taken on House Bill No. 2, and

Whereas, This issue is vital and all important if recovery is to become a reality in our Commonwealth and Nation and aside from political beliefs and affiliations this subject is deserving of immediate and sincere consideration from all persons who represent the people of this State and Nation, and

Whereas, Therefore Be It Resolved and It is Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), that this General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Representatives in Congress to vote for immediate consideration of House Bill No. 2, known as the Townsend Plan, and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Washington, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the President Pro Tempore of the United States Senate and a copy be forwarded to the President of the United States.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object.

The PRESIDENT. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Welfare, Public Assistance and Pensions.

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO MAKE A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION OF THE OPERATIONS AND EXPENDITURES OF BUREAU OF AERONAUTICS

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume the consideration of House Resolution No. 24, laid on the table.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

The Resolution was twice read:

In the House of Representatives, March 7, 1939.

Whereas, The publicity recently given to the amount of money appropriated to the Bureau of Aeronautics for use during the present biennium has occasioned much public comment and

Whereas, An investigation should be made of the activities and expenditures and also the plans of the Bureau in order to determine upon its future operations and future appropriations therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur) That a joint Legislative Committee is hereby created consisting of four members of the House of Representatives one of whom shall be a member of the minority party to be appointed by the Speaker of the House and three members of the Senate one of whom shall be a member of the minority party to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate whose duty it shall be

(a) To organize immediately after its appointment by the election from its membership of a chairman vice-chairman and a secretary

(b) To immediately begin a thorough investigation of the operations of and the expenditures made by the Bureau of Aeronautics since its creation with the end in view of suggesting what policy should be adopted in order to make its work more effective and less expensive

(c) To decide how far the Bureau should proceed as a separate organization and whether cooperation with the Federal Government or other states would be practicable

(d) To investigate safety devices and make recommendations in regard to the use thereof

(e) To inquire into possible abuses of the powers of the Bureau heretofore practiced and to make suggestions for the correction thereof

The committee hereby created shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee and to produce such books papers records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books papers records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

The said committee shall report to this General Assembly as soon as possible after its investigation is completed the results thereof accompanied by such suggestions of legislation to be enacted as to the committee seems necessary.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be suspended and the Senate do now proceed to the consideration of the resolution just read.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

The Chair hears none.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary information.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I should like to inquire whether this is a House resolution.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, it is a House resolution, serial No. 48 in the House history.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was not sure I heard correctly when the resolution was being read. If you will give me half a minute, I would like to make sure this is not an inquisition rather than an investigation.

The PRESIDENT. The time the Senator requests will be granted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the half minute having elapsed, I am convinced that this proposes to be an inquisition and not an investigation, and I would therefore like to speak, for a few minutes on this matter.

I happen to know one of the men that introduced the resolution, and, having spent about a thousand hours in the air myself, I kind of doubt whether he knows much about aeronautics; but I do know there has been some propaganda spread concerning the aeronautics division of our State government, simply because we had a Governor that flew an airplane—I am not saying how well he flew it, but he flew it.

It seems to have been put out very thoroughly in my particular county that much money was spent by the Earle administration in gallivanting around the country, and into Mexico. I do not like the tone of this resolution, simply because my party and all of its members have had to stand quite a bit of abuse from certain people who cannot win political campaigns on the issues of the day and try to create issues which are not to the best interests of the people.

I do not believe it is fair to say here tonight we should pass this resolution that gives to a committee of five Republicans, which it definitely consists of, and two Democrats—we used to have committees composed of four Democrats and two Republicans, but now the odds are not great enough so the Republicans make it five to two.

It seems to me that this resolution empowers the committee to issue subpoenas upon the former Governor of this State, hold him up in a committee meeting and ask him questions which I do not think will amount to anything; but they hope to gather political thunder to be used in the coming election.

I do not think that we have to do that. Let's go on with the affairs of the State of Pennsylvania that are necessary. Let's do the job here that we are supposed to. We are trying to get somewhere. You always hear referred to by editorials of the Republican papers that we Democrats are subtle and are stalling and do not give the Republicans opportunity to put forth their program. Is this part of your program? Are we going to be investigating in every branch of governmental activity, simply because somebody says we spent too much money?

I know it is perfectly all right for a party to go in and criticize the actions of the party that preceded it in power, but there must be a limit sometime; we must go to work sometime. We cannot just go on with these inquisitions, as I would term them, forever. This is just another piece of foolish legislation. If you want to name a committee, you are going to have somebody come up here and say that Governor Earle cracked a plane up taking it off, that will be spread all over the papers, that he was wasting taxpayers' money. I remember when the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, got up on the floor of the Senate and read a telegram and spoke about the trip Governor Earle made to Mexico, and I told him then that was what hurt him the most—he made a safe landing.

I am going to ask my Democratic colleagues to vote against this investigation, or inquisition, and I am going to ask the decent Republicans to do the same thing.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I wish to say a few words also. I had a letter a few weeks ago from former Governor Earle—which I cannot get my hands on just at present—but in this letter he said that while he had an accident or two in airplanes, he thought it was only fair that the people of Pennsylvania should know that he saved the State expense by using his own automobile instead of using an automobile at the State's expense; furnishing fuel for it; and also that Mrs. Earle paid the salary of her secretary, an item that he says had been charged to the State formerly. Altogether, he said that he had paid out of his own pocket for expenses that could well be charged against the State over six thousand dollars.

I am inclined to agree with my friend from Westmoreland that this is simply propaganda and a semi-inquisitorial resolution.

I believe it would be just as proper to introduce resolutions here to investigate the gentleman who tried to win me over to the Republican side by offering, as he alleged, as an agent of the Republican State Chairman, a mighty good job under the Earle administration, if I would have been foolish enough to accept it.

I see no good reason at all for a resolution like this being adopted, and if it is adopted I am sure the Governor can assuage his sorrow, if he has any, in the fact that the James administration is going to pull out of the bonfire the Earle tax bills and pass them, and so his sorrow will have some surcease, even if this resolution is passed.

The bonfire has not been started, but they are going to pull out the various Earle measures and pass them in this session.

Mr. BARTLETT. Mr. President, no inquisition and no persecution is involved in this resolution. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, thinks we should do the necessary things. This is one of those necessary things, because here the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has spent money unnecessarily and this is one place where we can save it.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, I fail to know why my good friends placed me on the Aeronautics Committee when I first came to this Senate. I find myself embarrassed at this moment, but, knowing that I directed that committee with honesty and integrity I am going to vote for the resolution, because I feel I have nothing to cover as chairman of the Aeronautics Committee.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senate agree to the resolution as amended.

It was agreed to.

Ordered. That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

HOUSE CONCURS IN SENATE BILL No. 166

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced, returned to the Senate, Senate Bill No. 166, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default, or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims, and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost; and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

with the information that the House has passed the same without amendments.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default, or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims, and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost; and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 83, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twenty-fifth day of April, one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 694), entitled "An act providing for the payment monthly by the counties to the Department of Revenue of the expenses of keeping convicts in State penitentiaries," by imposing upon the State the keeping of certain convicts.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—42

Cavalcante,	Frey,	Lanius,	Rice,
Chapman,	Gelder,	Letzler,	Ruth,

NAYS—1

Bartlett,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HOMSHER. Mr. President, I move that further consideration of Senate Bill No. 138 on third reading be postponed.

An Act authorizing counties cities boroughs townships of the first and second class and school districts to issue and sell bonds for certain purposes and for a certain period of time providing for a trust fund and a sinking fund for the payment thereof and defining the duties of the officers and governing bodies of the said municipalities or quasi municipalities in relation to said funds and fixing a penalty for the violation thereof.

be postponed for the present.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 108, (House Bill No. 26), on third reading postponed.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 108, (House Bill No. 26), entitled:

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-five) entitled "An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing acts as amended eliminating the requirement that certain buildings shall be equipped with certain equipment in connection with gas meters to prevent or retard the escape of gas.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I feel that Messrs. Rose and Andrews, the members of the House of Representatives who introduced this bill, should be commended and congratulated upon preparing this bill. If there is any one vote which I pride myself in making it was when I voted against the bill which this bill seeks to amend.

We are all interested, or at least we say we are, in the home owner. Just last week we passed a bill in the hope that we might be able to save thousands of homes to the home owners of Pennsylvania. The bill that was passed in 1937, which this bill amends, provided that in every home other than a single dwelling house, all over Pennsylvania except in cities of the first class, second class, and second class A, there must be affixed what we all know as a gas gadget. That gas gadget, we are informed, costs from one hundred to one hundred and fifty dollars to install.

I am told that this bill would cost the home owners in Allegheny County alone the astounding sum of five million dollars to comply with the terms of that bill. I know that when word of the passage or the enactment of this bill reached Altoona the papers denounced the enactment of this bill in the most scathing terms that ever followed the enactment of any bill since I have been a member of this Senate.

If it is a safety measure and costs only a reasonable sum—and I am told that in the State of Massachusetts such a gadget costs about thirty cents—if it is really a safety measure, it should be made to apply to cities of the first class, second class, and second class A, and not merely to third class cities and boroughs; and I ask that the members of this Senate vote for this bill.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, from the remarks of the Senator from Blair, am I to understand that his only objection to this bill is on the sole ground that the gadget costs too much?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, that is my only objection.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, if what the Senator from Blair says is true, I believe that it would be possible to introduce another bill or change this bill.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT

I therefore move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry for the purpose of amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion.
On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I object to that. I think we would better wait until someone can invent a gadget that can be installed at a more reasonable price.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I understood the Senator from Blair, in his preliminary remarks, to say that there is such a gadget in Massachusetts that only costs thirty cents; is that true or is it not true?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, that is what I read in a newspaper article; I do not know it of my own knowledge.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I opposed the passage of this bill last week simply because it repeals the entire Act of last year, amending it out of law.

The fact is, Mr. President, I have a price list in my hand here from the Keystone Gas Valve Company which quotes a price on a one-inch valve of thirty-five dollars, completely installed; a one-and-one-quarter inch valve, thirty-nine dollars; a one-and-one-half inch valve, forty-three dollars; on a two-inch valve, forty-eight dollars; and on a two-and-one-half inch valve, fifty-four dollars.

Then I have a statement that in the Empire State Building in New York City they installed one of these valves and were given a rebate of one per cent on their fire insurance premium, which amounted to six hundred dollars a year. I was told that the valve installed on that building cost $225, and that it saved $600 a year on their fire insurance premium.

I have a statement here that the New York Telephone Company is the owner of premises known as 24 Walker Street and that they had installed a valve there which reduced their insurance $92.40 a year.

We believe this is a safety measure, and now I want to go into history once more. Two years ago this bill was passed, and it was one of those pieces of legislation of which we have passed entirely too many, where we set up a skeleton and let some two-by-four clerk put on the meat and skin, and that is what happened here. The Legislature passed a bill and somebody put on the outside matter and made it in such a way that it was hardly workable, and then the utilities, in the form of the gas companies began to find objections and the only real objection they could find at a court hearing of three days was that it would tend to have some of their customers stop using gas if they had to put this gadget on that cost from thirty-five to fifty-four dollars. You must understand it would require quite a large building to put on a two-and-one-half inch valve costing fifty-four dollars.

The constitutionality of the bill was argued for three days. The Court has not handed down a decision to this time. As I said last week, there is a fear the Court might find in favor of it and they propose to run this bill through to repeal it before the Court should decide.

I feel that we should lay this bill aside until the Court has had opportunity to act, and if the Court finds favorably, then put an amendment in the bill as we think best, but I do hold that this is a safety measure.

I just received a clipping from a Pittsburgh paper today where a house was blown up last Saturday in Pittsburgh—I believe that—it was published in last Saturday's paper—and a dozen people were injured; and again I am pleading for the safety of our firemen, who assume the responsibility of saving your property and your life, and most of them get nothing out of it but the personal satisfaction that they have rendered a service to humanity. For the sake of thirty-five or fifty dollars I think we ought to try to get at least that degree of safety for our firemen, and I feel that we ought to lay this bill aside until the Court has had time to act and render a decision, and then amend it so that it is workable.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Berks, Mr. Ruth, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. RUTH. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I should like to inquire whether the prices just quoted by the Senator from Berks are recent prices.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, they are contained in a letter dated March 29, 1939.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Senator from Berks know of anyone in the State who has purchased valves at those prices?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, they were not put in, there was an injunction; the court issued an injunction against them and that stopped it until the court had a chance to decide.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Senator from Berks know whether or not the gadget would be effective in case a fire broke out in an apartment.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, certainly it would be effective.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I should like to inquire just how it would be effective.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, as soon as the firemen arrive they could go to this valve and shut the gas off before entering the building. At the present time you have a shut-off valve that is buried in the pavement or under ground, and they have trouble in turning such a valve off; sometimes in winter these valves are covered with ice and snow, and in summer they are covered with dirt, and the firemen have to dig that out in order to shut off the gas. Under this plan it would be attached three to five feet above the ground, on the side of the building, and one man could go and turn off the gas. Then they could all enter the building with safety. That is the purpose of it.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have here prices quoted by four major companies, the Reliance Automatic Sprinkler Company of New York, the Ideal Valve Company of New York City, the Toro Company of New Jersey, and the Star Company of Brooklyn. The prices quoted, according to their literature, are as follows. The Toro Company quotes the one-and-one-quarter inch valve at a price of ninety-eight dollars; the two-inch valve at the price of one hundred fifteen dollars; the three-inch valve at one hundred thirty dollars; and the four-inch valve at a price of one hundred forty-five dollars. These have been the prices up until the bill was introduced into the House of Representatives. Now they have quoted new prices.

In the City of Johnstown I have talked to a number of firemen who told me that in case of fire they have access to a valve at the curb and can shut the valve off immediately; and in case a fire breaks out in some apartment, as the Senator from Berks said, unless the valve was shut off or turned off—it does not go off automatically—they must go through the same process in shutting the valve off as they would in shutting the valve off at the curb; so I can see no use in having the home owners, as my colleague from Blair said, spending that amount of money, and certainly I am going to vote for the passage of this bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I hope the Senate will vote down this motion to recommit this bill. It has been considered by the committee already and reported favorably to this Senate. I read, Mr. President, from the Pittsburgh Press of August 21, 1938, in reference to the statements made by Senator Ruth.

"Automatic gas shut-off valves previously have been required by ordinance in New York, Chicago and Kansas City. The Chicago and Kansas City ordinances have been repealed and the New York law was held unconstitutional."

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Blair whether the testimony presented in this injunction proceeding was before the Dauphin County Court and argument heard.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not know.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I have been so informed. It seems to me that if that is the case the Dauphin County Court will dispose of the matter one way or the other as to the constitutionality of this Act and any other Act that may be introduced for the same purpose. If this Act is repealed, why, the Act under consideration tonight will then become a moot question in the Dauphin County Court and no decision can be expected.

Now, I think there is a legal question involved as to the constitutionality of this kind of legislation, and we are entitled to the benefit of it. I stated, when this matter was discussed before, that the administration of this act had apparently left the door open for a price of this kind of appliance which was way beyond reason, and I have a large file—and I intended to bring it with me, but it was too substantial for that—which would substantiate that view, and I think we ought to stand against anything of this kind.

However, I think we will lose a very material advantage if we do not avail ourselves of the opinion that the court will be bound to give in this matter. If we are going to repeal this Act and make it a moot question, we will not have this matter finally disposed of, and it can crop up from time to time at every succeeding session of the Legislature. We cannot do very much harm in letting this ride until we get the opinion of the Dauphin County Court.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does the Senator from Cambria know whether or not any of these safety valves have been installed in the county of Cambria; and, if so, where?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not know whether any of those valves have been installed or not; they have been withholding installation awaiting decision by the Court.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, am I correct in assuming that the Senator from Cambria does not know of any place in his county where one of these safety valves has been installed up to this time?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, does the Senator from Blair know anywhere in the Commonwealth where one of these safety valves has been installed up until this present time.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in answer to the inquiry of the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, I would say that there was such a protest went up all over the entire State that the matter was immediately taken into court; and the Secretary of Labor and Industry, I believe, was enjoined from enforcing the act.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I also desire to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Does the Senator from Tioga know anywhere in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where one of these valves has been installed since the passage of the Act which this bill will repeal.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I do not.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President and gentlemen of the Senate, you can now see the subtle and fraudulent aspect of this bill we are called upon to pass at this moment. Nowhere in this Commonwealth have any of these safety valves been installed; so how can anyone on the floor of this Senate talk with any assurance or advise us with any assurance as to what the cost of installation might be?

As you must readily appreciate, up to this time—if you be reasonable men—the only argument in defense of this repealing bill is that the cost of installing these valves is so exorbitant and so high that it is prohibitive for property owners to install such a safety valve.

Now, you may see the purpose of my questioning. I think that that questioning should illustrate to reasonable men that an attempt is being made to put this piece of legislation through this General Assembly in a very subtle and fraudulent manner.

Now, this safety gadget—everybody familiar with the argument in favor and against it know—is a safety measure, is a safety gadget to protect the lives of not only the firemen who respond to these fires, but we have many incidents here in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania where fires have occurred and, because the gas was not shut off and could not be shut off, the pipes that were in the fire broke loose and made the fire more frightful and caused explosions.

Now, the fault here, with the administration of the bill that is on the statute books, should rest entirely upon the Department of Labor and Industry. If I understand the bill correctly and I wish to correct the impression created here by some of the arguments—this bill does not apply to private homes, but applies only to structures or buildings used for a public purpose or buildings that have a public characteristic to them—apartments, halls, theaters, and buildings and structures of that character; that it does not apply, it was not intended to apply, to private homes—a one-story home or a double-story home; and the fault has brought about this wave of protest—as stated by the Senator from Blair—has been due to the fact that a few clerks in the Department of Labor and Industry promulgated rules and regulations that extend the application of this Act to every little shack, to every little two and three story building or structure in this Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and I sincerely believe that we can correct the Act that is on the statute books without trying fraudulently or subtly repeal the Act of this flimsy argument that it is too expensive to install the safety gadget.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I desire again to interrogate the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated further?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, will the Senator from Blair state who instituted the proceedings in the Dauphin County Court that resulted in this injunction.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not know; I cannot answer that question.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, does the Senator from Blair know whether it was instituted by a property-owner or by the gas company?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I do not know, but in answer to that question I might state that I am not representing any gas company; but members of my family do happen to own six little double houses, such as the Senator referred to, and it would cost, I am told, $900 to equip those six double houses with this gas gadget.

With the difficulty people are having these days to pay taxes to operate the government it seems to me to be unnecessary and an undue hardship upon these people who are endeavoring to pay their taxes.

This bill does apply to any dwelling house consisting of more than a single dwelling; it applies to double houses or a duplex; it does not apply to cities of the first class or second class or second class A, and it seems to me there must have been something subtle when it was wished on to the remaining part of the State.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I understand from the fine discussion given this issue by Senator Ruth last week that a kindred bill has been in affect in the State of New York since 1921. Now, it must be a good issue, that is true. I hold in my hand, Mr. President, a pamphlet full of information given out by the Firemen's Association of Pennsylvania. I will not attempt to read everything that is in the treatise, but the last two or three paragraphs seem to be very pertinent to the discussion that is taking place here at the present time;

"Surely protection to life and property rises above the possible (for it is no more than that) loss of a few dollars which the gas companies may lose. Do you want to be charged with responsibility for injury or death to firemen and occupants of buildings equipped with gas?"

For myself, Mr. President, I will answer that and say "No"; I believe that the preservation of human life comes first at all times.

I continue to read:

"Do you want to bear the responsibility for unnecessary property damage resulting from a fire fed by escaping gas?"

I will answer that, myself, and again say "No," because that is the second right under our law—property rights.

Now, Mr. President, if these firemen who have made an exhaustive study of this question are convinced that these gadgets are necessary, first, for the protection of life; and, second, for the protection of property, then, if it does cost a few dollars, I am for the same things that they are for; preservation, first, of human life and, second, preservation of property. I intend to vote against the repeal of this measure.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I would like to clarify some of the remarks made on this bill. I would like to answer the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, who said this bill does not apply to any private homes or dwellings. The Department of Labor and Industry issued a statement setting forth the following buildings the gadget applied to, provided they use gas, namely, factories, power plants, mercantile buildings, hotels, office buildings, hospitals, asylums, public and private institutions, schools and colleges, dormitories, warehouses, garages, theatres, moving picture theatres, public halls, dance halls, banquet halls, lodge halls, churches, skating rinks, armory halls, or any other auditorium, tenement houses, apartment houses, apartment hotels, lodging houses, and rooming houses.

Mr. President, under this act if you have a maid working in your home or a boarder that is termed as an apartment house—I would like to read into the record an article that appeared in the Johnstown Democrat of August 24th, stating:

MANY AFFECTED HERE

At approximately $100 each, Johnstown's bill for "gas gadgets" between now and December 5 will be an enormous one, if the State goes through with its intention of enforcing the law. Practically all downtown buildings come within the category of structures listed in the act. If the "single-family dwellings" feature is interpreted by law to cover only single houses, the number of double houses in residential areas will further swell Johnstown's "gas gadget" bill.

One way to circumvent the "gadget" law would be to go back to kerosene lamps and tallow candles. Another would be to make a one-family dwelling out of a double house. Still another would be to remove the "rooming house" classification by having the daughter of the house marry the boarder.

Or the owner of a double house could keep his structure intact, keep the gas service and keep the daughter unmarried. However, in this case it would be necessary to move the house to Philadelphia, Pittsburgh or Scranton, where the law does not apply.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, on Saturday a member of the school board of the city of New Castle talked to me about this bill. They are not satisfied with the present act. Neither am I. I think that they have made a racket of it; but he reliably informed me that in their opinion the school buildings of New Castle should be equipped with safety equipment; but that they found they could equip them with apparatus that would serve the purpose just as well for approximately fifteen dollars a school, while under this Act, as interpreted by the Department of Labor, it would cost them ninety dollars a school. For that reason I would like to see this bill recommitted to the Committee on Labor so that the bill could protect the lives of the people of the State and would not be nearly as broad as the interpretation now being given the Act; but I am fearful that if this bill is passed we will never get the safety measure.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, is the Senator from Blair satisfied that the Act of Assembly that is on the books now—statute books—does not define what buildings shall be equipped with the safety gadgets?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, my understanding is that all buildings other than single dwellings shall be so equipped.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, is it not true in the Senator from Blair's opinion that the thing that has brought about this protest is the construction placed upon the Act by the Department of Labor and Industry and also the rules promulgated by the Department of Labor and Industry.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I think there was something very subtle in the introduction of this act—if it is a safety measure and a good bill it ought to have been made to apply to every house served by gas and also apply especially to cities of the first class, second class, and second class A. If it is a good proposition why do we want to keep it out of Philadelphia; why do we want to keep it out of Pittsburgh; and why do we want to keep it out of Scranton that is the subtleness in his bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to understand the Senator from Blair well. As I understand it the Senator from Blair would have no objection if this Act was State-wide and applied to all buildings and to all municipalities?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am not in favor of the enactment of any law that is going to permit certain manufacturers of New York State to make a racket out of this Act and impose on the householders or home owners of Pennsylvania.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Then the Senator from Blair, as I understand it, Mr. President, is opposed to any safety gadget of any kind?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I am opposed to any kind of a racket.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, how about a safety gadget that would eliminate the racket?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I never in my life heard of any fireman—and I am just as much interested in the firemen as any Senator in this hall—and I have never known of any explosion in Altoona or any fireman injured by exploding gas, because, as soon as there is a fire, the gas is turned off by the gas company—they shut off the gas without any cost to anyone.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, are we just in assuming that the Senator from Blair is opposed to any safety gadget of this character?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, any kind of a gadget?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to correct the Senator from Blair in one inference that he has left here. He seems to think it is subtle because the Legislature has excluded from the Act first class, second class, and second class A cities. For the information the Senator from Blair, I wish to state that under the laws of this Commonwealth cities of those classes have their own safety department and City Councils have the power, by ordinance, to provide for those safety gadgets; and it is because of that that they were excluded from the Act.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, cities of the third class have the same power.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I just want to clear up some points in answer to the questions of the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed.

It was not a property owner but was the Harrisburg Gas Company that instituted the suit in the Dauphin County Court. There was no complaint from the property owners. It was from the gas company that the complaint came from. The Act as passed in 1937 does not specify any building. It says in accordance with regulation arranged by the Department of Labor and Industry; and that is what I complained about in the first place, and will always complain, that we pass too much skeleton legislation, delegating too much of our authority to other people.

Then again, I want to say just this: gas explosions, as any other accident or catastrophe, do not mean much to us unless they hit home. I am quite sure if we would have lived near or within the school district of New London, Texas, where they buried four hundred and seventy school children and teachers from just one gas explosion, perhaps we would think a little differently. That was out in Texas and we are in Pennsylvania, and that happened too far away to affect us. The same thing is true of highway accidents. We read about them every day. We read every day of death and maiming on the highway and do not pay much attention unless it is one of our family, a neighbor or a close friend; and then we hold up our hands in horror. I do not believe we have to parade all the explosions that happened in the world. We can use our imaginations to some extent.

I am not pleading to defeat this bill; I am only asking to amend it so that it will give us the safety measure.

I am as much against rackets as any man in Pennsylvania. I do not approve of any racket. I would be willing to do anything to abolish the racket feature of this bill, but I do not want to see the safety end of it destroyed just because the gas companies are afraid they will lose a half dozen customers—and that is what is back of the whole thing.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, I understand one of the basis of the attack on this bill is that it is unconstitutional because of improper classification; that is, classification of cities cannot be used to apply to this kind of a safety measure; also that an injunction has been granted.

Now, immediate action on this bill, in view of the fact that its enforcement is enjoined is not going to affect the act one way or another.

In view of the legislation that is becoming more and more frequent involving the question of how far the legislature can use the doctrine of classification in relation to acts of safety, welfare and so forth, I believe that it is almost the duty, or it is actually the duty of this legislature, to get that question judicially settled. Now, we are not going to gain anything by putting this amendment through immediately, because the act is enjoined. It seems to me that the request of the Senator from Berks is reasonable: the act could be called up before adjournment if the court has not acted and the majority still have the same opportunity to pass this amendment as they have tonight; and in the meantime nobody is going to be compelled to pay anything for these appliances.

It seems to me that is a very distinct advantage that we can get and we ought to take advantage of it.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask the Chair to state the question now before the Senate.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The question is whether the Senate will agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. No, Mr. President, the question is on the motion to recommit.

The PRESIDENT. There was no second to that motion.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President, I seconded the motion as loud as I thought was necessary.

The PRESIDENT. The question then is on the motion to recommit.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cavalcante.

YEAS—17

Cavalcante,	Frey,	Kilgallen,	Reed,
Coleman,	Geltz,	Lanius,	Rice,
Crowe,	Gilson,	McGinnis,	Ruth,
DiSilvestro,	Jacobs,	Mundy,	Sipe,

Edmonds,	Letzler,	Snowden,	Woodward,
Farrell,	Mallery,

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—34

Chapman,	Gelder,	Letzler,	Sipe,
Coleman,	Geltz,	Mallery,	Snowden,

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk return said bill to the House of Representatives with information that the Senate has passed the same without amendments.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 174, on third reading, entitled:

An Act to amend article twenty-three of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganizing of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executives and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards, and commissions shall be determined," by imposing upon the Department of Welfare, the duty to investigate the subject of crime prevention and to stimulate, develop and co-ordinate crime prevention activities in this Commonwealth.

be recommitted to the Committee on State Government for the purpose of further study and consideration.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 288, (House Bill No. 474), on third reading entitled:

An Act to further amend section three of the act, approved the twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 452), entitled "An act to promote the welfare of the people of the Commonwealth; creating a General State Authority as a body corporate and politic with power to construct, improve, and operate projects, and to lease the same, and to fix and collect fees, rentals, and charges for the use thereof; authorizing and regulating the issuance of bonds by said Authority, and providing for the payment of such bonds, and the rights of the holders thereof; and to enter into agreements with the Government of the United States or any Federal agency; and authorizing the Department of Property and Supplies to grant, assign, convey, or lease to the Authority lands of the Commonwealth and interests therein, and to acquire lands therefor; granting the right of eminent domain; and providing that no debt of the Commonwealth shall be incurred in the exercise of any of the powers granted by this act," fixing the terms for the appointed members of the General State Authority, and terminating the terms of present members.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 11, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section eighteen

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof

That article eight be amended by adding thereto the following section

Section 18 The Legislature may by general law provide a manner in which and the time and place at which qualified voters who may on the occurrence of any election be unavoidably absent from the State or county of their residence because their duties occupation or business require them to be elsewhere within the United States or who on the occurrence of any election are unable to attend at their proper polling places because of illness or physical disability may vote and for the return and canvass of their votes in the election district in which they respectively reside

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, as follows:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

Section 1 Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met That the following amendment to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania be and the same is hereby proposed in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof

That article four section twenty-one of the Constitution of Pennsylvania is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 21 The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs the Auditor General the Attorney General and the State Treasurer shall each be four years and they shall be chosen by qualified electors of the State at general elections [but a State Treasurer elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine shall serve for three years and his successor shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve and in every fourth year thereafter] The Attorney General shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and forty-two and every fourth year thereafter No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. RICE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 111, (House Bill No. 92) on second reading, entitled:

An Act to prohibit assessments and demands for contributions for political purposes and providing a penalty

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 112 (House Bill No. 142), entitled:

An Act to further amend section five of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws 90) entitled "An act to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of properties and persons within the territorial limits of cities of the second class A providing that city and school taxes within such territorial limits shall be assessed levied and collected upon the basis of the assessment for taxation for county purposes and requiring the furnishing of tax duplicates by the county taxing authorities to such cities and to school districts coterminous therewith abolishing the department of assessors in cities of the second class A consolidating tax statements covering city school county and poor taxes therein and making uniform the time for levy and collection of said taxes respectively and regulating the discounts therefrom and penalties thereon" by changing the date of certain tax payments and further regulating the penalties and interest imposed on unpaid taxes

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 168, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph six of section two, and paragraph four of section five of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 551), entitled "An act prohibiting the employment of miners, as herein defined, in the bituminous coal mines, unless certificated by a miners' examining board; providing for the appointment of such boards, and defining their powers and duties; providing penalties; and making an appropriation," by providing for the suspension of examinations and certifications by the Secretary of Mines and for the issuance of new certificates to replace lost certificates.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I want to call attention of the sponsor of this bill to the fact that, although I am in favor of the idea that the sponsor has and is trying to put into this bill, I disagree that the amendment will bring about the desired results. Previous sections of the act of the assembly, as amended, provide for the appointment of examining boards and the members of them and the number of members that each board shall contain. This amendment merely provides, when in the opinion of the Secretary of Mines a sufficient number of miners have been certificated to amply supply the demand of the bituminous mines of this Commonwealth, he shall suspend entirely the activities of the Miner's Examining Board.

That, Mr. President, delegates to the Secretary of Mines the legislative power to abolish a number of boards that have been created by Act of Assembly.

The act also gives the Secretary of Mines a discretionary option as to what number of miners are amply sufficient to conduct the bituminous mining industry of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. That power surely is not a ministerial power but is a legislative power and how can we confer upon the Secretary of Mines that power? This amendment also confers upon the Secretary of Mines the power to make rules and regulations which will supplant the statutory qualifications for the certification of miners.

That, too, is exclusively a legislative power, and I would like to see this Senate come to the conclusion, sooner or later, not to confer all these powers on these departments and State Bureaus—powers that ought to belong to the legislative body. If the sponsor of this bill understands just what I have in mind here—and I assure him that I have no desire to kill the bill or to defeat it—I wish that he would agree to allow it to go back to committee for study and further discussion on the points that I have raised, and to determine whether we can amend the Miners' Certificate Bill in such a way that it will not confer all these legislative powers upon the Secretary of Mines.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, would the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, agree to allow the bill to go over in its order?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate bill No. 168, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objections? The Chair hears none.

go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, state his question of personal privilege?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to call the attention of the Senators to an announcement by Senator Snowden, Chairman of the Highway Committee, that at one o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Senate Caucus room, there will be a demonstration of the relative qualities of safety glass. Some of my constituents will be here tomorrow to demonstrate the various types of glass, and I wish all the Senators would try to be there at that time to witness that demonstration.

RECESS

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now take a recess for ten minutes.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

AFTER RECESS

The PRESIDENT. The time of recess having elapsed the Senate will be in order.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. JAMES. Mr. President I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. JAMES from the Committee on Judiciary General reported as committed, Senate Bill No. 290, (House Bill No. 344), entitled:

An Act to amend section seventy-seven of the act, approved the thirty-first day of March, one thousand eight hundred and sixty (P. L. 427), entitled "An act to consolidate, revise and amend the laws of this Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings," by permitting indictments against public officers and employees and their accomplices and confederates to be brought, or exhibited, within two years after such officer or employee shall have ceased to occupy such office or employment.

MOTION TO READ BILL THE FIRST TIME

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now proceed to the first reading of all bills reported from committees for the first time at today's session.

Mr. FREY. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON FIRST READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the first reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 290, (House Bill No. 344), entitled:

An Act to amend section seventy-seven of the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (P. L. 427) entitled "An act to consolidate revise and amend the laws of this Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" by permitting indictments against public officers and employees and their accomplices and confederates to be brought or exhibited within two years after such officer or employee shall have ceased to occupy such office or employment.

And said bill having been read at length the first time.
Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President. I would like to rise to a question of personal privilege?

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I would like to ask whether Senate Resolution, Serial No. 25, found on page 101 of the History of Resolutions in the Senate, has been considered by the committee as yet.

Mr. TALLMAN. May I inquire what the resolution concerns?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. The resolution, Mr. President, is relative to recalling the confirmation of William J. Hamilton, Jr., as Secretary of Revenue.

Mr. TALLMAN. Mr. President, that resolution was just received by me this evening and the committee has not yet met.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 403, introduced by Senator Dent, this evening, entitled:

An Act to reenact and amend the act, approved the second day of June, one thousand nine hundred fifteen (P. L. 736), entitled, as amended, "An act defining the liability of an employer to pay damages for injuries received by an employe in the course of employment; establishing an elective schedule of compensation; providing procedure for the determination of liability and compensation thereunder, and prescribing penalties," by eliminating from said act unconstitutional provisions.

be recommitted to the Committee on Labor and Industry.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, for what purpose?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, because the Committee on Labor and Industry had previously considered the legislation, and I, as a former Chairman of the Committee on Labor and Industry, am better prepared to discuss the bill in committee.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I wish to read into the record the following resolution of the Butler Chamber of Commerce on the opening of the Western Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Sanatorium in Butler.

RESOLUTION ON THE OPENING OF THE WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA SANATORIUM AT BUTLER, PENNSYLVANIA.

Butler, Pennsylvania, March 27, 1939.

At a special meeting of the Butler Chamber of Commerce, March 27, 1939, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, Pennsylvania is in need today of approximately 3,800 additional hospital beds for tuberculosis sufferers in order to reach the standard of two beds per death, and

Whereas, The new Sanatorium in Butler County was planned for 550 beds, and new accommodations at Mont Alto and Hamburg are to provide 738 additional sanatorium beds, or a total of 1,288 beds, which represents only one-third of the 3,800 additional beds Pennsylvania needs, and

Whereas, There are approximately 44,000 cases of tuberculosis in Pennsylvania at the present time, and at a conservative estimate, at least 12,000 of these are in need of hospital treatment, and

Whereas, There is a true need for provision for additional hospital beds for tuberculosis victims, and

Whereas, The Western Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Butler, costing taxpayers of this Commonwealth in excess of $2,500,000, is now nearing completion, and

Whereas, The Governor recently recommended to the Legislature in his budget message that the Sanatorium be not opened for two years,

Therefore, Be It Hereby Resolved, That this organization respectfully petition Governor Arthur H. James and his Secretary of Health to reconsider the needs of the state's tuberculosis victims and that a sufficient amount be included in the budget for the opening and operation of the Western Pennsylvania Sanatorium, the only institution of its kinds in this section of the Commonwealth.

And Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent the Governor, the Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to members of the State Legislature from the Butler District and to State and County Tuberculosis Associations of Pennsylvania.

ARTHUR O. BLACK,
President
GEO. N. BURCKHALTER,
Secretary

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I have here another resolution from my other county—I have two counties in my district. I do not wish to neglect one county, so I shall read into the record copy of a letter sent to the Governor from the Ford City Local No. 14 of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America, a local that has two thousand members.

March 22, 1939.

Honorable Arthur H. James
Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Governor James:

At the last regular meeting of the Ford City Local No. 14, Federation of Flat Glass Workers of America, held on March 14th, this Local numbering 2000 members, has studied your budget message submitted to our Senators and Legislators of our Commonwealth, and after analyzing its contents very carefully, the Local went on record protesting against the false economy that will keep the Butler Tuberculosis Sanatorium closed for the next two years.

We as part of this Commonwealth urge you to take judicial notice of the fact that the present tuberculosis sanatoria are crowded and have long waiting lists. We feel that it is the only State tuberculosis sanatorium in this part of Pennsylvania west of the Allegheny Mountains, a region in which there is a vast number of citizens being deprived of the use of this institution in helping tuberculosis sufferers.

We cannot make this protest too strong and we do hope and anticipate that you reconsider this part of the proposed budget which we think is not a democratic form of government within our Commonwealth in depriving tuberculosis suffering citizens needing this institution for the proper medical attention.

Yours faithfully,

Ford City Local No. 14.
HARRY HAPONSKY, Secretary

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced informed the Senate that the House has concurred in Resolution from the Senate as follows:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur) That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, 1939 at nine o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, 1939, at eight o'clock.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Tuesday, April 4, 1939 at 2:00 o'clock, p. m.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.
The motion was agreed to.

The Senate adjourned at 11:59 o'clock, p. m. until Tuesday, April 4, 1939, at 2:00 o'clock, p. m.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

MONDAY, April 3, 1939

The House met at 8 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to advise the House that prayer this evening will be offered by the Reverend Thomas George Baxter of Wyalusing, Bradford County.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter offered the following prayer:

Heavenly Father, unto whom all hearts are open and all ambitions known, touch our hearts that we may be deeply sensible of Thy presence and conscious of our responsibilities to both God and man.

Touch, especially, the heart of Thy servant as he assumes this solemnly sacred office—the Chaplaincy of this House.

O Lord, Thou hast helped us hitherto, so regard us now that our minds may be awake to Thy holy desires and our wills fraught with purpose good and true.

Inspire each of us with the conviction that our work is essential and our task is altogether sacred. Thy hand, O Lord, hath guided and shaped our Republic in the past; continue Thou as the Helmsman in the Pilot's cabin of the Ship of State; and so endow us with patriotic zeal, that we will be glad to lay the best gifts we have upon the altar of our country.

O Lord, we pray Thee especially at this season of the year and at this festive day to look down with mercy upon Thy persecuted people. Bring them as Thou didst of old across the depths of the Red Sea into the Promised Land by Thy love and Thy forbearance. Deliver them from the hand that would slaughter them and deprive them of their God-given right to an existence in this fair world of ours.

We pray thee, our heavenly Father, to grant us the liberties, the opportunities, and the blessings of democratic government, bequeathed to us by our God-fearing forefathers, safely guarded by the best and sanest service on our part so that the genius of free government may continue to bless all our people. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of Wednesday, March 29, 1939.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of Wednesday, March 29, 1939, when, on motion of Mr. CORDIER the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

By Mr. FISS. RESOLUTION No. 60.

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1939.

Whereas, the fourth class school districts of the Commonwealth are in great need of financial aid; and

Whereas, questionnaires have lately been sent out by State Camps of the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America to the teachers in fourth class school districts of Pennsylvania, to which questionnaires, more than 20,000 replies have been received; and

Whereas, these replies indicate that 96% of the teachers in fourth class school districts work for very low wages, 15% for from $700.00 to $800.00 per year, and 75% for from $800.00 to $1,000.00 per year; and

Whereas, such compensation is totally insufficient to enable them to support themselves and their families and to keep up with the educational standards required in their profession; and

Whereas, the fourth class school districts of the Commonwealth are unable to provide proper equipment, many buildings are badly in need of repairs and new buildings are necessary; and

Whereas, the tax abatement laws and failures of large corporations in these districts have contributed to the financial condition thereof; therefore be it

Resolved, that the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania believes and feels that the Commonwealth should give additional financial aid to these financially handicapped school districts of the fourth class in order that better equipment and buildings would be provided for the students, and that the teachers employed therein may be better able to support their families and keep up with the educational standards required in their profession.

By Mr. TRONZO. Concurrent RESOLUTION No. 61.

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1939.

Whereas, state, county and municipal employes are excluded from the benefits of existing federal social security and labor legislation, and,

Whereas, these employes need the benefits of such legislation and have frequently expressed the desire to secure such benefits.

Therefore, be it resolved that the Pennsylvania Legislature hereby requests the Congress of the United States to take the necessary steps to include state, county and municipal employes under the Social Security Act and other social and labor legislation.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

By Mr. CHECK. RESOLUTION No. 62.

In the House of Representatives, March 29, 1939.

Whereas, The Public Assistance Law governing the operations of the Department of Public Assistance of the Commonwealth requires needy aged persons to sign their property over to the Commonwealth before they can receive old age assistance; and

Whereas, Such a law is unjust, harmful and oppressive to the needy aged people of this Commonwealth by depriving them of their homes and other personal belongings for which they have worked all their lives; and

Whereas, Senate Bill No. 47, introduced by Senators Haluska and Dent would stop this unjust practice and prevent the Commonwealth from taking the home, personal furnishings and other personal property not exceeding $300.00 from the needy aged people receiving old age assistance, or from their estate; therefore be it

Resolved, That we the Members of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereby endorse and recommend the passage of Senate Bill No. 47, and pledge ourselves to work for the passage of the same for the benefit of the needy aged people of the State.

BILL INTRODUCED

Mr. McKINNEY asked and obtained unanimous consent to introduce a bill bearing three sponsors.

The bill was filed with the Clerk.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to call to the attention of the members of the House the graphic summary of the survey of space occupied by all governmental departments in Harrisburg as of January 1, 1939, copies of which were placed in the post office boxes of the members this afternoon.

The chair believes that this summary will prove of great interest to the members, and will be instructive in advising them as to the problems confronting the State in reference to office space for the Legislature.

LEGISLATIVE CORRESPONDENTS DINNER

The Clerk read the following announcement of the Legislative Correspondents Dinner.

SUBPOENA, YUKES TAKE'EM

Pennsylvania Legislative Correspondents Assn., SS-Boo Hoo, Pfui, Hi, Ho, Silver and a Hey Nonny Na.

Biennial Dinner of 1939:

To All Legislators, Politicians, Democrats, Lobbyists, Accusers, Accused, Lame Ducks, Candidates for Presidents, Candidates for Governor, Administration Advisors, Job-Holdovers, and Job-Hunters, Greetings:

We command you, and each of you, that you, and all of you, everyone of you, together and separately, be and appear in your proper or improper person before the Grand Inquest of 1939, self-appointed to hear, decide and kid all matters in variance between the parties, Republican and Democratic, wherein the Legislative Correspondents are plaintive plaintiffs and All Others are denying defendants; at the Penn-Harris Hotel, in Harrisburg, on the Twenty-sixth Day of April, A. D. 1939, at 6:30 o'clock P. M., then and there to give evidence of your ability to take it.

Heherof fail not, under penalty which may ensue.

(Witness and deposit $5) (for each ticket) in the hand of any legislative correspondent the third day of April, A. D. 1939, or any day thereafter until the twenty-sixth of April, A. D. 1939, and omit not to bring this singular ticket with you, under penalty of not eating, drinking or laughing.

The SPEAKER. The announcement in substance means that the Legislative Correspondents have their annual dinner on April 26, and they desire to extract from the members of the House and any others the sum of $5 per ticket. The Chair would say to the members of the House that they perhaps can quote the lines of Bobbie Burns,

"O would some power the giftie gie us,
Ta see ourselves as ithers see us."

This will be your opportunity.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 856, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency and emergency appropriation to aid certain school districts

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The sum of one million dollars ($1,000,000) is hereby appropriated to the Department of Public Instruction for the purpose of aiding financially handicapped and distressed school districts in such sums and in such manner as the Superintendent of Public Instruction shall determine and for defraying the necessary cost for the administration thereof for the payment of deficiencies for the two fiscal years ending May thirty-first one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine and for further payments during the succeeding fiscal biennium until the thirtieth day of June one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, line 1, by striking out the following: "one million dollars ($1,000,000)" and insert in lieu thereof "two million five hundred thousand dollars ($2,500,000)"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schrope.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHROPE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I should like to ask the gentleman from Schuylkill whether he can inform me where we can obtain two and one-half million dollars in the present biennium to pay to distressed school districts?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker last week we were over to the budget secretary and he informed us that there was no money to be had. However, he misinformed us evidently, because this one million dollar bill comes out, and I feel if he misinformed us relative to the one million dollars, it is just as easy to get two and one-half million dollars.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I believe all the members of this House hope that the thought expressed by Mr. Schrope, that two and one-half million dollars can be as easily obtained as one million, might be true. As a matter of fact, under the present condition of the fiscal affairs of this biennium, it is absolutely impossible to find two and one-half million dollars for distressed school districts.

I am sure all the members of this House appreciate the needs of many of the school districts, particularly the school districts in the county from which the gentlemen who introduced the amendment comes, but we are faced with the practical problem of obtaining the money. As far as the administration can find there is no money available to appropriate two and one-half million dollars, or anything in excess of one million dollars. It was only after considerable difficulty that it was found possible to find even this amount. I am sure that all the members of this House are willing to do everything possible for these needy school districts. It was for that reason that the effort was made to appropriate one million dollars. Because the money is not available I feel that the amendment increasing the amount from one million to two and one-half million dollars at this time may jeopardize the entire bill. I think it should be voted down, and I ask the members of this House to do so.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, ever since I have been a member of this House, during the Pinchot and the Earle Administrations, also during this administration, it took us exactly sixty days to appropriate relief money anywhere from twenty million to fifty million dollars. We were called on numerous occasions into special session, and in the course of time from Monday until Saturday we appropriated twenty million or twenty-five million dollars for relief, levying taxes if necessary. I want to state to the members of this House that I can truthfully stand here without apology and ask for more money for the school teachers, because I am one member who did not run on a lower tax program. I voted for all the Earle taxes in that administration, and I voted for the same taxes last week. I am willing and satisfied to again vote for additional taxes.

In response to the gentleman from Dauphin, there are enough tax measures in the Ways and Means Committee now to pay the salaries that are due to the school teachers.

What we ought to have done is to levy taxes and issue anticipation notes. In addition to that, if I am not mistaken, I fully believe that the Department of Forest and Waters has close to three million dollars that would be available, if we would just take the opportunity to transfer it. You know that we transferred thirty-four million or was it thirty-six million dollars in a great hurry in this administration. I feel that the gentleman from Dauphin and the members of the House know the condition of the school teachers in Schuylkill County. I am not only speaking for the teachers of Schuylkill County, but likewise for the teachers of other counties who are in the same category. There are teachers who have not been paid for four or five months. I need not go into that further because my colleague, Mr. Wagner, gave you a very vivid picture. One million dollars will not even begin to pay their salaries up to date, and if this administration is sincere and honest with the teachers of this state they will not consider an appropriation of one million dollars or even two and one-half million dollars. I think I was conservative when I amended this bill adding a million and a half dollars to it, and I ask the members to vote for this amendment.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I want to call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that there is not now available to be appropriated three million dollars from the flood control fund, because that money has already been set aside among those items which have been saved and lapsed to be appropriated again. That money is not now available to be used for this extra million and a half dollars covered by this amendment.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin advise me whether or not it would be illegal to transfer those funds even though they are set aside.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it would not be illegal to transfer those funds if there were money available, but there is not sufficient money available to carry out the relief which has been appropriated, and which bills are already on the way through the Legislature, and still leave any money in the flood control fund. In other words, that is one of the items which is set up in the budget among the six million one hundred and fifty thousand dollars listed on page five of the budget message, item three, referred to as "Additional reductions in appropriations by stopping expenditures wherever possible."

May I call the gentleman's attention to the fact too that the three million dollars about which he speaks are the same three million dollars about which members of his party have been speaking in connection with flood control.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in substantiation of the position taken by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schroepe, I wish to call the attention of the House to the fact that as a matter of fact the appropriation Mr. Woodside has mentioned has not at the present time been lapsed. In other words, it is still in the Department of Forests and Waters and all that is essentially necessary at the present time to secure that money is the passage of House Bill No. 6 which will send the money back into the General Fund and the money will then be available for the purpose that the gentleman from Schuylkill desires. May I also call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that there are other funds available that can in this emergency be had. We still have the Highways fund and you without any hesitancy tapped that fund for another form of relief. This is but one type of relief that we are faced with in this Commonwealth, and it could be very handily tapped for the necessary two and a half millions. As the gentleman from Schuylkill said, since they have found a million dollars that fund could be tapped for another million and a half in order to take care of the distressed school teachers in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I very frankly say, Mr. Speaker, that the excuse offered by the majority leader of this House strikes me as falling far short of the answer that the people of Pennsylvania have the right to expect from the majority leadership of this House. We should very willingly and very freely face the problem that is before us. We without hesitancy told the school districts of Pennsylvania what the requirements of their teachers should be, we fixed the terms they shall serve, we also fixed the qualifications for the teachers, we even fixed their salaries, and if we have raised the price to such a point that the districts in this state are unable to meet that salary, then we should honestly and sincerely face the problem and appropriate the necessary money to meet the expenses of these teachers.

I cannot help but in fairness to the school teachers and to the distressed school districts urge upon the membership of this House to support the amendment offered by the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schroepe.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there are already bills in the House providing for appropriations out of the Motor License Fund for relief, every cent of that fund that is available. There has already been lapsed by administration orders six million one hundred and fifty thousand dollars; there has already been saved in budget appropriations one million seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars, which takes into consideration the money in the Department of Forests and Waters, about which the gentleman has spoken. There has been already saved and lapsed every possible cent that can be found in order to meet the relief needs of this Commonwealth, and there are not now available sufficient funds to appropriate two and one-half million dollars more for the school system.

Furthermore, Mr. Speaker, the members on this side have scraped through all of the budget, scraped through all of the funds in every possible way in order to find this money, and it may very possibly be, and it is very likely that we will have to go out and borrow one million dollars in order to pay the teachers that sum. As the members of this House well know, it is impossible for this Commonwealth to borrow more than one million dollars. Every effort has been made to help the school districts at this important time when they are financially distressed, but we feel that we have done everything that it is possible to do. If the previous administration had left us a balanced budget, if they had left us a cash balance we could easily have found a million or two and one-half million dollars to meet this need, but the cupboard was left bare when this administration came in and the appropriations are not sufficient to take care of the state government during the balance of the biennium, including the appropriation to the distressed school districts. The Republican party has scraped through the budget and has tried to find a million dollars, which is the absolute maximum that can be found to be appropriated to distressed school districts at this time. If the extra two and one-half million dollar appropriation is passed, it may interfere with the entire program so that the bill of necessity will have to fall. For that reason I think this amendment should be voted down and the appropriation of one million dollars made.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I feel I should call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that House Bill No. 6, which the gentleman from Monroe advocated passing, is the bill to lapse from the Department of Forests and Waters money which had been appropriated for flood control.

You have listened to a great many speeches made by Democratic members, and some by myself, with regard to the necessity of flood control. If there is any proposition, Mr. Speaker, which is superior to the education of our people it certainly is the safety of their lives, and the lapsing of all appropriations for flood control under the Commonwealth's jurisdiction in order to keep schools open would be foolishness. However, Mr. Speaker, it is important that these teachers and any other unpaid employees of the Commonwealth be paid. I made a speech here the other day calling the attention of the House to the break down in our public school system, and in order that the situation may not arise where some member might say that I offered criticism but suggested no remedy, I am introducing tonight, Mr. Speaker, an amusement tax for the purpose of providing the state with funds to be used for the aid of the distressed school districts, if and when the Board of Education is satisfied that those districts have exhausted their own resources, but under no circumstances, members of the House, should we vote to lapse flood control money in order to pay school teachers, who have either been hired when they should not have been, or have been retained when they should not have been, because flood control is even more important.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker I desire to interrogate the majority floor leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin inform the House as to the amount of the monthly departmental payroll?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if the gentleman knows the figures I shall be glad to take his word for it. I would have to hunt for it in the budget in order to give it exactly.

Mr. ANDREWS. I would prefer to have the figures from the fountain-head of all financial wisdom in this House.

The SPEAKER. The Chair would advise the gentleman from Cambria that it is impossible for him to answer that interrogation.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if the Chair were in a similar position, the Chair would answer it.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the total amount of the biennial appropriation out of the General Fund recommended by the Governor for the two years, 1939-41, is $26,376,080 which divided by 24 would make slightly over one million dollars. Of course there are a thousand ways to figure out what the departmental expenses for salaries might be, but I think that figure is as nearly correct as I am able to give it.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, if the school teachers are to go without their salaries for one, two, three, or four months, what is wrong with the notion of requiring the departmental payroll to sacrifice a part of its salary temporarily in order that the teachers might be paid?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there are several answers to that. In the first place, the departmental payroll has already been reduced a very substantial sum, while in most of these school districts there has been no reduction and there can be no reduction under the law which has been passed. They will eventually get their money. It is only a matter of delaying the time when they will get it or until the districts in which they are employed collect their taxes.

In the second place, I might say if you cut the departmental payroll our budget will expire on the thirty-first and there will be no way of getting the money back to pay the employees unless it comes out of another biennium.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I am not urging any reduction in the departmental payroll. I am simply urging the view that it is not necessary under the circumstances to pay all of the departmental payroll in full so long as it is impossible to pay the teachers in some counties at all. I do not think that the Governor would suffer if he did not get all of his salary; I do not think that the heads of the various departments would suffer if they did not get all their salaries; I even think that this Legislature which is so much interested in the distressed school teachers could temporarily loan the state the last installment of the Legislators' salaries. There is a lot of money—

I hope, Mr. Speaker, that the "guffaws" are not indicative of the interest that the Legislature has in this teachers' problem concerning which they have been shedding so many tears. I am not speaking facetiously, I am pointing out the desperate plight of servants of this state who have not been paid for months, and I do seriously suggest to the majority leader that he work out some scheme, some plan, whereby at least another million dollars can be salvaged out of the general payroll and made available for the teachers.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman should remember, in the first place that cannot be legislated on account of the decision under the first Talbot Act; it would have to be voluntary on the part of all of the employees. In the second place may I call to the gentleman's attention that although it would be a beautiful gesture, as a matter of fact, if the departmental payroll were pared one million dollars per month in the two months remaining, we would have to make a very substantial cut in order to be of any help to the school districts. May I further point out that the school teachers are paid largely out of funds raised in their own districts not out of state funds. It is not the fault of the state government that there are no funds available, and it is certainly not the fault of the majority, for it must be remembered that the funds that are to be spent in the biennium of 1937-1939 are funds which are appropriated by the 1937 session, not the 1939 session.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Dauphin persists in either misrepresenting or misunderstanding my point of view. I am not urging a reduction in the salaries due the people on the payroll, but I do say, Mr. Speaker, that if the state were strapped and could not borrow any money, if there was no money in the General Fund it could not pay the departmental payroll, and that payroll would have to wait until funds were available. I do say that it is within the power of this Legislature to defer payments temporarily on any part of the State payroll. If we don't have the money, we can't pay them—if we can't borrow.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I wish just briefly to answer the statement made by the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Kane.

I call to the attention of the members of the House the fact that Act No. 49-A, passed in 1937, appropriating money to the Department of Forests and Waters was appropriated for a specific purpose, to wit, the purchase of land that was to be condemned and upon which land were to be erected dams for flood control. It so happened that after the passage of the bill the Federal government agreed that they would pay for the cost of the condemnation of this land and as a result it no longer became necessary for the Department of Forests and Waters to expend that money. In other words, the Federal government was spending the money for which that particular appropriation was made. It is not detracting or taking away from flood control one cent so far as the people of this Commonwealth are concerned. That money is there now, it is available, it is not being used. May I point out particularly to the gentleman from McKean, since he apparently feels that we are destroying flood control, that the majority party without hesitancy is proceeding to use that money at the end of this biennium, and not for flood control. I say, Mr. Speaker, that we should use that money now to pay the three million dollars or more owing to the teachers of Pennsylvania.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Cambria.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Cambria permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. ANDREWS. I will, Mr. Speaker, if he does not ask me anything about figures.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Cambria if his county or his town has a distressed school district?

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, there are quite a number of mining communities in my county which have distressed school districts, districts in which the mining companies, which are the major tax payers, have not paid their taxes for four and in some cases eight years. The city that I come from, Mr. Speaker, has frequently represented that it was a distressed school district, but it has always been my thought on the matter that it was a mismanaged school district.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, is it not true that the city from which the gentleman comes is a third class city.

Mr. ANDREWS. It is, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman from Cambria not vote for the policemen's salary grab last week?

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a point of order.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman will state his point of order.

Mr. ACHTERMAN. Mr. Speaker, my point of order is that the gentleman's interrogation is not in line with the subject under discussion before the House, or the bill before the House.

The SPEAKER. The point of order is well taken. The gentleman will confine his interrogation to the question before the House.

Mr. DIX. Mr. Speaker, the question before the House is whether this Legislature can afford to vote a million and a half or two million dollars for distressed school districts, and I contend that if a member of the minority supports a bill for a salary grab to give the policemen a starting salary of sixteen hundred dollars, it comes with ill grace for him to come into this House and ask the Republicans to give an additional sum to these distressed school districts. It seems to me that any member of the minority who voted for this policemen's salary grab has no right to ask for any aid for distressed school districts on that account.

Mr. HOLLAND. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the gentleman from Dauphin County has stated that the school teachers should be paid out of local taxation. I would like to call to his attention that in the Utility Committee House Bill No. 78 is being held. If the members of this House will refer to the report which they now have on their desks, they will find that if the State of Pennsylvania used the same taxing method as other states of the United States, and compelled utilities to pay their local share of taxation the same as home owners, that aid to the school districts of Pennsylvania would be relieved, according to that report, in the amount of three million dollars. However, if this report which you have on your desks is checked against the holdings of real estate by utilities as shown on the books of the Public Utility Commission, you will find that the school districts in the state of Pennsylvania would be taken out of the red, because then the utilities would be paying their share of school taxes which would be close to ten million dollars, which today the man who owns a home is paying instead of the utilities which enjoy all the privileges of local government.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin state whether it is not a fact that there is a bill on page 13 of today's postponed second reading calendar, which would bring in revenue in the amount of seventy-five million dollars.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, there is not a bill on the calendar that would bring in one red copper of revenue in this biennium to help this particular situation.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to know from the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, whether or not he is familiar with House Bill No. 409, Printer's No. 143.

Mr. WOODSIDE. I am, Mr. Speaker, in a general way.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman be kind enough to tell me just what that bill would do and whether or not it would bring us any income?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it would if constitutional bring us an income in the next biennium.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell the members of the House in just what figure this bill would bring us income, how much?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I cannot, neither can anybody else as far as I have been able to ascertain.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, would the gentleman from Dauphin be willing to adopt the figure of his colleague, Mr. Gates, if he were to give him that figure?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, if Mr. Gates would say he has reliable information, I would consider that a reliable estimate.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that in view of the point of order raised by the gentleman from Monroe, Mr. Achterman, and the ruling of the Chair in reference to the interrogation of the gentleman from Wayne, Mr. Dix, that the interrogation of the gentleman from Northampton is clearly out of order.

Mr. JIROLANIO. In answer to that, Mr. Speaker, may I say that this is somewhat in line with the proposition brought out by Mr. Schroepe, because I am only trying to look after a measure that will bring in revenue. This is somewhat analogous to the objection which you sustained against me last week, Mr. Speaker, when I raised a question against my colleague, Mr. Hoffman, of Northampton.

The SPEAKER. The gentleman is out of order.

Mr. JIROLANIO. That is all, Mr. Speaker. I am sorry. On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

An Act making a deficiency and emergency appropriation to aid certain school districts

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar, by Mr. GATES and

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 409, as follows:

An Act imposing a tax in relief of financially distressed school districts on the net income of residents of Pennsylvania including fiduciaries and on net income of non-residents derived from property or business in Pennsylvania defining taxable income and requiring filing of returns thereof providing for the assessment collection and lien of said tax providing for administration and enforcement of the act by the Department of Revenue conferring powers and imposing duties on certain persons partnerships associations corporations State and county officers employees and departments providing for the use of and appropriating the proceeds of such tax and imposing penalties

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Article I

Short Title and Definitions

Section 1 Short Title This act shall be known and may be cited as the "Individual Net Income Tax Act"

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be re-committed to the Committee on Ways and Means for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Armstrong, Mr. Gates.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Armstrong permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GATES. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Armstrong kindly tell the Legislature just what that study is that he would like to have made of this bill.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I would be very happy to do so. There are several amendments that I spoke about in committee, and I believe the gentleman from Northampton was there at the time, that I would like to have placed in this particular bill. For instance there are three bills that I have discussed on the floor or this House. One was the five mill capital stock tax. I would like to change that so that it will only repeal three mills of the capital stock tax and adding an amendment that the two mills of the personal property tax be repealed. Since the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court, that Federal employees are subject to tax, I believe we should take three mills off the capital stock tax.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Armstrong. Why could he not introduce the amendments on the floor of the House.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I could, but I don't think I could get them in.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, why could not the gentleman get them in?

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I just have been advised that it would be better to try to have them placed in the bill in committee. I feel positive they will get in there, a least I hope they will.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, does not the gentleman feel that this House would be more friendly toward him than probably the committee would.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, the reason I have done this, tomorrow this bill dies of its own accord on the fifth legislative day and to keep it alive I have asked for its recommitment.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, for the information of the gentleman from Armstrong, he can move to get five additional day for this bill, extending the time of postponement, which will then save the bill from death tomorrow.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I think that is true, but I do think that I have more chance to get my bill eventually through by going along with the suggestions that have been made. As I stated, I still believe my bill is the vehicle through which the Republican party can carry out its campaign pledges and give relief to the distressed school districts, and at the same time, as I stated, carry out certain other pledges.

Mr. JIROLANIO. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman honestly feel that this bill has a chance of going through by referring it back to the committee on Ways and Means, or is it just a gesture.

Mr. GATES. Mr. Speaker, I honestly believe that it has very much more chance of going through this way than if I buck the administration and try to force it through on the floor.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 558, (Senate Bill No. 166), entitled:

An Act to authorize cities, boroughs, incorporated towns, townships, and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default, or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims, and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost; and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments.

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 132.

An Act to amend sections one two and four of the act approved the sixteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 180) entitled "An act providing a method of establishing title to land acquired at a sale for unpaid taxes or municipal claims" extending the provisions of said act to include land acquired at county treasurer's sales for unpaid taxes

SENATE BILL No. 155.

An Act to authorize cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and school districts to file suggestions of nonpayment and averments of default or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. This is the day fixed as the final date for the introduction of bills in the House, Revenue and Appropriation bills being excepted.

The Chair has been informed by the Director of the Legislative Reference Bureau that they have been unable to complete the drafting of all the bills requested by the members. Therefore, if there are no objections, the Speaker will receive as completed all bills, now in the course of preparation, for reference to appropriate committees.

The Chair desires to further inform the members that requests for amending or changing highway routes, or adding new routes to the highway system are not bills within the interpretation of the rules and will be received by the Chairman of the Highway Committee in the usual manner during the remainder of the session.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 24

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, March 6, 1939.

Whereas, The publicity recently given to the amount of money appropriated to the Bureau of Aeronautics, for use during the present biennium, has occasioned much public comment; and

Whereas, An investigation should be made of the activities and expenditures, and also the plans of the Bureau, in order to determine upon its future operations and future appropriations; therefore be it

Resolved, (if the Senate concur) That a joint Legislative Committee is hereby created, consisting of four members of the House of Representatives, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House; and three members of the Senate, one of whom shall be a member of the minority party, to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, whose duty it shall be

(a) To organize immediately after its appointment, by the election, from its membership, of a chairman, vice-chairman and a secretary.

(b) To immediately begin a thorough investigation of the operations of and the expenditures made by the Bureau of Aeronautics since its creation, with the end in view of suggesting what policy should be adopted in order to make its work more effective and less expensive.

(c) To decide how far the Bureau should proceed as a separate organization and whether cooperation with the Federal Government or other states would be practicable.

(d) To investigate safety devices and make recommendations in regard to the use thereof.

(e) To inquire into possible abuses of the powers of the Bureau heretofore practiced and to make suggestions for the correction thereof.

The committee hereby created shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its chairman requesting and commanding any person or persons to appear before them and to answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the force and effect of subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of said committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before the committee. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to testify before said committee or to produce any books, papers, records or documents shall be subject to the penalties provided by laws of the Commonwealth in such cases.

The said committee shall report to this General Assembly as soon as possible after its investigation is completed, the results thereof accompanied by such suggestions of legislation to be enacted as to the committee seems necessary.

SENATE MESSAGE

TIME OF NEXT MEETING

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That when the Senate adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, at nine o'clock; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week it reconvene on Monday evening, April 10, at eight o'clock.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

On the question,

Will the House concur in the resolution of the Senate?

It was concurred in.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the Senate accordingly.

BILL RE-REFERRED

Mr. SCHROCK returned from the Committee on Appropriations with the recommendation that it be re-referred to the Committee on Agriculture, House Bill No. 771, entitled:

An Act to amend sections one and two of the act, approved the second day of March, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 6), entitled "An act to enable persons, associations, partnerships and corporations engaged in farming, and raising, breeding, fattening and marketing livestock to borrow money and secure the repayment thereof by the execution and recordation of chattel mortgages on livestock, farm machinery, farm equipment, and crops; and designating the operation and effect of the lien of such mortgages," as amended; further changing fees and agencies from whom borrowings may be made.

The SPEAKER. The bill is now re-referred to the Committee on Agriculture.

BILLS ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The bill having been called up from the postponed calendar by Mr. MARR,

The House resumed the consideration on third reading of House Bill No. 331, entitled:

An Act defining and prohibiting unfair sales providing remedies for violations thereof and establishing penalties therefor

And said bill having been read at length the third time, considered and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

REPORT OF SLATE COMMITTEE

APPOINTMENT OF CHAPLAIN

Mr. WINNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer a report from the Slate Committee.

The report was read by the Clerk as follows:

April 3, 1939.

Resolved, That the Reverend Thomas G. Baxter, Bradford County be elected Chaplain of the House of Representatives to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of the Reverend Walter Evans Deibler of Dauphin County.

On the question,

Will the House adopt the report?

It was adopted.

ADDRESS BY MR. BAKER

Mr. BAKER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House, certain interests for several years have been flooding the State with propaganda alleging that the recent Pennsylvania Democratic Administration was driving industry from Pennsylvania.

Members of the present majority in this assembly and their supporters in the public press and on the stump have been singularly bitter in their allegations that the New Deal was ruining this great Commonwealth.

Mr. Speaker, we knew the allegations were false.

We knew the figures were distorted.

We knew the Republican Party was crying "Wolf!"

I tonight take great pleasure in bringing to your attention certain figures in which I know you will be interested.

The figures are reliable and complete.

They are the results of the Federal Government's biennial census of manufactures in Pennsylvania.

They show, in brief, that in the first two years of the Democratic Administration Pennsylvania business improved.

They show the number of manufacturing establishments rose.

They show the number of wage earners increased.

They show that total wages were up.

They show that the value of materials used in manufacture rose, the value of subsequent products increased by nearly 50 per cent, and the value added by manufacture increased accordingly.

The last figures available are for 1937 and were issued by the Department of Commerce last week.

In 1937 the anguished howls of the wolves of big business reached their shrill crescendo.

In 1937 big business had been sufficiently helped by the New Deal in State and Nation to be ready and eager to bite the hand that helped it.

These figures speak better than adjectives. They carry with them more weight than any orator could impart in words.

In 1933, there were 12,093 manufactories in Pennsylvania; the Democratic Administration was in office but two years when they showed an increase to 13,084 in 1937.

From 716,598 wage earners in Pennsylvania plants in 1933, the New Deal increased the number almost 100,000, to 814,670 in 1935 and again it jumped 140,000 in the next biennium to 954,340.

Wages came near restoration to their 1929 peak, rising from $599,591,440 in 1933 to $848,637,391 in 1935 and $1,176,957,270 in 1937.

Wages in Pennsylvania in 1929, while the Republican party still was greasing the skids for the nation's business, amounted to $1,378,890,467.

So that the New Deal can take credit for increasing Pennsylvania annual wages by more than $500,000,000 in the four years from 1933 to 1937.

Possibly this half billion dollars added to Pennsylvania pay envelopes is what convinced the anti-labor calamity howlers that the New Deal would ruin the state.

From wages for workmen let us turn to profits for manufacturers.

In 1933, Pennsylvania manufacturers added but $1,454,488,987 to the value of their raw materials.

That was the state's contribution to our wealth through fabrication of goods.

The story in 1935 is the story of every other category of this survey—a story of a half-billion dollar improvement to $1,870,467,258.

And again in 1937, we find this figure soars to $2,664,410,319, a four year gain of more than two billion dollars and a two year gain of almost one and one-half billions of dollars toward the 1929 figure from which Pennsylvania business dropped during the remaining three years of Republican hand-wringing.

The total value of products rose right down the line.

Payments for raw materials, containers, fuel and purchased electric energy—payments adding to the circulation of money in our state and nation—also rose.

If you will take this census, Mr. Speaker, and examine the various reports for individual industries, you will find the same picture in almost every one.

There were three aircraft parts manufacturers in Pennsylvania in 1935; in 1937, after the Democratic Administration was accused of driving Pennsylvania industry to other states, there were seven.

Their business in 1935 paid $257,051 to 203 workmen; in 1937 they paid $751,190 to 632 workers.

In 1935, they added $802,813 to the value of their raw materials; in 1937, $1,502,890.

Take an older, bigger industry: blast furnace products. Twenty-one establishments in 1935 employed an average of 4,771 workers for $5,428,534 and added $24,658,313 to the value of materials worth $91,594,801—more.

Two years later, when we Democrats were supposedly driving industry from the state, the blast furnaces had increased to 23, almost a 10 percent rise; wages had more than doubled from $5,428,534 to $12,058,455; average men employed had increased from 4,771 to 7,524; value added by manufacture had almost doubled to $40,335,510.

Total output was valued at $229,075,759 in 1937 as against $116,253,114 in 1935.

Mr. Speaker, does that look as though we were driving industry out of Pennsylvania?

Examine the figures for another industry where the number of manufacturing establishments did decrease between 1935 and 1937.

There were 143 confectionery manufactures in Pennsylvania in 1935; there were 10 fewer two years later.

Now, Mr. Speaker, if we drove those 10 plants out of Pennsylvania, we must have done Pennsylvania a favor.

For in 1937 an average of 6,071 men received $5,130,479 from the confectionery industry while only 5,876 men employed in 1935 received but $4,621,652 in wages. Rather than burden you with the figures, let me assure you that value added by manufacture increased in those two years by almost 25 percent.

The story is the same in other industries.

Consider the petroleum refining industry which Mr. James or some of his gubernatorial board of directors may have some curiosity.

In 1935, there were 33 petroleum refineries in Pennsylvania; in 1937 the number was the same.

In 1935, these refiners employed 10,483 men and paid them $14,236,471. In 1937, these refiners had instituted labor saving devices to cut their payrolls to 9,390 but, possibly due in some measure to an enforced tolerance of unions, paid them $15,994,218.

In 1935, these 10,483 men processed $168,425,240 in oil; in 1937 the 9,390 men handled $220,280,158.

In 1935 these men added $36,040,335 to the value of that crude oil; in 1937, $39,416,617.

This is not a survey of a few industries which show a favorable index at the expense of many which declined, Mr. Speaker.

Pick your categories at random and you will seldom fail to note a favorable upswing in business from 1935 to 1937.

Agricultural implement manufacturers increased, as did belting and packing plants; boiler shops increased, and so did the number of men they hired and the value of their products; cigar manufactories declined slightly in number and in number of men employed, but total wages increased and so did the value added by manufacture and the value of products.

Drugs and medicines factories decreased from 84 to 80, but the total of men employed rose somewhat and their total wages increased as did the value of their products and the estimated value added by manufacture.

The number of foundries decreased by four, but total average employes increased by more than 2,500 and the wages by more than four million dollars.

All indexes for furniture factories increased, some of them sharply; manufactories of lumber and timber products increased by 50 percent; the glass industry showed improvement, wages rising sharply, number of employes rising slightly, and product value rising more than either.

The pottery business reveals improvement, the rayon business shot up as did the steel spring business.

The steel works and the rolling mill products classification reveals a sharp betterment so does the wrought iron pipe manufacturing business, although the number of plants in the latter category remains the same.

Mr. Speaker, if the State Democratic Administration and the New Deal were driving business out of Pennsylvania, there must have been something about the Democratic Party that attracted more business from other states than left this one.

I wonder sometimes if the Republican party has been screaming to the high heavens about the departure from Pennsylvania of a few sweatshops?

If that is the complaint, Mr. Speaker, I am happy to admit our responsibility.

But to return to the Department of Commerce census let us look for a brief minute at the reports for various districts of the state. I shall try not to burden you with many more figures, but I feel the subject is an important one.

In 1933, there were 1,798 manufactories in the Pittsburgh Industrial district; they employed an average of 143,421 men at a total wage of $126,943,718, adding $270,030,833 in value to materials which cost, with containers, fuel, and purchased electric energy, $383,985,818.

In 1935, there were 1,927 manufactories in the same district, employing an average of 174,717, at a total wage of $195,231,698, who added $450,351,876 to material costing $882,559,786.

In 1937, the number of plants jumped to 2,041, employing 227,675 men for a total wage of $358,761,574, and adding $767,366,777 to a material, fuel and electricity cost of $979,551,288.

Mr. Speaker, in those four years of the New Deal, there was a consistent increase in the number of plants doing business in the Pittsburgh District, in the number of employes, their payroll, and the values added to materials purchased.

The Pittsburgh Industrial Area in this census included Beaver, Washington, Westmoreland, and Allegheny Counties.

The story is the same elsewhere.

Consider the Allentown-Bethlehem Industrial Area.

In 1933, there were 550 plants in the district; in 1935 and 1937 there were 580.

In 1933, an average of 42,230 men were employed at wages totalling $29,913,504. The payroll jumped in 1935 to $41,641,576 for 48,393 men and another twenty million dollars in 1937 to $62,105,610 for 56,850 men.

So it wasn't from the Allentown-Bethlehem Industrial Area that the New Deal or the State Democratic Administration drove all that industry.

The figures show the same story from Bucks, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, and Philadelphia Counties—a consistent increase in the number wage earners size of payrolls, and value added by manufacture.

In the Philadelphia Industrial Area, including the Camden, N. J. District, the number of plants increased from 5,128 in 1933, to 5,844 in 1935 and fell to 5,064 in 1937, while the average number of employes rose all along the line from 261,599 in 1933 to 312,377 in 1935 and 345,553 in 1937.

In the same district, payrolls rose from $248,138,341 in 1933 to $335,118,267 in 1935 and $421,545,804 in 1937.

Of this latter jump $35,000,000 was registered for the Pennsylvania Counties. So it couldn't be in the Philadelphia district that the New Deal and the Pennsylvania Democratic Administration were driving industry out of Pennsylvania.

What about Reading?

In the Reading area, consisting of Berks County, there were 438 industrial plants in 1933, 467 in 1935 and 485 in 1937, with payrolls respectively of $27,848,444 in 1935, $39,078,085 in 1935, and $47,348,928 in 1937.

That, Mr. Speaker, is a $20,000,000 increase in wages while the New Deal and the Pennsylvania Democratic Administration supposedly were driving industry out of Pennsylvania.

In the Wilkes-Barre-Scranton district the survey is less favorable and that can be attributed directly to the deplorable condition in the anthracite fields.

But even here the utter collapse which would have stricken the district in the absence of the New Deal and the State Democratic Administration was averted.

From 1933 to 1935, 49 factories disappear from the tabulations; in the next two years to 1937, 35 more plants disappear. But the number of men employed while dropping from 35,030 in 1933 to 33,302 in 1935, rose to 33,363 by 1937, and payrolls show a consistent rise from $24,881,162 in 1933 to $26,390,589 in 1935 to $28,380,091 in 1937.

Value added to products by manufacture shows a similar increase from $53,837,379 in 1933 to $65,296,711 in 1937.

So you can hardly say that the Democratic Administrations, national and state, were ruining Wilkes-Barre.

The truth of the matter is, Mr. Speaker, that industry has not been driven from Pennsylvania by the New Deal, state or national.

The truth of the matter is that industry has been encouraged.

The truth of the matter is that the New Deal and the Pennsylvania Democratic Administration have done more to aid industry in Pennsylvania than any other one thing.

The sweatshops may have suffered.

The fly-by-night shirtmaker operating in a plant given him by some rural chamber of commerce may have gone south when the time came that he must begin to pay decent wages to his employes.

The shoe-string promoter who cannot survive while paying his share of the cost of government may have folded his tents.

But responsible, stable Pennsylvania industry has profited from the Democratic Administrations, state and federal. Labor has benefitted enormously, the state has been making steady progress toward recovery.

I hope for the sake of the people of Pennsylvania that the Republican party will be able to point to as good a record after four years of the James Catastrophe.

But I doubt it.

TIME EXTENDED ON BILL

Mr. ATKINS. Mr. Speaker, I move that the time on House Bill No. 221, Printer's No. 144, entitled:

An Act declaring prosecutions against defendants finally ended and terminated where the Grand Jury has returned bills of indictment ignoramus unless a re-submission is authorized by the court for certain reasons and providing the procedure and for appeals in such cases.

on page 14 of today's calendar, bill on final passage postponed, be extended five days.

The motion was agreed to.

ADDRESS BY MR. TRONZO

Mr. TRONZO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, only too well I realize how deeply patronage has its roots within the structure of a political organization—and how vital patronage becomes occasionally, when, in a heated primary, Independents within the organization try to take control.

I am also acquainted with that burning zeal with which we try to find juicy plums for the faithful who lent time and effort in getting us elected, but all of this is still a sad commentary on the miserable system which works to the detriment of the people who have made a political victory possible in the first place—but enough for that.

Rumors are rampant that the Republican High Command are so hard hit for jobs that they have finally decided to tear down the merit system in several of the State's Departments—this is an act worthy only of the Judases and Benedict Arnold's of history—such a base deed will prostitute the Department of Public Assistance and other departments involved, to the whims of political ward heelers and district henchmen—it will certainly be a milestone in reverse for the merit system in Pennsylvania. The ramifications of such a political setup are truly heartbreaking—

However, you Republicans do hold the whip—on fake promises you rode into power, and right now you are showing your true colors. You can rip out the merit system if you choose—and you undoubtedly will—you can replace capable employes with stupid arrogant, and machine minded district heelers—and you will—and when you do, God help the people of Pennsylvania—the taxpayers as well as those on relief—but when you do—even the Lord won't be able to assist the Republican Party.

STATEMENT BY MR. HINDMAN

Mr. HINDMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I am sure that the members of this House are very vitally interested in the tubercular situation in the state of Pennsylvania. This is evidenced by the number of both the minority and majority members of this House who have come to me and discussed this problem. I therefore feel that it is proper that I should make more statements tonight to elucidate some of the problems involved.

I would like to read to the members of the House two or three of the many letters I have received from various people in the state, with a view to give you from authoritative sources the real and actual facts. I would remind you, ladies and gentlemen of this House, that while this

Butler Sanatorium situation affects us in the Western end of the state it is a statewide problem, in as much as we just have three active sanatoria in the state of Pennsylvania at the present time, and if the five hundred and fifty beds which would be supplied by that sanatorium were occupied, it would take the load off the other three sanatoria in the state, and of course obviously would permit patients not admitted in other parts of the state to occupy those beds.

I would like to read a letter which I received tonight from Dr. C. Howard Marcy, Chief Medical Director of the Tuberculosis League of Pittsburgh a very active organization. Dr. Marcy has been as many of you know or at least some of you know one of the most active men in the tuberculosis field in the State of Pennsylvania for almost a quarter of a century and I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen, he is an authority on tuberculosis.

The letter reads as follows:

"Dr. A. O. Hindman, "April 1, 1939.
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

"Dear Doctor Hindman:

"The proposal of the Governor not to operate the new institution at Butler came as a shock to Pennsylvania agencies and individuals, professional and others, who have been striving for years to secure provision on the part of the State of more adequate hospital facilities for the tuberculous. As a justification for this decision, it is stated in the Budget Message:

"The entire present waiting list of sufferers from tuberculosis can be amply accommodated at the present sanatoria. To occupy the Butler institution would be unjustifiable expense."

"It has been our understanding that approximately 738 new beds are being provided for patients at the Mont Alto and Hamburg Hospitals. We have been informed by the Secretary of Health that the waiting list stood at 611 on March first.

"The question occurs,—is the size of the waiting list of applicants for admission to State sanatoria an accurate or even safe measure for the need of hospital beds? We believe most emphatically that it is not and that it should not be so accepted. The number of deaths occurring annually is the guide used by competent public health authorities in determining tuberculosis hospital needs. At least two beds per annual death is regarded as the minimum requirement.

"There were 4,906 deaths from tuberculosis in Pennsylvania in 1937, and there are today approximately 4,562 beds available in the state for the civilian population. With 738 new beds provided at Mont Alto and Hamburg, Pennsylvania will still need something over 3,000 additional beds to meet the standard requirements of two beds for each annual death. On this basis alone, there can be no question as to Pennsylvania's need for the 550 beds that would be available in the Butler Hospital.

"There is no doubt that the institution would be filled to capacity in a very short time. While in itself, it would not solve our tuberculosis hospital problem, it would accomplish a great deal in providing more adequate care for residents of Western Pennsylvania. At the present time the nearest hospital for the western part of the state is at Cresson. Even after a patient is accepted for admission, it means that he must be sent a long distance from home and friends for treatment. The institution in Butler County would help very much toward correcting this unfortunate situation.

Very sincerely yours,

C. HOWARD MARCY, M.D."

I have also another letter here from the Clearfield Tuberculosis Society of Clearfield County, in which it says as follows:

"Clearfield
March 31, 1939

"Hon. A. O. Hindman, M.D.,
House of Representatives,
Harrisburg, Pa.

"Dear Dr. Hindman:

"This Society heard with keen disappointment of the Governor's intention to stop the work on the new Tuberculosis Sanatorium in course of erection at Butler. For years our county's indigent tuberculosis patients have had to wait for weeks and months before they can be received at the present State Sanatoria. Many times this long wait has resulted in progress of the disease from an incipient to far-advanced type causing a longer stay in the institution when they were called and frequently a fatal outcome. "All the while the patient has been detained at his home awaiting admission he has most likely been a source of infection to his contacts with the development of new cases as a result.

"In view of these facts it is the sense of this organization that the new Butler Sanatorium should be put into operation as quickly as possible and we urge you as our representative to do everything in your power to bring about this end.

Very sincerely yours,

CLEARFIELD COUNTY TUBERCULOSIS SOCIETY,
J. Paul Frantz, M.D., President,
Mrs. Grace Bartley, Secretary."

I also have a letter from the Clearfield County Medical Society in which they voice practically the same sentiments. Ladies and gentlemen, they insist that that hospital is grievously and sorely needed particularly in the Western end of the state.

Mr. Speaker and members of this House, I would to God that I could have you go with me to visit the various Tuberculosis Clinics of this state and view for yourselves the pathetic spectacle of the great groups in waiting, eager to be admitted to a Sanatorium in order that they might grasp their only chance for life, happiness and restoration to health in order that they might engage in gainful occupation. I would have you view with me the expressions on their flushed and feverish faces of disappointment, sorrow and vanished hope when they are told that unfortunately they cannot be admitted for a period of at least four months because the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has failed to make adequate provisions for their care on account of the expense involved. Oh, my friends! who of us would not cry out in anguish "what price a human life?" This is not a mere darkly pained word picture, Mr. Speaker and members of this House. I regret to remind you it is a stern reality to several hundred unfortunates in the state of Pennsylvania today.

A great deal of money has been expended in our State over a rather long period of time to eradicate tuberculosis in cattle. My friends I am heartily in sympathy with this and the results have been marvelously successful, bovine tuberculosis having been reduced to a negligible quantity, there being less than one-half of one percent of bovine cases in the State at this time. It has all but been exterminated. I submit to you, however, that our human problem is vastly more important than that of cattle and in my opinion if this long waiting list is eliminated the results in man would be comparable to that obtained in cattle. Would not we all be very happy to feel that we had done our part in bringing about such a notable achievement?

Mr. Speaker and members of this House if I were in a position to defer the opening of the Butler Sanitorium for two years and were offered a monetary reward equivalent to the cost of the institution for so doing I would spurn the offer. I would not jeopardize my soul by virtually being a party in reality to signing a death warrant to hundreds and maybe thousands of helpless creatures who through no fault of their own are unfortunate victims of this disease and for whose proper care the responsibility is ours.

During my entire professional career I have always experienced a feeling of deep responsibility for the lives of those who were intrusted to me be he prince or pauper, high or low, a human life is a human life, and aside from its hope in eternity the dearest and most cherished asset of its possessor. Today, I feel that in conjunction with the other two members of the medical profession in this House, Dr. Serrill and Dr. Sarraf, we are heading a great clinic. We have thousands of tuberculous victims for our patients. We have, in addition, countless thousands of potential victims whose duty is ours to prevent from developing this dreaded and devastating disease. I feel that our responsibility before God is greater than at any time in our experience in a long and active medical career, because of the great number involved.

We have, however, a further division of our responsibility in this great clinic with the other 205 members of this legislature. I say to them, "Know ye the truth, and the truth shall make you free." I say to you in all sincerity, and with all the fervor and force that lieth within me, that if we go along to thwart the plans already inaugurated to take care of both the potential and active victims of this great white plague their blood will be on our heads, and their plague will be our eternal heritage.

SENATE

TUESDAY, April 4, 1939

The Senate met at 2:00 o'clock, p. m.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. BURLEIGH A. PETERS, offered the following prayer:

O Almighty, Everlasting God, by whose Spirit all things are governed, by whose providence all things are ordered, we commend to Thee this day all the people of this Commonwealth and nation. Look kindly upon every condition of their living that the good may be preserved by Thine own winnowings and the evil annulled in due season.

May all useful arts flourish in our midst and the good influences of our public school system be preserved. Guide Thou into larger channels of usefulness our institutions of higher education and may they be purged of all subversive activities and teachings.

Defend all our Churches everywhere. Cause Thy righteousness to thoroughly pervade the minds of our people that the rightful destiny of this nation may, under Thy guidance, be secure.

May Thy name be hallowed everywhere in our nation and especially in our own hearts. In Thy holy name we pray. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The PRESIDENT. A quorum of the Senate being present the Clerk will read the Journal of the preceding session.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of the preceding session, when, on motion of Mr. GELDER and Mr. SCARLETT, the further reading was dispensed with, and the Journal was approved.

BILL SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 26, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the fifth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1670), entitled "Fire Safety Building Regulation Law."

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

BILLS INTRODUCED

Mr. SCARLETT, read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 413, entitled:

An Act to amend sections two hundred two and two hundred fourteen of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws, general, special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by changing the manner of appointing and filling vacancies in boards of school directors in school districts of the first class where any city, constituting a school district of the first class has a council elected by proportional representation and a city manager selected by council.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Mr. FARRELL read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 414, entitled:

An Act authorizing school districts of the first class to fund floating indebtedness, incurred prior to December thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine, for current expenses and debt service and to issue and sell bonds for this purpose.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 415, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and twenty-four of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended by limiting the total annual school tax for any one year in school districts of the first class and prescribing the method of fixing the levy of school taxes in such districts.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 416, entitled:

An Act to amend and reenact section five hundred and thirty-two of an act, approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith," as amended, by empowering school boards in districts of the first class to make for any year such general reductions in salaries fixed by law as will enable the district to keep its estimated annual expenditures within the estimate of funds available to the district for that year and by, in such instances, so regulating the discretionary power vested in the Superintendent of Public Instruction, to withhold requisitions for moneys payable by the Commonwealth to School Districts which have not made provision for full payment of minimum salaries and increments, that the exercise of such power shall not interfere with the operation of this act.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

Messrs. DENT and HALUSKA read in their place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 417, entitled:

An Act prohibiting the sale, transfer, purchase, ownership, possession and use of tear and noxious gas and tear gas guns, providing certain exemptions and providing penalties.

Mr. TALLMAN read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 419, entitled:

An Act to amend section 202 of and add a new Section 425A to the act approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," in order to establish the State Civil Service Commission as a departmental administrative commission in the Department of Public Instruction.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair, Senate Bill No. 420, entitled:

An Act regulating and improving the civil service of certain departments and agencies of the Commonwealth vesting in the State Civil Service Commission and an Administrator certain powers and duties, providing for classification of positions, adoption of compensation, schedules and certification of payrolls; imposing duties upon certain officers and employes of the Commonwealth, authorizing cooperation with counties, cities, boroughs and towns and townships in matters relating to civil service; defining certain crimes and misdemeanors; imposing penalties and repealing certain acts and parts thereof.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. WOLFENDEN read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 421, entitled:

An Act to control the practice of accounting by defining and regulating the practice of public accountancy by those qualified by the Commonwealth to practice as certified public accountants or as public accountants.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

He also, by request, read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 422, entitled:

An Act to amend section one thousand and four of the act, approved the seventeenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-one (P. L. 682), entitled "An act relating to insurance; amending, revising, and consolidating the law providing for the incorporation of insurance companies, and the regulation, supervision, and protection of home and foreign insurance companies, Lloyds associations, reciprocal and inter-insurance exchanges, and fire insurance rating bureaus, and the regulation and supervision of insurance carried by such companies, associations, and exchanges, including insurance carried by the State Workmen's Insurance Fund; providing penalties; and repealing existing laws," as amended, by authorizing exchanges which maintain a surplus equal to the capital and surplus requirements of stock insurance companies engaged in the same kind of business, to write policies without contingent liability in such policy or in the power of attorney.

Which was committed to the Committee on Insurance.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 423, entitled:

An Act to further amend section two hundred two, and to amend section four hundred twenty-one, of the act, approved the ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine (P. L. 177), entitled "An act providing for and reorganizing the conduct of the executive and administrative work of the Commonwealth by the Executive Department thereof and the administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers thereof, including the boards of trustees of State Normal Schools, or Teachers Colleges; abolishing, creating, reorganizing or authorizing the reorganization of certain administrative departments, boards, and commissions; defining the powers and duties of the Governor and other executive and administrative officers, and of the several administrative departments, boards, commissions, and officers; fixing the salaries of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, and certain other executive and administrative officers; providing for the appointment of certain administrative officers, and of all deputies and other assistants and employes in certain departments, boards, and commissions; and prescribing the manner in which the number and compensation of the deputies and all other assistants and employes of certain departments, boards and commissions shall be determined," by substituting "State Board of Accountancy" for "State Board for the Examination of Public Accountants" and for "State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants," by providing for the composition of the board and the method of removal of its members; and to provide that the members of the State Board for the Examination of Public Accountants or State Board of Examiners of Public Accountants in office at the effective date hereof shall become members of the first State Board of Accountancy.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

Mr. GELTZ read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 424, entitled:

An Act to repeal the act, approved the fourth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (P. L. 1539), entitled "An act providing for the creation, incorporation, organization, and government of county public utility administrations in counties of the second class; providing for referendums to ascertain the will of the electors; authorizing such administrations to incur bonded indebtedness for the purpose of the construction of works, the acquisition of property, and the operation of public utilities, to contract for the payment therefor, or to have the price fixed by the Public Utility Commission; conferring the power of eminent domain; providing for the powers, duties, functions, and immunities of such administration; imposing certain duties and functions in connection with such administrations upon certain county officers; conferring power to enter into agreements with the United States and its instrumentalities, political subdivisions, and municipalities of the Commonwealth, and others; providing for a system of civil service and collective bargaining; and providing penalties; and for other purposes."

Which was committed to the Committee on County Government.

He also read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 425, entitled:

An Act to amend Sections 2601, 2602, 2603, and 2604 of the act approved the eighteenth day of May, one thousand nine hundred eleven (P. L. 309), entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, together with the provisions by which it shall be administered, and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof; providing revenue to establish and maintain the same, and the method of collecting such revenue; and repealing all laws, general, special or local, or any parts thereof, that are or may be inconsistent therewith," by providing for the election or appointment of auditors in merged and other union school districts, fixing the term of office and manner of filling vacancies.

Which was committed to the Committee on Education.

REQUESTING SENATE CHAMBER FOR HOLDING PUBLIC HEARING ON SENATE BILLS NOS. 151 AND 152.

Mr. MALLERY offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate of Pennsylvania, April 4, 1939.

Be It Resolved, That the Judiciary General Committee of the Senate be, and it hereby is, granted permission to use the Senate Chamber, Tuesday, April 4, 1939, at 8:00 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of holding a public hearing on Senate Bills Nos. 151 and 152.

JOINT LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEE TO STUDY REGULATIONS OF MILK CONTROL

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I move that we do now reconsider Senate Resolution No. 3, (Printer's No. 24) and move for its immediate adoption, as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1939.

Whereas, Milk Control has been the subject of much controversy, and

Whereas, The production and distribution of milk is a subject of such vital importance to the citizens of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President Pro Tempore shall appoint three members of the Senate, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint four members of the House, who, together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to investigate and study, (a) all regulations, records and activities of the several departments and boards engaged in any manner in the administration of laws regulating the production and distribution of milk and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain full facts which will be useful and helpful in formulating future remedial and regulatory legislation;

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its Chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any persons and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

It was agreed to.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to read a resolution which I am going to ask this Senate to approve this afternoon. I desire to read it personally, so that the proper emphasis can be placed upon those items of information which I believe are essential to the passage of this resolution:

This resolution is introduced by myself and Senator Haluska from Cambria:

In the Senate, April 4, 1939.

Whereas, The Department of Public Assistance through its Director Mr. Russell recently issued an order stating that all persons receiving relief must sign a bond in the sum of $5000 which bond binds said persons or dependent to return to the State Government any and all monies received by said persons in the form of emergency relief and

Whereas, This order is the most degrading and demoralizing proposition advanced since the beginning of subsistence and relief grants to persons who through no fault of their own are unemployed, and

Whereas, The principle behind the proposition is unsound and based on prejudice and an assumption that relief recipients as a group are drones and won't do anything to help themselves and that there are many so-called chiselers on the relief rolls which is not supported by findings of fact, and

Whereas, Mr. Russell in his statement concurring this unfair proposition made the illuminating and prophetic statement that homes would not be taken from the estates of deceased relief recipients if said homes were willed to a dependent who is also a relief recipient. Such clarifying statements only tend to show the unreasonableness of this order from the viewpoint of persons who hold no malice or ill-will towards their fellow citizens who cannot locate gainful employment, and

Whereas, This proposition and formal order tends to destroy the initiative of thousands of worthy citizens willing to work by forcing them to mortgage not only their own future earnings (if any) but that of their sons and daughters as well, thus placing the children of this large group of citizens in the unhappy yet unique position of no longer being free children in a free nation, but sons and daughters in bondage and whose position and plight may well be likened to that of the early Americans who came to this country as bondage slaves and which practice was stamped out early in the days of Colonial America and further, this degrading and demoralizing proposition will completely destroy the liberty of freedom of this generation of relief recipients and unemployed but it will hang a millstone around the necks of the next generation and if the insinuations of the Director of Public Assistance is to be given serious consideration through this mortgage on liberty and independence will carry on into future generations of the bonded relief recipients and

Whereas, While we are agreed that relief chiselers are deserving of punishment and all reasonable precautions should be taken to keep such chiselers from the relief rolls, yet we cannot destroy the initiative and future independence of a large group of our citizenry because of this desire to save and economize in the distribution of subsistence relief be it resolved, and

It Is Hereby Resolved, That this General Assembly do (with the approval of the House of Representative) order the Department of Public Assistance through its Director Mr. Russell to refrain from enforcing the order compelling relief recipients to sign away their future liberty and Independence and that no such bond be required to receive food and clothing when the person receiving same has no gainful employment and is a relief case because of conditions beyond his or her control and

Be It Further Resolved, That this mandate of the General Assembly supersede the order of the secretary of Public Assistance immediately and that copies be forwarded to the Secretary of Public Assistance, the State Board of Public Assistance, to all Local Boards of Public Assistance and to the Governor of the Commonwealth and that the Governor is hereby petitioned to enforce the provisions of this resolution.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Rule 39, which requires resolutions be referred to an appropriate committee, be dispensed with and the Senate proceed to the consideration of the foregoing resolution.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, under the rules of this

Senate a resolution must be referred to a committee if there is objection by any member of this Senate. This is a long involved resolution, and if I heard the reading of it correctly, it purports to be a mandate to some departments of this government directing them how they shall conduct those departments. It is certainly only fair and proper that this resolution be considered by a committee in an orderly way, and I therefore ask the Senate to vote down this motion to suspend the rule.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I happen to have on my desk a letter from the secretary of the Department of Public Assistance which came to me as the chairman of the special committee on that subject and which has some bearing on this question.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order. The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, will state his point of order.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, with all due respect to the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, I do not think a motion to suspend a rule is debatable and I ask that the order be enforced.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator is well taken.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. Cavalcante.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I have some information here which I think will be of interest to some of the members of the Senate. It is in the form of a letter from Mr. Howard Russell, Secretary of the Department of Public Assistance. The letter states as follows:

The Honorable Franklin Spencer Edmonds,
Senate Chamber,
Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

Dear Senator Edmonds:

The Support Law, Act 397, passed by the 1937 Legislature contains the following section:

"Section 4. Property of Indigent Persons Liable for Expenses Incurred for Support and Assistance.—(a) The real and personal property of any indigent person shall be liable for the expenses of his support, maintenance, assistance and burial, incurred by any public body or public agency, whether owned at the time such expenses were incurred or acquired thereafter. Any public body or public agency may sue for moneys so expended, and any judgment obtained shall be a lien upon the real estate of such indigent person, and be collected as other judgments;"

This provision changed all forms of assistance from a grant to a loan basis in respect to property owned by a person while on relief, or acquired thereafter.

The State Board of Public Assistance took the position that this regulation was permissive rather than mandatory, since they considered the regulation impossible to administer properly. They failed to take any steps toward enforcing it until April 6, 1938 when a procedure for enforcement was discussed and submitted to the Attorney General for approval. At the meeting of the State Board on July 7, 1938 a resolution was passed adopting the form of a bond to be filed as a lien against real property.

On December 1, 1939 the following two resolutions appear in the minutes of the State Board of Public Assistance:

"Resolved, That the matter of the procurement of a bond from all assistance recipients, excepting Blind Pensioners, as adopted by the Board July 7, 1938, be held in abeyance pending further investigation by the Department.

"Further Resolved, That the Attorney General be requested to render an opinion as to whether or not, under the Support Law, it is mandatory upon the Department of Public Assistance to obtain repayment from recipients of General Assistance and Aid to Dependent Children."

At the last meeting of the State Board of Public Assistance on January 5, 1939, the following resolution appears in the minutes:

"Resolved, That the remarks of the Secretary be recorded and that the matter of the procurement of a bond from all assistance recipients, excepting Blind Pensioners, as adopted by the Board July 7, 1938, be held in abeyance pending receipt of the Attorney General's opinion as to whether or not under the Support Law the procurement of this bond is mandatory."

In formal Opinion No. 926, signed by Attorney General, Guy K. Bard, was received January 16, 1939, and contained the following conclusion:

"The question of whether or not suits should be filed or that executions should issue in any particular instances would be a matter within the discretion of the Department of Public Assistance, but any action on the part of the Public Assistance Board which would set up as a policy a determination to forego all claims for general assistance and for aid to dependent children would run counter to the public interest and deny to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania potential collections aggregating many thousands of dollars. Such action on the part of the State Board of Public Assistance would be an abuse of discretion or power which would, in all probability, lay such board open to charges of non-feasance if not malfeasance in office.

"It is, therefore, our conclusion, and you are accordingly advised, that the State Board of Public Assistance is without discretionary power which would justify their setting up a policy which would forego all claims against relief recipients who had received general assistance or involving aid to dependent children."

A letter received from the Attorney General's office on March 28, 1939 closes with the following sentence:

"As we see no occasion to suggest alterations in Informal Opinion No. 926, we concur in its findings."

On the basis of the specific ruling given the Department of Public Assistance by Attorney General Guy K. Bard, and recently concurred in by Attorney General Claude T. Reno, the Department has issued instructions that applicants for all forms of assistance, excepting Blind Pensioners, be required to sign bonds which will be a lien against real and personal property owned while receiving assistance, or acquired thereafter. This procedure is effective April 1, 1939.

I am enclosing a copy of Informal Opinion No. 926, a copy of a letter of March 28, 1939, signed by Deputy Attorney General M. Louise Rutherford and a copy of the instructions sent to all county offices by the Department of Public Assistance (Memorandum No. 621).

In answer to your specific question, this requirement is in the Support Law passed by the preceding administration and has been ruled to be mandatory as to its enforcement by the Attorney General of the preceding administration.

The general idea of this regulation appears to me to be sound but requiring some slight modification. It would be administratively difficult and impractical to maintain a check on every person who has ever been on relief to the time of his death to ascertain whether he ever acquired real or personal property which might be recovered for the State. The Bond signed at the time of application for assistance automatically provides the procedure by which recoveries can be made. The degree to which such liens be enforced could properly be a matter for discretion with the State Board of Public Assistance.

Our recommendation for a re-wording of Section 4 of Act 397 would be as follows:

"Section 4. Property of Indigent Persons Liable for Expenses Incurred for Support and Assistance.

"(a) The real and personal property of any indigent person shall be liable for the expenses of his support, maintenance, assistance and burial, incurred by any public body or public agency, (whether) if such property was owned (at) during the time such expenses were incurred or (acquired thereafter) or if the right to ownership of such property existed or was acquired during the time such expenses were incurred. Any public body or agency may sue for moneys so expended. (and) Public bodies or public agencies which furnish assistance to the indigent shall require of all indigent persons who are twenty-one (21) years of age, or over, a bond guaranteeing repayment of moneys so expended. Any judgment, whether obtained by suit or on the bond guaranteeing repayment, shall be a lien upon the real estate of such indigent person and shall be collected as other judgments, except as to the real and personal property comprising the home and furnishings of such indigent person, which shall be subject to the lien of such judgment, but shall not be subject to execution on such judgment during the lifetime of the indigent person.

I trust that this gives you the information you desired.

Sincerely yours,

HOWARD L. RUSSELL,
Secretary.

Mr. PRESIDENT. The successor to Guy K. Bard also coincided in that opinion. I am not stressing the part of the letter which deals with the possibility suggesting amendments but the point that I wish to make is, first, that the action against which the Senator from Westmoreland protests is an action first prescribed by an Act of Assembly; and, in the second place, is in accordance with the policy of the State Board last year; and, in the third place, is in accordance with an opinion of the Attorney-General, whom I did not know, but whose name I think has been cited with approval in certain parts of the House.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, with pleasure.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I should like the Senator from Montgomery to read the portion again which provides for the taking of a bond.

Mr. EDMONDS. Mr. President, I read the portion of the act on which the Attorney General relies.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, does that provide for the taking of a bond?

Mr. EDMONDS. No, Mr. President, it provides for repayment of the debt.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, there is nothing in the law which requires that a bond shall be taken, and the only purpose of taking a bond is to get a confession of judgment against these people and get a little speedier action against these people; not that these people who can afford shall be made to pay that back but everybody will be required to give a bond before he can get a release. There is nothing in the law which requires the department to insist upon a bond.

RESOLUTION EXTENDING SYMPATHY TO SENATOR DANDO ON THE DEATH OF HIS BROTHER

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I offer the following privileged resolution and ask for its immediate adoption.

Mr. EROE offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered, and agreed to:

In the Senate, April 4, 1939.

Resolved, That we, the members of the Senate of Pennsylvania, extend to our fellow member, the Honorable Joseph P. Dando, our most sincere sympathy in the death of his brother, John Dando.

In token of our sympathy and respect for Senator Dando, it is hereby directed that this resolution be spread on the Journal of the proceedings of the Senate, and a copy thereof, properly certified, be transmitted to the Honorable Joseph P. Dando.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, state his point of parliamentary inquiry?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, on February 6th I presented to the Chair a bill which is now known as Senate Bill 47. The bill has been referred to the Committee on Judiciary General, and I would like to interrogate the chairman of that committee, Mr. Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, with reference to Senate Bill No. 47, is that bill now in possession of the committee on Judiciary General?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, to what bill does the Senator from Cambria refer and to what does that bill pertain?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, that bill pertains to the discussion on the floor a few minutes ago, to indigent persons.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, that bill was considered and by a majority—almost a unanimous vote of the committee—that bill was indefinitely postponed.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Blair.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Blair permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I have been informed indirectly that this bill had been reconsidered and the committee had instructed the chairman to re-report this bill to the Committee on Welfare. Is that information correct, Mr. President?

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, not that I know of, but, however I may be mistaken. Evidently, Mr. President, I am mistaken. This bill, I have just been told by Senator Shapiro, was given to him as chairman of a subcommittee to study. I had another bill in mind.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I do not wish to betray a confidence of a committee, but the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery, gave me permission to attend his committee meetings and I recall very clearly that that committee took action while I was there to re-report this bill to the Committee on Welfare. Mr. President, does the Senator from Blair recall that?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Senator from Washington have a recollection of that bill being referred to the Committee on Welfare?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I do.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, will the Senator from Washington, Mr. Reed, explain what happened to that bill, if he can?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, as I recall the meeting last week Mr. Haluska appeared before the committee and inquired about the bill and wanted to explain the bill to the committee, and a motion was then made to refer the bill to the Committee on Welfare. Before Senator Haluska went to the Committee on Judiciary General he appeared before our Committee on Welfare and it was discovered there by the chairman that that bill was not in that committee. Later Senator Haluska appeared in our Committee on Judiciary General, at which time a motion was made to refer this bill to the Committee on Welfare. Senator Haluska requested the chairman of the Committee on Welfare to see where the bill was and have it sent to that committee, he wanted consideration of it there, and I distinctly remember, on account of being at the Committee on Welfare before this bill was referred out of the Committee on Judiciary General, the purpose was to have it referred to the Committee on Welfare.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, if that is the case I should like to ask the Senator from Blair to carry out the instructions of the committee, if he will—if he has no objections.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I will bring the bill out tomorrow before the committee.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, and members of the Senate, a few minutes ago I introduced a resolution and one of my colleagues decided it would be best not to have any debate on the resolution and therefore I was muzzled. However, we have parliamentary procedures whereby we still can have our say and especially if we are Democrats we usually have our say.

Mr. President, I want to take up at this time one particular point that I think is very important and which I think has been overlooked by the majority members of the Senate. While we are sitting here debating whether or not this resolution should be sent to a committee many people in Pennsylvania are being required to sign a bond. That started in my county Saturday, April 1, the requiring of a bond signature from persons receiving relief.

Now, I know full well what was in the act quoted by my colleague from Montgomery, Mr. Edmonds, and I know that when I voted for that I did not vote to force the persons who were to receive relief to bond and mortgage the future, not only of themselves but of their children and their children's children.

Mr. President, I do not believe that it is fair to insinuate on this floor, either through Mr. Russel's letter or any other statement here that the Democratic majority, last year passed a law which requires that bond. That was the purpose of my introduction of this resolution, because when they go out and ask for a bond in my county they are saying to the recipients that is not our order, we did not do this, this is an Act of Legislature, passed by the Democrats. It is not an Act of Legislature, it is a ruling of the Board. The Act of Legislature provided that persons that receive large sums of money and who have been relief recipients, or who by lying or by false pretenses received money from the State for subsistence, the act provided that the State could rightfully go in and get that money from those persons.

I do not believe any sane person in Pennsylvania thinks it is decent, right or honorable for us to say to our children today who are three, five, six or seven years old that "our heritage, my son and daughter, when you grow up, the food you are eating now, the shoes you are wearing now, the proper expenditures your father should make for you, you have got to pay for them. They will be only class children—and you must say they are a class—because this order distinctly puts them in a class—the only group of children in the whole state and probably in the whole nation who must mortgage their future earnings to satisfy the economy of a Governor. Gentlemen, let's put this in black and white here this afternoon.

I asked whether they would give immediate consideration to this problem because it is an acute problem, and the longer we delay the more acute it becomes. There is no necessity for study. All we say is they should refrain from forcing these people to mortgage their future.

Why talk about slavery? This is even worse than slavery because at least the slaves were allowed to work; our people who want to work are not even permitted to work, through no fault of their own.

Why, Mr. Russell in his statement, and also in his order, expressed the threat, let us say, that if a person refuses any sort of employment relief will be stopped. What does that mean, gentlemen of the Senate of Pennsylvania? It means this and this only, that this order will be used to peg down the wages of labor in Pennsylvania; that this order will be used to force persons who are desperate because of their economic situation to take positions with standards, wage standards, below normal standards of the Pennsylvania laborers.

I say to you that this order is degrading and demoralizing. I have asked this Senate to immediately consider this resolution. It has gone to a committee and you have seen what happened to it. You have seen what happens to legislation that is sent to committee that is not desired, legislation that has the public appeal perhaps but is not desired by the majority members.

Mr. President, I have witnessed in committee how bills can be lost. I remember one time, in a certain committee of which I was a member we refused to consider a bill and one day we looked and it was on the Calendar; somebody reported it out—without the benefit of clergy.

Now, Gentlemen of the Senate of Pennsylvania, let's not do that to a group of our worthy citizens—and I say to you honestly that they are worthy, I have neighbors and I believe you have neighbors who are willing to work, do any kind of gainful employment, all they desire is an opportunity to work, and I say that no bond with a judgment clause attached to it is fair, is Democratic or is even reasonable, when a person who receives that money only does so because he is forced to receive it.

He does not want that money because he does not want work. There may be a few, yes, but I say all this talk about chisellers, about relief chisellers—my good friend said carpet baggers and so on—is inflated beyond reasonable size and proportion. Very few persons actually chisel on relief. The law provides for chisellers. We can take care of that by just following the law as it is written.

We do not have to have this extraordinary measure and pressure, and I say that our conditions today are so precarious that maybe today or tomorrow we ourselves may find ourselves in the same position as those who today are existing on relief. The increased use of machinery, the natural shrinkage in gainful jobs, the dual job-holding by men and women who are married, and various other economic evils and ills that we have today, may force some of us, particularly those of us who are not of the professional class, to the same position of on our bended knees asking for relief assistance and signing a bond by which we say to our children, as I have said before, I cannot provide for you, my government does not even give me enough to provide for you, but when you grow up you not only will pay for what you ate, for what you have worn to keep your body warm, but you have got to pay for what I ate and what I wore to keep my body warm.

Mr. President, we are saying to three, four, ten and twelve year old children in Pennsylvania that the old order has changed—no longer does the parent provide for the children but we say that the children provide for the parents.

I know my responsibility to my father and my mother, and you know yours. Every citizen knows his. They will take care, as I will, of my aged folks when the time comes that they need me—and I may say they do.

I appeal to you as men not to set this large group of citizens into a class that may be likened to the untouchables of India by refusing to consider this resolution at this time. The longer we delay the more of our citizens will be forced to sign this bond and become, as I have said before, bonded slaves to the government.

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. CROWE. I should like to ask whether the Senator from Westmoreland still believes in Santa Clause?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, would the Senator from Monroe kindly repeat his question?

Mr. CROWE. Mr. President, I inquired whether the Senator from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, still believes in Santa Clause?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, no question ever asked of me gives me greater pleasure in answering.

I remember distinctly—in answering that question I believe it is proper that I go into other angles that bear on the question—I remember distinctly once, in a meeting in Pittsburgh where I was invited to speak, a woman well known in Pennsylvania's political circles and belonging to the new deal—our political faith—made a remark loud enough for me to hear, after one of the speakers had spoken. She said, "What is he, Democrat or Republican?" and the person next to her said he was a Democrat. "Well," she said, "I can tell by the statements he made that he does not have much sense." However, Mr. President, the question of whether or not I believe in Santa Claus or not is not only absurd but entirely out of the question when it comes to discussing this problem.

Yes, Mr. President, I believe in Santa Claus, I believe in him—I still hang up my stocking at Christmas time. My children do too. And I want them to keep their beliefs, because soon enough they will wake up to the realities of this world and realize the toughness of getting by without a Santa Claus, but it is not a Santa Claus who provides for those persons on relief I do not think that question was really serious, as asked by the Senator from Monroe, Mr. Crowe; I do not believe he meant that the way he said it. However, I do believe in the long whiskered gentleman, Santa Claus.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, while we are on the subject of resolutions I wish to call the attention of my colleagues to a resolution which I introduced in this Senate on March 29, 1939, relative to the recall of the confirmation of William J. Hamilton, Jr., Secretary of Revenue, unless he took his oath of office on or before April 1, 1939.

This morning in the Philadelphia Inquirer I read the following item:

"SHERIFF DEMANDS HIS PAY OF $10,000 TO MEET PAYROLL"

"Sheriff William J. Hamilton produced ten thousand dollars to meet the bimonthly payroll in his office yesterday, although most of the city-county employees have not been paid. He will be repaid by those in his office when their regular pay arrives."

Mr. President, I do not feel that the same treatment would be accorded to me that was accorded to my colleague from Armstrong, Senator Sipe, if I should go to the governor's office to make any inquiries, but I must say this, that I have already received that kind of treatment from the Department of Revenue.

I introduced a bill from the floor of this Senate and in order for me to intelligently plead my plea for that bill I asked of the Department of Revenue some necessary information which is particularly in their possession, and about a week afterwards I received a written letter, which I still have in my possession, denying me that information and telling me that I would have to obtain it through the Senate as a body.

Now, Mr. President, I would like to know who the Secretary of Revenue of this Commonwealth might be today, whether he is the same man that is advancing this ten thousand dollars to the employees of the sheriff's office of Philadelphia, or whether he is somebody else. We are entitled to have that information and I would like to have that information and I know that we will get that information if the chairman of that committee that holds that resolution—the Committee on State Government—will get to work on it and do something on the resolution.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, before we get too far advanced—I was hoping that my friend from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, would give an answer to the Senator from Montgomery—but I wish to state that the answer to his question will be found in the title of an act known as an act of June 20, 1935, pamphlet laws 356.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, the Senator from Philadelphia's interruption was most appropriate, because I was going to talk on the subject of his remarks and his remarks prefacing mine continued the continuity of the particular subject. Last night I listened to a debate on House Bill 400, Senate Bill 286, having to do with the installation of gas meters to prevent or retard the escaping of gas.

We found, after the bill was discussed for sometime, it was definitely determined that the legislature had no intention of forcing every single dwelling in the Commonwealth to install these so called gas gadgets.

I could not help but think, in listening to that particular discussion, and the one on the resolution of Senator Dent, that both of these impress upon the members of the Senate the necessity of the adoption of the bill presented in the House by Representative Lovett, House Bill No. 93, which is an act requiring the approval by the General Assembly of all rules and regulations prescribed or adopted by departments, boards, commissions and agencies of the Commonwealth; because last night we learned that rule forcing the small home owner of the Commonwealth to install gas gadgets is a departmental rule. Too often, Mr. President, the General Assembly has delegated to department heads authority in administering acts and by so doing the department heads have defeated the real intent and the real purpose of the act.

Today we learn that there was nothing in the relief bill passed in 1937 requiring the recipients of relief to sign a bond in order that they meet eligibility requirements. Again I want to repeat the necessity of curbing the power of department heads; if we are going to have included in a bill some specific provision, we do not want that provision distorted. We do not want its meaning lost by any ruling of a department head that is contrary to the intent of the General Assembly, and through discussion today and the discussion last night we learned that this rule having to do with the installation of these gas meters was not the intent of the sponsor of the bill, not the intent of the General Assembly, but an order of some department head. I think the time has come, Mr. President, when something ought to be done by a legislative act to make definitely certain that when the General Assembly breathes legislative life into some act in order to accomplish a specific purpose that the department heads who are delegated the power to administer the act shall do it in keeping with the real purpose and the real intent of the general assembly.

BILLS ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 11, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article eight of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by adding thereto section eighteen

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 18, entitled:

A Joint Resolution proposing an amendment to article four section twenty-one of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, this bill provides for the election of an attorney-general by popular vote instead of by appointment by the Governor. At least forty states in the union elect their attorney-general. It has been my observation that an attorney-general appointed by the Governor is more or less the Governor's attorney, and not attorney for the people of Pennsylvania. I feel that when bills are submitted to the attorney-general and the Governor is interested, the attorney-general quite often finds some way to declare the bill constitutional.

Perhaps that is one reason we have had so many bills declared unconstitutional when they came to the courts, and I therefore ask support of this resolution.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis is in error or he underestimates the number of states that elect their attorney-general. All but six—and we are one of the chosen six, but despite that fact, I think the gentleman is wrong and I am right.

For one hundred and fifty years, Pennsylvania has given the Governor the privilege of appointing his attorney-general and if the Senator from Allegheny does not like Mr. Margiotti, that is just an exception to the rule.

I have known two Governors at least who have chosen lawyers from their home town, in whom they had the utmost confidence and trust, and we are subjected to the possibility of getting a man elected by the people, in whom they did not have that same trust, and who would have no intimate personal relationship. Now, though I rarely read the Constitution of the State of Pennsylvania I have been able to find, with the assistance of my colleague, Mr. Ealy, from Somerset, that Page 44 of the Constitution states that the Governor shall "nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney-General during pleasure."

Mr. President, that has been the law since the Battle of Bunker Hill, and therefore I do not see why at this time we should upset a well established precedent in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I hope the Senate will defeat the bill of the Senator from Pittsburgh.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, this resolution calls to my mind an echo of the Dauphin County quiz. I was very much interested during the course of the early proceedings in that investigation to find that the District Attorney of Erie County was frequently called to Dauphin County to consult with the District Attorney of Dauphin County.

One of the conclusions that our learned District Attorney of Dauphin County came to was that the most crying need in Pennsylvania was a modification of the Constitution whereby the Attorney-General should be elected by the people rather than appointed by the Governor. At that particular time the Governor of Pennsylvania was George Earle and the District Attorney was Guy Bard, who had succeeded Mr. Margiotti.

Now, this conclusion, which was arrived at by a Republican District Attorney of Erie County, who was apparently an Assistant District Attorney of Dauphin County, was based upon an investigation carried on jointly by those two learned District Attorneys. It was a matter of comment in the newspapers of Erie County and was editorially supported by the newspapers of Erie County, and the suggestion was made very deliberately and forcibly that such a measure would be prepared by the Republican organization of Erie County and pressure placed on a Republican legislative delegation from Erie County to see that such a measure was introduced into the Republican controlled legislature at Harrisburg.

So, I think that in sponsoring this proposed amendment the Senator from Allegheny, Senator McGinnis, has the unqualified support of the Republican party organization in Erie County and of the Republican District Attorney of Erie County and the Assistant District Attorney of Dauphin County; and I should think that the Republican members would be considerably impressed by the fact that this amendment grows out of the investigations made by the honorable District Attorney of Dauphin County as assisted by his assistant the District Attorney of Erie County.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I notice the first bill we voted on, Senate Bill No. 11, came from the Judiciary General Committee. I imagine it is no secret that all of the committees are composed of a majority of Republican members of the Senate and as I look at the score here on the vote I found that the Republicans almost to a man have voted no on that bill.

I should like to inquire from the chairman of the Committee of Judiciary General, Mr. Mallery, whether this bill was voted out by the Judiciary General Committee.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, in my absence.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, in the absence of the Senator from Blair, Mr. Mallery?

Mr. MALLERY. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. SHAPIRO. But, Mr. President, that was voted out by the committee.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, that is right.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I think it is a shame that this resolution offered by my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, should be discolored by this recent political unpleasantness that took place in the Attorney General's office. I agree with my colleague from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis, that the Attorney General of the Commonwealth is, after all, the head of the Department of Justice, and he is not a personal attorney for the Governor, attached to his staff, for the purpose of advising him on legal matters; that Attorney General should represent the Commonwealth and not be clouded by any political opinions of the man who appointed him. I think the people have a right to elect that very important officer. I think this is a logical resolution, I think it should become law, and I am asking my colleague to vote for the resolution.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading,

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

A majority of all the Senators having voted "aye" the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present same to the House for concurrence.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 169, entitled:

An Act relating to parks, farms, glens, or picnic grounds owned and operated by charitable associations for the use of the public without charge; authorizing the adoption of rules and regulations pertaining to such property; providing for the appointment of park policemen for their enforcement; imposing penalties for violations thereof; and extending the jurisdiction of alderman and justices of the peace thereto.

And said bill having been read at length the third time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. CAVALCANTÉ. Mr. President, I urge the members of this Senate to give a little heed to what I have to say on this bill.

This bill gives to persons, associations, and corporations engaged in charitable purposes the power to promulgate rules and regulations, and after they have advertised them once in the local newspapers, then those rules and regulations take the force of law and a violation of them will bring about a summary conviction of the person before a justice of the peace and imprisonment if the fine and cost is not paid.

Now, Mr. President, I want to be frank in this matter. Just a moment ago, under the order of resolutions, there was some discussion about the danger and the unpleasantness that we have gone through because of conferring some power upon departments or bureaus in our State government. Now, when power of that character has been conferred upon a State department or State board or bureau or commission the argument has been that those departments or bureaus or commissions were arms of the government and therefore we are not conferring upon them or delegating to them any of our legislative power, but now, gentlemen, this bill goes a step further and confers our legislative power or delegates it to private corporations, private individuals, and they may promulgate rules and regulations that have the force of law.

I think that this is a very dangerous bill. If the bill was purely and solely aimed at giving these charitable groups what we call park police to protect their parks, to protect their properties, this bill would not be so dangerous. Of course, the argument that has been advanced by some with whom I have discussed the bill—they say, why, it will never stand in court because it is purely and simply a delegation of the legislative power to private individuals, and the argument expands itself then and the reason is that the courts have approved the delegation of such power to agencies of the government. But I say that these charitable organizations are not part of the government and that the delegation of this power to them must bring about considerable confusion and may result in many unpleasant situations throughout the State because you may find a situation where two of these charitable associations are pretty close together and in the promulgation of their rules and regulations they will devise means and ways of utilizing power conferred on them to compete against their neighbors.

This is a dangerous bill, it goes a step further than merely conferring legislative power upon branches of the government or arms of the government; it gives the power to private persons and that, I say, is a very dangerous move on the part of this Senate.

Personally, if the Supreme Court of this State would apply the law as they have already defined it to this act, this act would have to be declared unconstitutional, because it is a delegation of legislative power, but I would not want to put the Supreme Court in that position when the matter is so plain to us, and so I say that we, who are members of the legal profession, who are members of this Senate, should tackle this point right at this time, and if we are agreed upon what I have said, that this is a dangerous delegation of power and that it is not conformable with the Constitution we ought not to let the bill pass and go to the House but we ought to defeat it right now.

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I move that the question together with the further consideration of the bill be postponed for the present.

Mr. HEYBURN. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 189, (House Bill No. 211), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 450) entitled "An act permitting counties of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appropriate and expend moneys and to incur indebtedness and issue bonds and other obligations for the improvement and maintenance of State highways and State-aid highways or any public highway in any county of the Commonwealth and providing the method for applying for said moneys and for the approval thereof by the State Highway Department in certain cases" as amended by extending the provisions thereof to include the improvement and maintenance of public highways in towns.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am obliged to vote 'no' on this bill, as the application of this bill is very limited. It is limited to only one town in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Bloomsburg.

BILL ON THIRD READING AND FINAL PASSAGE

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now resume consideration of Senate Bill No. 286, (House Bill No. 400), on third reading postponed. This is a bill that I asked last week be permitted to go over in order. I have now looked the bill over carefully and I think it ought to be acted upon and passed at this time.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 111, (House Bill No. 92), entitled:

An Act to prohibit assessments and demands for contributions for political purposes and providing a penalty.

And said bill having been read at length the second time,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I move to amend Section 1, page 2, line 13, by inserting after the word "contributions" and before the word "to" the following: S "not in excess of One Thousand ($1,000.00) Dollars."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate vote down the proposed amendment to this bill.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I should like to interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. I will be glad, Mr. President, to be interrogated.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, last week I was questioned as to what was the purpose of this amendment and I say the purpose of this amendment was to restore to Pennsylvania what Lincoln said was government of the people, by the people, and for the people. Now, I will ask the Senator from Tioga to be more specific. Why is the Senator from Tioga requesting that this amendment be voted down?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask that this amendment be voted down because it seeks, as I understand it, to limit voluntary contributions to any party to one thousand dollars, and I see no reason why voluntary contributions to a party should be limited to one thousand dollars.

We have today an example in this State, Mr. President, of people on relief, people merely existing on W. P. A., people living on a meagre salary, being maced to maintain political parties; and one of the pledges of the Republican party was to put an end to that practice and to see that the necessary finances to run a political party are obtained by voluntary contributions.

I think we will all recall, Mr. President, the huge contributions made by former Governor Earle in his campaign for the Governorship; it was freely stated that he contributed something over one hundred thousand dollars to the Gubernatorial campaign. It was also stated that it was his contributions to the national campaign in 1932 that won him his appointment as ambassador to one of the foreign countries.

Pennsylvania would not, perhaps, have had the services of Governor Earle had it not been for the fact that he could make a contribution of more than one thousand dollars.

I do not believe my colleagues on the left want to prevent such a situation arising again.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I should like to inquire whether the Senator from Tioga has read the book entitled "Money in Politics"?

Mr. OWLETT. No, Mr. President, I have not; but I will be very glad to read it if I have the time from the speeches of my colleagues on the left.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I shall be glad to place the book at the disposal of the Senator from Tioga. Another question I have is whether the Senator today thinks money is necessary in politics. As a matter of fact, are not the people fully attuned to the question of liberty? I do not believe money is a necessary part of it.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, anyone that has had anything to do with a State-wide campaign, and knows the cost of radio and advertising, knows that the legitimate expense of getting before the people the issues of a campaign takes money; and if we are going to put an end to political macing, as the Republican party proposes to do and as our platform pledged, that money must come from voluntary contributions. This act is designed to stop political macing and we do not propose to have dust thrown in the eyes of people by any sort of amendments such as has been offered by the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Stiefel.

It is perhaps too bad for our colleagues on the left that macing will be stopped in Pennsylvania by this bill. I appreciate their concern, because they have a great many federal employees in Pennsylvania who heretofore have been the source of revenue for their party and it will be ended if this bill passes.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, as a matter of fact is not the sum of a thousand dollars a high ceiling?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, it is a big amount. A thousand dollars is a lot of money—if I was asked to contribute it—but there certainly are people who can afford and are willing to give more than a thousand dollars, as evidenced by the liberal contributions of the Earle family and Senator Guffy and many others who contributed to the Democratic cause and by many contributors to the Republican party.

John L. Lewis, you will recall, made a tremendously large contribution on the part of the United Mine Workers to the Democratic cause in the last campaign. We do not want to stop Mr. Lewis from giving a thousand dollars or more money to the Democratic cause if he wants to do that.

Mr. STEIFEL. Mr. President, I very seldom enjoy the privilege of questioning the Senator from Tioga, so I wish to ask the Senator from Tioga another question: Does the Senator believe there is sincerity behind this bill?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator to repeat his question?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, does the Senator believe there is any sincerity on the part of his party behind this bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, does the Senator mean on behalf of the Republican party?

Mr. STIEFEL. Precisely, Mr. President.

Mr. OWLETT. The Republican party, Mr. President, campaigned on the pledge of no political macing, which became a public scandal in this State; and this bill has been introduced seriously and earnestly to prevent that practice in this State; it has passed the House and it is now here in the Senate for action.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am voting "No" on this amendment of my colleague because it would be ineffective. I know that if Mr. Joseph Pew and I wanted to further the campaign of my friend, Senator Stiefel, by contributing to his political campaign, all we would have to do to avoid this amendment would be to loan him the money, loan him the many thousands of dollars which would elect him United States Senator; and then, in the process of time, when he did not repay the loan, we would write it off as a bad debt and take credit on our income tax returns.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I am very much interested in the statement that the Senator from Tioga made when he said that it was freely stated that Governor Earle gave a hundred thousand dollars—and I agree with him it was very freely stated—because that is only a figment in the imagination of the gentlemen who would like to say that.

I do not know anybody that got a hundred thousand dollars out of Governor Earle, as a contribution, but I am amazed that the Senator from Tioga did not have his tongue in his cheek when he talked about this bill. He might have had, as my friend from Adams said, he might have had his fingers crossed, I don't know, while he was talking about this bill that is in course of passage, talking about macing.

Macing is going on in the City of Philadelphia as it has been going on before. Every month when a gentleman gets his check from a certain office, his pay from a certain office in the City of Philadelphia, there is a little window where he goes for his check and the three per cent or two per cent is deducted regularly—it is a voluntary contribution, but I would like to see him try not to give it.

The news that I gathered from the Senator's statement is that by passing this law you stop macing. This bill does not stop macing; this bill provides that no money shall be "demanded." Now you may go to these same people and suggest to them it would be well for them to contribute to the Republican party; it would help. For instance, the people on relief, if you suggest to them that it might be well to keep the Republican party in office by giving a contribution, a voluntary contribution, they would not say that that was a demand because they realize there are certain bills in the Legislature now which extend the time of the probationary period after taking the Civil Service examinations, and I am sure that before we get through this session this bill will be passed—it will be passed before the November election—when these people can be fired for any cause; and if they were told it would be well if they contributed they would not go back and say that that was macing; but if the Democrats came and asked them for a contribution then in order to keep the job they could easily go back to their boss and say "A Democrat—(just think of it, one of those animals called a Democrat)—came and demanded that I give him ten dollars," and, of course that would be a crime.

This is not a bill to stop macing; this is a bill to try in every way possible to get the people of Pennsylvania to contribute to the Republican party instead of the Democratic party. The word "demand"—the use of the word "demand" shows that. I don't blame the Republicans for doing that. That is all right, that is part of the game; but why fool about it? Why not tell the truth about this thing?

This is a bill which will give the money to the Republicans and not to the Democrats, and I assume from the way the Republicans are behaving in the Senate and the marvelous amount of progressive legislation that has been passed until now, they will need all the money they can get in order to win another election in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; so I think they are entitled to have this bill passed. I do not agree that this bill is going to stop macing. This bill is going to stop Democratic macing, if there was any, and encourage Republican macing, if it has not happened before.

I have been in the Republican party for a great many years but I can say I would have to have my tongue in my cheek if I would stand up here and say that the Republican party has never demanded contributions; and I imagine the same thing can be said of the Democrats, I am quite sure various contributions were demanded—but I am over twenty-one, gentlemen, and I am not fooled by this bill, and Governor or no Governor, Republican party or no Republican party, this is not a bill passed in good faith to stop macing. This is a bill passed for the purpose of harassing the Democratic party.

The amendment is a fine amendment. The amendment is a good amendment; it limits contributions to one thousand dollars; and it will make those people who want to make contributions—they will have to be smaller—instead of giving five times five thousand, using names of members of their family, they will either have to hire more children and distribute amongst twenty-five people, or else they will have to confine their contributions to a smaller amount.

It would be a good thing for both the Democratic and Republican parties and the people of Pennsylvania if contributions were limited. If what the Senator from Tioga said were true—and there is not any truth in it; but there are possibilities—if what he said were true, that Governor Earle gave a hundred thousand dollars, then it is high time we stopped that practice and prevented anybody from buying an election or nomination to office; and the gentleman on the other side, having asumed they are paragons of virtue, should vote for this amendment.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I rise as an individual to correct a false impression that might have been created by the remarks of the Senator from Tioga. In his remarks he said it would be all right for Senator Guffey to contribute a considerable sum to the Democratic party. I say to you, Mr. President, if there is any contribution that should be acknowledged by any party, so far as the past campaign is concerned, acknowledgement of any contribution on the part of Senator Guffey, it should be found in the Republican expense account.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I want to summarize my remarks by quoting from Omar Khayam, who said: "The writing finger moves; and having writ, moves on."

Now, Mr. President, we are making history today and it is the moving finger that I am pointing at the Republican party—that if they pass this so-called anti-macing bill it will be repudiation number two of the promises made during the campaign, number one of which was in regard to the high taxes in Pennsylvania, which they are seeking to restore; and today, if this amendment is defeated, we will chalk off number two as a result of the repudiation made by this Administration.

Mr. WALKER. I am very deeply interested in this amendment. It is true, as the distinguished Senator from Tioga said, we did promise in our campaign to eliminate macing. Macing, as I understand it, is a deliberate demand or insistence upon contributions from people who perhaps are not able or cannot afford to pay. When we go out through our districts on a charity drive we are always interested and anxious to solicit subscriptions of fifty cents or a dollar, from some person who perhaps cannot give any more for our Community chest but from those who perhaps are more favored with worldly goods we solicit perhaps a thousand dollars.

I am very much against the amendment offered by the distinguished Senator from Philadelphia because I have had some experience and it is very fresh in my mind as to the expenses of a campaign, even in a Senatorial district in this Commonwealth; and any time anybody blessed with worldly goods wants to contribute more than a thousand dollars I am perfectly willing and will welcome gladly any such contributions, and down in their hearts so will the other Senators; and I think it is about time we resorted to some of the intellectual honesty we have heard about at various times in here and admit that people who are blessed and desire to contribute should have the opportunity to do so—they are contributing to the Community Chest for the benefit of our social life and they are contributing to the political chest for the benefit of our better government, and I think we ought to give them the opportunity to do so, and that is the reason I think we should defeat this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I was glad to hear the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, and the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Walker, state that they would accept contributions and that it took a lot of money to win elections; and, resorting to the intellectual honesty we heard so much about, perhaps our good friend and colleague,

Mr. Levin, will receive fair consideration, because the amount he spent, I think, was $1.80 one night.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading?

Mr. REED. Mr. President, I move to amend Section 1, page 2, line 15, by inserting at the end thereof after the word "law" the following: "but all political loans of every nature and kind in excess of one thousand dollars ($1000) shall be considered a violation of this Act and the parties thereto subject to the penalties provided herein."

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object, and I ask the Senate to vote down this amendment.

Mr. REED. Mr. President, as I understand it, a macing bill—the purpose of it—is to give the people a better form of government. Now, starting from that premise, any rule or regulation that has to do with bringing about better or cleaner elections should be considered by the Assembly and passed. I am sorry that the amendment presented by the Senator from Philadelphia was voted down, because I believe that amendment was in line with the policy of our American form of government which provides that the welfare of the people is the foundation of a democratic form of government.

Now, any form of macing is bad; I would be against any form of macing, I always have been and I always will be, because any form of macing is inimical to good government; but that will not suffice to break down these evils that surround us in elections in Pennsylvania—you have got to go farther, Mr. President. If you permit large sums of money to be used in elections, then you will not have candidates elected who will do the will of all the people; you will have candidates elected who will do the will of those who buy them into office. We have had many instances of that, Mr. President, in the United States in the last twenty-five years; and in order to get away from that practice many federal investigations have been had in the past, and I suppose we will have some yet in the future.

Now, if we would permit large sums of money to be used I say you are not following up the precepts of a democratic form of government, because the man with the money can easily win an election; but suppose he cannot obtain that money by gift or by advance, then here is what happens—and many of our politicians know this too well—some person who has money and is interested in legislation in the State goes to a certain candidate, goes to a certain person and requests him to be a candidate, telling him at the time, "We will furnish you with the money if "You do what we want you to do if you are elected." I am sorry, Mr. President, that in Pennsylvania we have had these sad experiences. And what happens in those cases? A phony loan is prepared, and then, if the candidate is elected, then the loan is canceled, it is not any loan at all, it is a fraud upon the people; and that is the purpose of this resolution, Mr. President—in order to break down that fraudulent and nefarious practice.

Mr. President, I believe if the people of Pennsylvania want a real law that will take care of the people of Pennsylvania by giving them clean elections, then you must have in this bill not only an anti-macing feature, but you must have in it a feature which will prevent the large contributions; you must have in that measure a provision that will prevent this ugly system of phony loans and borrowing, and without those things this bill that we have up today means little; and I sincerely hope that those who are interested in good, honest, clean elections will stand with me and pass this amendment to this bill.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, since the expression intellectual honesty has been used by a member of the Republican party at this session they have always turned to me and then let the words flow rippingly off of the tongue.

Now, then, I appeal to them, if they are sincere about their intellectual honesty, to just bear a moment and weigh this amendment, not merely act upon it arbitrarily and merely as a response to their party spirit or their party loyalty, but weigh this amendment.

The amendment merely provides that if a candidate for office borrows more than a thousand dollars to wage his campaign it is a violation of this anti-macing bill. Now then, having the right to be intellectually honest with yourselves tell yourselves how a man can sit on this Senate floor, who was elected by a loan of eight or ten thousand dollars from someone and is finally elected and sitting here on the floor of this Senate making laws. For whom? Do you think that his mind will be swayed toward the interests of the individual that has loaned him this eight or ten thousand dollars, or would he be more intellectually keen to pass laws for the welfare of all the people, if those laws do mean some disadvantage to the man who has loaned him this vast sum of money?

Now, be intellectually honest. I agree with the Senator from Philadelphia that we ought to tell the truth; you ought not to hide behind any screen, even the gentleman from Philadelphia, Dr. Woodward, he too ought to manifest his intellectual honesty in this manner—he may have more money than many of us here on the floor of this Senate, but he ought to use it also with due regard to some intellectual honesty.

If the truth behind this bill were known here is what you would find: this Republican party, politically controlled, has back in its mind, designed one of the greatest political machines we have ever had in this State. They are going to outdo any Penrose or any Mat Quay or any other organization that has ever preceded it in this Commonwealth. They are not going to need any money. They are not going to need the money because now, through their Department of Public Assistance, they do not have to mace the poor man way down below on relief, because they are going to put over his head a judgment note that the ward heeler and thief and rascal who is politically minded can very handily go to this poor man that is on relief or on WPA or on Highway work and tell him, "Brother, do not forget there is a judgment note down at Harrisburg against you; you better be nice to the people that have that judgment note in their hands and who can enforce it against you."

Yes, my friends, behind all this nefarious scheme there is no need of contributions or macing to the Republican party or by the Republican party. You have that well-greased, well-oiled scheme, and you are attempting to put it over on the people of this Commonwealth and to further your scheme; and as a further demonstration of your scheme you have piece of legislation after piece of legislation in both houses of this Assembly to rip out boards or commissions that you cannot bend to your wishes; you have bills to rip out in the Auditor General's Department positions that have been there and were put there by the Republican party, but because you cannot control them today you are going to rip them out and put them in a department that you can control.

Another evidence of the perfidy and the lack of intellectual honesty in you gentlemen who would call yourselves good citizens—you are not good citizens, you are more pettifogging politicians than sincere men with their sincerity, intellectually guided for the welfare of the people of this Commonwealth.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, may I ask the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, a question or two, please?

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Fayette permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I want the Senator from Fayette to remember he is sworn to answer this with intellectual honesty.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Yes or no, Mr. President?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, does the Senator from Fayette believe in labor unions?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I do in honest, well-controlled and regulated labor unions.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, does the Senator from Fayette believe in the closed shop?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I believe in the closed shop.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, does the Senator from Fayette believe in the check-off?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I believe in the check-off.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, does the Senator from Fayette think it is right for John L. Lewis to check-off from the Republicans in the United Mine Workers and spend the money for the election of a Democratic President?

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, it is right if the man wishes to pay the check-off. And may I further enlighten you on this subject, Dr. Woodward, that they, the gentlemen who control the industries that you are so keen in defending, these people who do not believe in the closed shop, who do not believe in organized unions, they will not permit the check-off unless the working man himself has, over his signature, given the employer the authority to do that checking-off.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, on December 1, 1936, Governor Earle summoned the General Assembly into extraordinary session for the purpose of enacting legislation having to do with job insurance. Last year the leaders of the Democratic party heralded that particular adoption of a bill as a great legislative achievement, but as a member of the Democratic party I want to emphatically deny that the credit for job insurance belongs to the Democratic Party—job insurance was born and conceived in the Republican party many years before the Democrats came into power, in the form of political assessments during campaigns.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, being a farmer, and a milk producing farmer, and realizing that farmers do not have much money and that before long the milk producing farmers of my district will all be on relief, I am very much for this amendment, because I feel that it will be a protection to us farmers. We farmers, even if we were dishonest enough to make a loan of eight thousand dollars to some gentleman who ran for the Senate or Legislature to represent us, even if we were so inclined, we do not have the money to loan, so that we are in this position—that the milk trust, which is driving us to distraction and driving us to bankruptcy, does have the money to make fictitious loans to individuals running for office, who, when elected, send us into bankruptcy.

So, speaking for the farmers, I want to say that I am strongly for the amendment, I hope that all of us on both sides will have enough intellectual honesty to vote for the amendment, and I am sorry, Mr. President, that our friend from Tioga seemed to have such a good recollection as to the huge sums contributed by the Democrats to the political campaign when they were seeking office or even when they were not, but his memory seems to be a little short as to the large contributions given to the Republican party by outstanding Republican financiers.

Mr. McGINNIS. Mr. President, I am very much pleased at the concern that the Republican side of this Senate is evincing for the man on the payroll. To me the word macing has taken on a new meaning. I have lived a number of years in this State and I have watched campaign collections. I have watched Penrose, Quay, Fisher, Pinchot, and I say to you they were very slick, sly collectors. In those days that was merely a campaign contribution, but when the Democrats happened to take over the State anything that was done to collect a penny from anybody was macing.

If this bill is to protect the man on the payroll, well and good; but I say to you that four years ago when the Democrats took over the government of this Commonwealth there was not a single person under civil service in this State. It is true that under the Pinchot administration they did require the employees of the Liquor Control Board to take an examination—competitive and perhaps all right, but that was the end of it. After those twenty-five hundred employees got in under the examination they were not then under civil service and not protected for a single day.

In the Unemployment Compensation Department our Administration put seven thousand people under civil service in this State, but I want to say right now that there is a lot of discussion about these examinations. I want to say on this floor if ever there was an honest examination conducted by the people it was that one—the Democrats had nothing to do with it; it was those examinations and the people who passed those examinations—the Democratic organization does not know five per cent of them; so that, ninety-five per cent of those on unemployment compensation that passed that examination the Democratic party or the Democratic organization does not know them. They got in there through their brains, and through an examination that was an honest examination, a square examination.

I will say the same about the Bureau of Assistance—four thousand protected by civil service. In other words, this administration, that we hear so much about, now, macing, did go to the extent of putting fourteen thousand employees of this State under a bona-fide civil service. Now, it may be that the social worker came in; it may be that he had something to do with those examinations; he might have had some trick question in there; and it may be a lot of social workers passed those examinations; but I say to you they were not Democrats or Democratic workers. And take the other payroll—I don't know what the figures are—perhaps seven or ten thousand dollars—I say to you that our administration for four years left one-third of them on the payroll, and they are on the payroll now unless our good friend, Governor James, has kicked them out. So, when you come to criticizing and start investigations and introduce bills at how our Administration treated the men on the payroll, I want merely to call these things to your attention.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I take it the fact that contributions—political contributions—to any party are made on the basis, first, of some improvement that the individual may receive by some principle laid down in the party platform, or it may be more selfish, the individual may contribute because he thinks he is going to better his own personal conditions, or who may, as my colleague from Lackawanna has said, he may be taking a job insurance; but, in order to understand this bill and some of its unfair implications thoroughly, one has to understand that the Democratic party as constituted has always been a party of common people and therefore has no one to look to for its contributions but the average poor fellow in the street. When this gentleman in the Democratic party seems to collect or to receive contributions then it is dubbed under the name of macing.

Now, if we proportion the thing on the basis of men who contribute or individuals who contribute for favors rendered or for conditions to come about, that will improve conditions, it is no wonder I am forced for the first time to agree with the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, that he is correct and he is intellectually honest in saying that this should not be limited in order that the great party of which he is a member might be helped on the way, because naturally the Republican party would look to those gentlemen of wealth and affluence for their contributions, and it would be a shame, a very, very shameful thing to not have each pay in proportion to the favors they expect to receive; and I assure the Senator from up there that if these gentlemen of special interests and wealth pay in the proportion that they will receive favors from the Republican party, a thousand dollars is a very very low limit.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am somewhat embarrassed to again have to correct my distinguished colleague from Allegheny, Mr. McGinnis. The first correction is very trivial, there are fifteen thousand members, not fourteen thousand, in the civil service in Pennsylvania. I would like to say that of my slight knowledge I have no criticism of the civil service in the liquor stores, it is supposed to be A-1; also in the Department of Public Assistance, under the chairmanship of Shippen Lewis, it was very fine; but the weak spot is under Secretary Bashore, Secretary of Labor and Industry.

Now, I cannot give you the exact figures—I have been trying to find them but I cannot place my hands on them—but I know that in Philadelphia there are thirteen hundred political divisions and you will find, and I will give you the figures, that there are several hundred Democratic division leaders employed by the Department of Labor and Industry in the unemployment compensation division in Philadelphia. Now, either the Democratic division leaders in Pennsylvania are a very high type of men, who have passed the examination, or it may be only coincidence, but it is a fact.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Senator from Philadelphia a question.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Philadelphia permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, were these employees there previously as provisional appointees, that were retained by the civil service later?

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, Mr. Bashore found them a good deal smarter than the Republicans—they were provisional appointees retained by the Department of Labor and Industry.

Mr. MCGINNIS. Mr. President, I would like to have that data.

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I will do my best to get the exact figures. I can get them.

Mr. GILSON. Mr. President, this reminds me a great deal of the prohibition amendment, it looks to me as if this is another "noble experiment" which will probably terminate after a demonstration of its futility. I believe that the principle of this bill is fundamentally good, but I think its provisions come far from accomplishing that principle.

In the first place, I think it should, in order to be effective, direct part of its provisions against the employees from contributing as well as against the political organization from demanding.

It should also provide a penalty for receiving such contributions from any State or municipal employee. I think that if what the actual thing to be desired here is to prevent the municipal and State employee from being compelled, either directly or indirectly, to contribute to any political campaign—if that is the purpose of the bill, it ought to say so amply and sufficiently, so that you cannot induce by any possible means a contribution out of anybody who holds an office under the State under a municipality, and unless the bill contains those provisions it seems to me that it is a mere excuse, and is the product of a desire to satisfy a certain demand instead of being sincere.

Now, I am rather interested about the limitation of the campaign contribution. I appreciate the motive behind both these proposed amendments by the Senator from Philadelphia and the Senator from Washington.

I doubt very much whether by legislation you can eradicate something that is bound to occur by subterfuge. I think it would be a fine thing if large political contributions could be prohibited, but I doubt very much whether limitation of the amount, whether a thousand dollars or fifteen hundred dollars or five thousand dollars, will secure the object that this amendment desires to secure. I voted against the amendment by the Senator from Philadelphia County. Since listening to my colleagues on this side of the house, as a matter of courtesy to them, I am inclined to vote for the amendment of the Senator from Washington County, knowing full well that if this amendment should be adopted, and if this Act should be passed, that we will be absolutely no further along in accomplishing the object which the Act proposes; you will still have under this Act macing just as you had it before—you will have still, under this Act, even if these amendments are adopted, contributions of a amount that you are able to persuade somebody to give.

I think that this Legislature should purge itself of the charge of insincerity on a large part of the legislation which emanates from this body; I think the way to do it is to write this Act to accomplish the purpose for which it is evidently intended.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, out in Indiana County we are more concerned with demands that are being made on the WPA workers to pay for the last campaign of the Democratic Party. They are still collecting for the picnic at Hershey. I have in my hand a letter which I would like to have read into the record. This is dated March 8, 1939, and is as follows:

Indiana, Pa.

Dear Sir:—

Please send me the $5.00 you owe me for tickets you bought last August. You have promised me a number of times. But as yet I haven't received it. I will expect the money on Saturday. Not later than Monday.

Very truly yours,

And that was sent by a WPA foreman to a Republican on WPA at $49.00 a week, and it is sworn to.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would like to know when.

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, on March 8th. If that is not macing I do not know what it is. They talk about not getting contributions from people well able to contribute. Those are not the people that suffer, it is the WPA worker; and they are still at it, and we cannot get an honest investigation and we never will until we get down to facts.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. SHAPIRO.

So the question was determined in the negative.

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, in line with the suggestion that has already been made by the Senator from Erie, I am about to offer an amendment as follows:

Strike out the word "demand" in Section 1, line 4, and insert, in lieu thereof, the words "or receive."

I believe that slight change will materially strengthen this bill, and will go a long way in making it a real anti-macing bill.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, it has now become very apparent what the tactics are with respect to this bill and I ask that the Senate vote down this amendment as they have all the others.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, will the Senator from Tioga tell us what he understands this amendment will do to the bill?

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I have not read the whole bill in connection with this amendment; but I am satisfied that the purpose is to emasculate it, and I, therefore, ask that the Senate vote it down.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, now that the question turns on the word "demand" I want to dedicate this little poem that I just wrote to the intention of the Republican Party:

"Macing, macing, we're against it
Job-holders know we never meant it,
Give "demand" a little quirk
Give, if you expect to work."

Mr. WOODWARD. Mr. President, I am sorry to delay the matter but I simply want to ask the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Kunkel, what he expects to gain by changing the word from "demand" to "receive?" I would like to be fair in my vote but I contend I do not understand his argument here.

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, my idea is that this Act declares unlawful the demanding of money for political purposes and it does not specify what a demand amounts to. 'Demand' means merely an attempt to get the money for political purposes. It seems to me that the bill is very greatly strengthened. Instead of talking about an attempt or effort you talk about actually getting the money, and it makes it a crime, clearly and unequivocally, to receive this money. Therefore, to substitute the word "receive" for "demand," my argument is that it very clearly and unquestionably strengthens the bill as an anti-macing bill.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I think the change of the word from "receive" to "demand" makes a bill out of this and not a joke. I think when you provide in a bill that you shall not demand contributions you are not saying anything at all. The purpose of this bill was to prevent receiving contributions from people employed on WPA, or other projects, other relief workers. It is idle to simply say it is unlawful to demand it. What you mean, if you are honest about it, if you are going to carry it to a logical conclusion, is that you must not receive it. Just as I say when the Democrats are in power, that when they get a contribution, they say they "receive" it. This bill is ridiculous. Now, joking aside, let's look at it seriously. Since it is made a crime, who is going to say it was demanded if they gave it? In other words, if a person is giving it because he thinks it is best to give it and when you talk about "demands" as being a crime, it is nonsensical.

Now, if you gentlemen on the other side are sincere, and if the Senator from Tioga, particularly, who seems to know so much about the workings of the WPA, about this depredation of the poor people, if he is really sincere, then he should not object to the substitution of the word "receive." I say to the Senator from Tioga, when you are talking about "demands" you do not mean receiving is a crime, but you mean to demand is a crime, and you make it impossible to prove the crime by using the word "demand."

Take a dictionary—look in your dictionary and see what the word "demand" really means. Anybody that receives any contribution from any of those people ought to be convicted of a crime. The person who is on relief is a subject of the State; and the money he gets is supposed to be used for himself and his family. I am heartily in accord with the proposition you should not receive any money from those people, but I am opposed to this nonsensical attempt to try to fool the people and say you are trying to stop macing. You are not trying to do that at all.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, this amendment, when read carefully in connection with this Act, shows just exactly what is being attempted to be done with this bill. If that amendment were inserted in this bill, I submit there is not a single member of this Senate who would be able to contribute to his own campaign or political party which supported him.

There is no public officer of this State who could make any contributions to the Republican party or the Democratic party because if they did the person who received it would be guilty of a crime.

Now, if the idea of our colleagues on the left is to kill this bill or to out-stay us, I want to serve notice that we are going to stay here and pass this bill on second reading as it is.

This bill, as I said before—which I know pinches our colleagues on the left—is a bill our colleagues on the left are very much opposed to; and, as Senator Wolfenden pointed out, they are now collecting money on their past debts. Let's kill this amendment as we did all the others.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, without referring to the dictionary, as suggested by our colleague, Senator Shapiro, I want to say that I do not blame our Democratic colleagues one bit for taking the attitude and stand they are taking. They want to protect their friends, undoubtedly, and so they want to change the word "demand" to "receive," so, in all probability, thousands of their friends can continue doing the things done by the WPA foreman recited in the letter read by Senator Wolfenden—because even that is just a demand—and as long as the money does not come through they cannot be prosecuted. That shows how ridiculous the stand taken by the Democrats on this proposed amendment is, because they are just trying to fool the public. Instead of making the bill stronger it makes it weaker.

Under the bill, as it stands now, if an individual does what was done by this WPA foreman, he can be prosecuted without his ever receiving the money. But, if the amendment is passed, then so long as he just demands and puts the screws on and does not get the money, he cannot be prosecuted.

Now, let's stop this fooling; let's give the people that to which they are entitled, and pass this anti-macing law, so that no poor individual on relief, WPA, and poor working people who cannot afford to contribute to campaigns, will be protected. I don't know why the Democrats need to be so worried about people who are a little more affluent and who can afford to make contributions. They don't need protection. They can protect themselves; but let's give the poor people the protection to which they are entitled.

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, I desire to know whether the Senator from Allegheny would object to the amendment if it would retain the word "demand" and add also "or receive"? I am sure I would be satisfied with an amendment to that effect, which, of course, would justify the good faith of those of us on this side of the house—and I believe all of you here would agree to include both words in there.

Certainly the addition of the word "receive" would strengthen the bill, and as to the objection to the elimination of the word "demand," we will agree by allowing that word to remain.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I don't know whether the Senator from Dauphin wants an answer to that question or not. He started out in question and then made a speech; but if he wants an answer I will be glad to give him one, and say that I am heartily in favor of the anti-macing bill as it now stands, because it will give the protection, and the proper protection, to the people of this Commonwealth who are entitled to that protection.

Now, let me say, if I may, in addition to that, that I am inclined to think the Republicans owe the Democrats a vote of thanks for this afternoon. Senator Haluska and Senator Cavalcante gave us some good ideas in connection with the way politics should be worked; and the reason we appreciate that is simply this: Republican minds could not conceive of ideas so low as those suggested. It takes a unique type of mind, a new type of Democratic mind, to conceive of such activity; and then we have an old time Democrat—our good friend and colleague, Senator McGinnis, who wants to show how fine these Republican leaders have been and how they have put the screws on. In order for him to get a group of such leaders, amounting to four or five, he had to go back over a great period of years.

Now, I imagine the citizens of this Commonwealth would be glad and will be glad to know that this Democratic party produced in a mere three or four years a greater number than that which Senator McGinnis could call to his mind, with such individuals as Matt McCloskey, Jack Kelley, George Earle and Joe Guffey; and, well, you could go on for quite a while. Of course, that does show the Republicans up because it took them thirty or forty years in order to build up to the point that their Democratic colleagues reached in a matter of three or four years.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny referred to me as committing a crime by making some remarks. If my memory serves me right, I have had to sit still all afternoon. I would like to have the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, state what remarks I made. Will he answer that question?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, may I ask a question? Will the Senator from Cambria repeat his inquiry?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, the Senator from Allegheny County referred to Senator Haluska making some remarks pertaining to the issue. If my memory serves me right, I have not said a word pertaining to this issue.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, does the Senator from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, say that he did not say a word?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, pertaining to this measure.

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, well, that may be my error; but I understood the Senator from Cambria to say that many of his constituents were being advised that the reason they had to sign bonds was because the Democrats passed such a bill.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, does the Senator from Allegheny think that I said that?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, if the Senator from Cambria did not say that, I apologize. Maybe it was someone else.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, this last demonstration is just a very lucid answer to just the state of mind of the other side. Mr. President, the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, has stated—I don't know whether he meant them as tulips, or whether he meant them as thorns—that we made some very good remarks; but I am satisfied that no matter how good the remarks were, how honestly and sincerely made, and how fairly sound they are, when you hurl them at a gentleman from Allegheny, it is just like pouring water on a duck's back.

So impervious is the mind that is politically inclined and politically biased. A mind of that kind cannot be penetrated by any reason or by any intellectual honesty.

Now, to illustrate the fallacy of the gentleman's position, he has cited the case here given to us by the Senator from Indiana, Mr. Wolfenden. Now, Mr. President, if there is sincerity behind the Republican side's motive in this bill, I appeal again to that thing we refer to as intellectual honesty. Is it not intellectual honesty for us to say here today that if the case cited by the gentleman from Indiana is wrong, then we ought to in this bill so state the law that it will prevent that WPA foreman from receiving that five dollars. Does the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, believe that this five dollars should be received? Now, the demand was made and this Act of Assembly can never reach the demand and make it unlawful, as the demand was made a long time ago. However, the money is still due; and the only sin committed by that labor foreman, that I see, speaking politically with a mind as impervious as the minds on the other side, I would say the WPA foreman made the biggest mistake when he left that Republican on the job; but the trouble is that the Democratic mind is not so inclined and is not impervious as to what is just and honorable. That Republican is still on the WPA and will continue to be there, despite the fact that you Republicans have no control over that set-up.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I would like to interrogate the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I will.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, will the Senator from Allegheny answer me—I listened very carefully to his classification of new and old Democrats.

For my information will the Senator from Allegheny tell me in what classification he places the newest addition to the Democratic minority on this side, Senator Buckman?

Mr. GELTZ. Mr. President, I give up.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, I smile a sardonic smile when I hear the wonderful amount of pity coming from the Republican side for the poor fellow on WPA. They are dealing with a most generous hand when they deal out pity for the WPA worker now; but it is only a few years ago when they dealt with a most niggardly hand in handing out any sympathy for the WPA worker.

They referred to him as scum and as a shovel-leaner. He was leaning on his shovel; but a change came about—a change came about in the attitude of the Republican party to the WPA worker when their candidate for Governor last year became Pennsylvania's No. 1 shovel-leaner, to the tune of fifteen hundred dollars a month.

A few months ago on the floor of this Senate I called him Pennsylvania's No. 1 office-holding drone, based on the record. Some have said to me that I should have not conferred that title upon him, should not have conferred upon him that degree of Pennsylvania's No. 1 office holding drone. Now I say, if he did not earn that degree, if he did not earn that title by ten months of loafing on the job, then how long ought he to have loafed in order to earn it?

So Arthur James is responsible for this change—for this change of attitude—

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his point of order.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the Senator from Armstrong is not talking on the amendment.

The PRESIDENT. I think the point of order is well taken.

Will the Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, confine his remarks to the amendment?

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, very well, I will talk on it under a question of personal privilege—if your honor permits.

The PRESIDENT. That is out of order.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, then do I have the privilege of talking on it under personal privilege?

The PRESIDENT. No, the Senator does not have. The Senator from Armstrong, Mr. Sipe, has been recognized to discuss the amendment suggested by the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Kunkel.

Mr. SIPE. Mr. President, well, I have expressed myself on the amendment, so, at a later date I will continue the rest of my lecture on the No. 1 shovel-handle leaner of Pennsylvania.

Mr. KUNKEL. Mr. President, I would like to meet the objections to my amendment that have been made by the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz, and I would like permission to substitute this amendment in place of the amendment I have already sent to the desk. This amendment inserts after the word "demand" the following: "or receive." That includes both "demand" and "receive" and meets the objection of the Senator from Allegheny, Mr. Geltz.

The PRESIDENT. I understand that the Senator from Dauphin, Mr. Kunkel, wishes to withdraw his first amendment and substitute a second.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. CAVALCANTE.

YEAS—23

Cavalcante,	Geltz,	Kunkel,	Rice,
Coleman,	Gilson,	Lanius,	Ruth,
Dent,	Haluska,	McCreesh,	Shapiro,
DiSilvestro,	Heyburn,	McGinnis,	Sipe,
Eroe,	Jaspan,	Mundy,	Stiefel,

NAYS—24

Bartlett,	Farrell,	Miller,	Tallman,
Chapman,	Gelder,	Owlett,	Thomas,
Crowe,	Homsher,	Pierson,	Walker,
Dietrick,	James,	Scarlett,	Wolfenden,
Ealy,	Letzler,	Snowden,	Woodward,
Edmonds,	Mallery,	Stevenson,	Chairman

So the question was determined in the negative.

The PRESIDENT. The roll has been called and the result announced by the Clerk is as follows: yeas 23, nays 23. There being a tie the Chair votes nay, and the question is determined in the negative.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to inquire how I am recorded as voting?

The PRESIDENT. The Senator is not recorded as voting.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDENT. It is so noted.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I ask for a verification of the roll.

The PRESIDENT. The roll was verified and read as follows:

The Senators voting "aye" were Messrs. Cavalcante, Coleman, Dent, DiSilvestro, Eroee, Frey, Geltz, Gilson, Haluska, Heyburn, Jaspan, Kilgallen, Kunkel, Lanius, McCreesh, McGinnis, Mundy, Reed, Rice, Ruth, Shapiro, Sipe and Stiefel.

The Senators voting "nay" were Messrs. Bartlett, Chapman, Crowe, Dietrick, Ealy, Edmonds, Farrell, Gelder, Homsher, James, Letzler, Mallery, Miller, Owlett, Pierson, Scarlett, Snowden, Stevenson, Tallman, Thomas, Walker, Wolfenden and Woodward.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I desire to inquire how the Senator from Cumberland, Mr. Jacobs, voted?

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, he voted "aye."

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not so understand. The vote on the adoption of the amend is yeas, 23 nays 23; and the Chairman votes "nay."

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, my figures may be wrong but I counted 24 votes.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair does not wish there to be any doubt as to the roll call.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I would suggest that we have the roll call verified.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I move that the roll be called again.

The Chair so rules.

The roll was re-verified as follows:

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, after an affirmative vote is called and before the nays are called there ought to be a confirmation of the roll. If that had been done the last time this difficulty would not have arisen.

Mr. President, I now ask that the affirmative vote be now confirmed before you proceed to call the negative.

The PRESIDENT. That is just what the Chair meant. We have just verified the nays.

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, will state his point of order.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, the roll has been verified and the President has so announced.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, he has not.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I submit that the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante is all aflutter.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, he is not.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Fayette, the Chair announces the vote. And in order to show that we want to be fair, we asked for a verification, which was permitted and has been done.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Tioga, Mr. Owlett, state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I desire to inquire whether or not the affirmative roll has not been verified.

The PRESIDENT. The Chair rules that it has. The Clerk will now proceed with the verification of the negative vote.

The Senators voting "nay" are Messrs. Bartlett, Chapman, Crowe, Dietrick, Ealy, Edmonds, Farrell, Gelder, Homsher, James, Letzler, Mallery, Miller, Owlett, Pierson, Scarlett, Snowden, Stevenson, Tallman, Thomas, Walker, Wolfenden and Woodward, and the President.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. The Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, if the affirmative vote was verified after the conclusion of this reading, why was it not verified when it was read the first time? If the Chair will recall both votes were called the last time.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Fayette, it was.

QUESTION OF PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Lackawanna, Mr. Coleman, state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. COLEMAN. Mr. President, to me there has been some little misunderstanding as to whether or not Senator Jacobs voted. If he did in the affirmative vote—I am not saying he did, but assuming that he did, I do not think that the Chair ought to arbitrarily deprive him of his vote. When I came in ten minutes ago Senator Jacobs was going through the door, obviously to use the telephone. I think that we ought to determine the exact status of the vote of the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Jacobs, before the roll is finally verified.

The PRESIDENT. For the information of the Senator from Lackawanna, I saw Senator Jacobs leaving and spoke to him as he left; and it was before the roll was called.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I understand the affirmative vote has already been verified.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, my impression is the same as that of the Chair, that Senator Jacobs left before the vote was taken.

Mr. GELDER. Mr. President, I suggest that the gentlemen on the other side are chasing ghosts, as they have been doing all afternoon.

The PRESIDENT. Are there any correction? The Chair hears none.

The roll stands as verified and the action is lost.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, there has been no announcement yet of the vote as verified.

The PRESIDENT. The verified vote of the Senators is Yeas 23, and Nays 23, and the Chair votes "No."

POINT OF ORDER

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I rise to a point of order.

The PRESIDENT. Will the Senator from Fayette, Mr. Cavalcante, state his point of order.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, the president has no vote on this matter because it is a matter of legislation.

The PRESIDENT. The point of order of the Senator from Fayette is not well taken.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I want to go on record as having no complaints that there has been anything wrong in the count or that the Chair has done anything wrong. My inquiry was directed merely in a quest for information.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, when this bill, which is now being called for second reading, came up last week, I asked that it go over in order because—pardon me, I yield to the Senator from Somerset, Mr. Ealy.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 168, on second reading entitled:

An Act to amend paragraph six of section two, and paragraph four of section five of the act, approved the twenty-ninth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (P. L. 551), entitled "An act prohibiting the employment of miners, as herein defined, in the bituminous coal mines, unless certificated by a miners' examining board; providing for the appointment of such boards, and defining their powers and duties; providing penalties; and making an appropriation," by providing for the suspension of examinations and certifications by the Secretary of Mines and for the issuance of new certificates to replace lost certificates.

go over in its order.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, this Senate bill is a very important measure and I have talked with the Chairman of the Committee on Mines and Mining.

We have come to an agreement that it should go back to a committee for the purpose of study, and the Chairman has agreed to that plan.

BILL RECOMMENDED

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill 168 be recommitted to the Committee on Mines and Mining for the purpose of further study and possible amendment.

Mr. CAVALCANTE. Mr. President, I second the motion. The motion was agreed to.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 216, (House Bill No. 115), entitled:

An Act to amend section ten of the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (P. L. 427) entitled "An act to consolidate revise and amend the laws of the Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" by providing further for the administration of oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before grand juries.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 264, (House Bill No. 343), entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 851) entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses" by authorizing the court to direct additional compensation for jurors in certain cases

The first section of the bill was read as follows:

Section 1 Section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (Pamphlet Laws 851) entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses" is hereby amended to read as follows

Section 1 Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same That from and after the time this act takes effect the pay of jurors in this Commonwealth shall be three dollars ($3) per day together with the mileage at the rate of six cents (c) for each mile going to and returning from the county seat and the pay of witnesses shall be two dollars ($2) per day together with the mileage at the rate of three cents (c) for each mile going to and returning from the county seat Provided however that after any grand jury petit jury or panel of jurors has been in actual service in court for a period of two (2) weeks or more the pay of such jurors shall be five dollars ($5.00) per day together with the mileage as hereinbefore allowed

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the Section?

Mr. WOLFENDEN. Mr. President, I move to amend Sec. 1, (Sec. 1), page 2, line 22, by striking out; S with light face brackets the words "per day" and inserting in lieu thereof: "for each day thereafter actually served"

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to:

The second section of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

Section 2 This act shall become effective immediately upon final enactment

The title of the bill was read as follows and agreed to:

An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twenty-second day of May one thousand nine hundred and thirty-three (P. L. 851), entitled "An act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses" by authorizing the court to direct additional compensation for jurors in certain cases.

And said bill as amended having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order.

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 290, (House Bill No. 344), entitled:

An act to amend section seventy-seven of the act approved the thirty-first day of March one thousand eight hundred and sixty (P. L. 427) entitled "An act to consolidate revise and amend the laws of this Commonwealth relating to penal proceedings and pleadings" by permitting indictments against public officers and employees and their accomplices and confederates to be brought or exhibited within two years after such officer or employee shall have ceased to occupy such office or employment.

And said bill having been read at length the second time:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill?

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, I move to amend title, page 1, line 10 of title, by inserting after the word "employment" the following: S "and against attorneys-at-law within six years from the commission of the offense"

Amend sec. 1 (Sec. 77), page 2, line 28, by inserting after the word "any" the following: S "attorney-at-law or"

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I object. May I ask that the vote on the amendment be delayed until we determine the effect of the amendment?

The PRESIDENT: The Senate will be at ease so that the amendment may be studied.

Mr. OWLETT. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate vote down this amendment. This amendment has to do with the extension of the statute of limitations or crimes or misdemeanors committed by public officials and the insertion of this does not apply in this act and, therefore, I ask the Senate to vote down this amendment.

Mr. MUNDY. Mr. President, I noticed particularly today that when this amendment was offered, after a hectic afternoon, the party lines were obliterated and all the lawyers of both sides got together to study the affect of this amendment.

Mr. SHAPIRO. Mr. President, I ask that the Senate vote for this amendment. I am a lawyer; but I do not need any protection from the statute of limitations. I do not care what effect it has on the bill. I hope to be able to behave myself and not commit any crime; and whether the statute is six years or two years does not interest me. I think it is time that lawyers realize that they are not a special privileged group—they are like individuals.

Mr. WALKER. Mr. President, I must agree with the Senator from Philadelphia, Mr. Shapiro, I do not think that the Bar, as a whole, needs any special protection from this legislative group. I am against these amendments because I do not think it is fair to pick out the Bar Association and extend the statute of limitations on them.

I think it would be a good idea if they would go further with the movement, and include doctors, teachers, dentists, funeral directors.

I don't know why the Bar Association should be selected as a body to have special protection by this amendment.

Mr. EROE. Mr. President, the proper place for this amendment is in this bill. Sometime ago an amendment was made to this Act including bankers. Now, bankers handle other people's money; lawyers handle other people's money, and every one knows that lawyers are learned in the law. If anybody can keep out of trouble for two years until the statute of limitations expires, a lawyer certainly should be able to; and I think the act ought to be extended for the lawyers to six years.

And the questions recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the Amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. EROE.

HOUSE CONCURS IN AMENDMENTS TO HOUSE BILL No. 142

The Clerk of the House of Representatives being introduced presented communication from the House of Representatives informing the Senate that the House has concurred in amendments made by the Senate to House Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five of the act, approved the twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws ninety), entitled 'An act to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of properties and persons within the territorial limits of cities of the second class A, by providing that city and school taxes within such territorial limits shall be assessed, levied, and collected upon the basis of the assessments for taxation for county purposes; and requiring the furnishing of tax duplicates by the county taxing authorities to such cities and to school districts coterminous therewith; abolishing the department of assessors in cities of the second class A; consolidating tax statements covering city, school, county, and poor taxes therein, and making uniform the time for levy and collection of said taxes respectively, and regulating the discounts therefrom and penalties thereon," by changing the date of certain tax payments.

BILLS SIGNED

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) announced that the Chief Clerk having reported that the following bills had passed both houses of the General Assembly and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

House Bill No. 142, entitled:

An Act to further amend section five of the act approved the twenty-sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws ninety), entitled "An act to promote uniformity in the assessment and taxation of properties and persons within the territorial limits of cities of the second class A, by providing that city and school taxes within such territorial limits shall be assessed, levied, and collected upon the basis of the assessments for taxation for county purposes; and requiring the furnishing of tax duplicates by the county taxing authorities to such cities and to school districts coterminous therewith; abolishing the department of assessors in cities of the second class A; consolidating tax statements covering city, school, county, and poor taxes therein, and making uniform the time for levy and collection of said taxes respectively, and regulating the discounts therefrom and penalties thereon," by changing the date of certain tax payments.

House Bill No. 211, entitled:

An Act to amend section one of the act, approved the twelfth day of June, one thousand nine hundred nineteen (P. L. 450), entitled "An act permitting counties of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appropriate and expend moneys, and to incur indebtedness and issue bonds and other obligations, for the improvement and maintenance of State highways and State-aid highways or any public highway in any county of the Commonwealth, and providing the method for applying for said moneys and for the approval thereof by the State Highway Department in certain cases," as amended by extending the provisions thereof to include the improvement and maintenance of public highways in towns.

House Bill No. 400, entitled:

An Act to amend the title and the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (P. L. 132) entitled "An act to give preference of appointment or employment to honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines who fought for the Union cause in the late war of the rebellion" by extending the same preference to veterans and nurses of any war in which the United States has engaged.

Whereupon,

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Samuel S. Lewis) in the presence of the Senate signed the same.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

TUESDAY, April 4, 1939.

The House met at 1:30 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. Thomas George Baxter, offered the following prayer:

Our blessed heavenly Father, only a consciousness of Thy continuing mercy enables us to stand in Thy presence. Truly Thou art our God, and we are the people of Thy pasture.

We thank Thee that we have our abode in a land so abundant in resources as to make us materially a great nation.

Endow us with that love of virtue, that zeal for knowledge, that wisdom of policy, that state loyalty in legislation, that will make for national righteousness and the edification of all mankind.

Make us all to rejoice in the glad spiritual festive season, the Easter of the Christian, the Passover of the Jew.

Guide, by the bestowal of Thy gracious Spirit, the Governor of our Commonwealth and the Speaker of this House.

Direct and bless all the members, all the officers, all the employees and pages of this House during coming weeks of this session.

May no peril befall our dwellings. Stay the dark hand of affliction and keep up under the shadow of Thy blessed presence. Give us hearts of gladness and wills of power that will enable us to lighten life's burden, to lift life's load and brighten life's way for our less fortunate brother.

We ask it all in the name of our Elder Brother. Amen.

JOURNAL APPROVED

The SPEAKER. The Clerk will read the Journal of yesterday.

The Clerk proceeded to read the Journal of yesterday, when, on motion of Mr. DAVID P. REESE, the further reading was dispensed with and the Journal approved.

An Act authorizing counties of the second class to make appropriations to the State World's Fair Commission.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The SPEAKER. The Chair has had a large number of bills, as perhaps the members have been advised, to refer this morning. The machinery is a bit delayed and therefore the House will be at ease for a few moments until the bills are received at the desk so that they may be referred. The Chair would like to refer them at this time.

In referring bills this morning the Chair noticed that there were a number of bills that were duplicates, or appeared from their titles to be duplicates of other measures introduced by members, either bills that were already in the House or about to be offered. The Chair feels that this is unfortunate in view of our desire to prevent duplication in order to keep down the printing costs. We trust that members who have duplicate bills will try to get together in order that we may avoid further duplication and the attendant expense.

Secondly, the Chair would again call to the attention of the members the fact that under the rules there will be no Highway bills. Unfortunately, in the rush of bills last night the clerk accepted some Highway bills which seems to the chair to be unfair because it creates a situation where some members have introduced bills while other members have not.

BILL SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bill numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the title was publicly read as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 26.

An Act to amend section three of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of April one thousand nine hundred and twenty-seven (Pamphlet Laws four hundred sixty-five) entitled 'An act to provide for the safety of persons employed housed or assembled in certain buildings and structures not in cities of the first class second class and second class A by requiring certain construction and ways of egress equipment and maintenance providing for the licensing of projectionists requiring the submission of plans for examination and approval providing for the promulgation of rules and regulations for the enforcement of this act providing for the enforcement of this act by the Department of Labor and Industry and in certain cases by the chiefs of the fire departments in cities of the third class providing penalties for violations of the provisions of this act and repealing acts' as amended eliminating the requirement that certain buildings shall be equipped with certain equipment in connection with gas meters to prevent or retard the escape of gas

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

The SPEAKER. The Chair requests the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Snyder, to preside at this time.

MR. SNYDER IN THE CHAIR.

Referred to the Committee on State Government.

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

In the Senate, April 3, 1939.

Whereas, in the borough of Aliquippa in this Commonwealth, a Mario Izzo an Italian immigrant who, forced on relief by lack of employment, voluntarily swept the streets of his neighborhood as a return for the relief granted him by this Commonwealth; and

Whereas, this conduct on the part of Mario Izzo was highly exemplary of the gratitude that ought to prevail in the hearts of all men for the blessings conferred by American Citizenships; and

Whereas, the borough of Aliquippa is raising funds to erect a monument to the memory of the said Mario Izzo who was recently struck by death:

Therefore Be It Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), That it is the wish of this General Assembly that the Department of Public Assistance, the Department of Property and Supplies, the Department of Highways and the Department of Public Instructions do render their cooperation to the borough of Aliquippa with material and advisory assistance to the end that a modest and fitting monument may be erected to the memory of the said Mario Izzo; and

Be It Further Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That copies of this resolution be sent to the Secretaries of the Departments therein mentioned and also to the borough council of Aliquippa and the family of the said Mario Izzo.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

The SPEAKER. The resolution is referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. LOVETT.

RESOLUTION No. 63.

House of Representatives, April 3, 1939.

Whereas, on Monday evening, March 27, Senator Joseph F. Guffey and Senator James J. Davis addressed the General Assembly of this Commonwealth in compliance with Resolution No. 14, and

Whereas, the addresses were of great interest to the citizens of this Commonwealth and should be made available for distribution; and therefore be it

Resolved, that the addresses of Senators Joseph F. Guffey and James J. Davis delivered on the evening of March 28, 1939, before this General Assembly, be printed in the Legislative Journal; and be it further

Resolved, that the Clerk of this House shall send a copy of the Legislative Journal containing the two said addresses, to the President of the United States and to the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. HOYT.

Concurrent RESOLUTION No. 64.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1939.

Whereas, The Commonwealth of Pennsylvania through the Department of Education, requires the teaching of Physical Education, including athletic contests, in our public schools; and

Whereas, The purpose of such teaching is to enhance the physical development and health of our boys and girls; and

Whereas, An independent agency, the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association has been set up to supervise and regulate such inter-school contests; and

Whereas, One of the declared planks in the by-laws of the said Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association is the preservation of the health of the athletes participating in these contests; and

Whereas, The trend of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association as at present administered, is away from this laudable purpose and noticeably toward commercialism, for the gain and profit of the said Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association; and

Whereas, The Secretary of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association has shown gross arrogance and a disposition to punish any school system that dares to protest or oppose his high-handed and arbitrary decrees; therefore be it

Resolved (if the Senate concur), That this General Assembly authorizes the appointment of a joint legislative committee, composed of three representatives, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, and two senators to be appointed by the President Pro Tempore of the Senate, to make an investigation of the Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association set-up and report back on the advisability of placing the duties and responsibilities thereof, under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Education.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Mr. EDWIN F. THOMPSON. RESOLUTION No. 65.

In the House of Representatives, March 31, 1939.

Whereas, For sometime the citizens of Pennsylvania have been endeavoring to obtain a colored battalion of infantry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and

Whereas, The General Assembly has passed acts on several occasions requesting the authorization from Congress for the Adjutant General of this Commonwealth to organize and equip a colored battalion of infantry in this Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorializes the Congress of the United States to authorize and empower the Adjutant General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to organize and equip a colored battalion of infantry in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States by the Chief Clerk of this House.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

In the House of Representatives, April 3, 1939.

Whereas, Demand for Old Age Pensions is one of the foremost social security issues of the day, and

Whereas, In the past, the cost of caring for the aged has been borne almost entirely by relatives and friends of the aged persons in need. Because of the great number of aged persons included in the lists of the unemployed this burden has exhausted the savings of the working people and has depressed their living standards and is rapidly demoralizing their social standards, and

Whereas, Because of these reasons and many others, a great deal of pressure is put upon the Representatives of the people to pass legislation designed to relieve the situation, and

Whereas, There are thousands of worthy Pennsylvania Citizens who have given their full support to candidates for office who have promised them that action would be taken on such pension systems as are presented in Congress and in our State Legislature, particularly, one system known to all as the Townsend Plan of Old Age Pensions, and

Whereas, There has been introduced in the Congress of the United States House Bill No. 2, embodying the features of the Townsend Plan, and

Whereas, Many persons have petitioned their Representatives that action be taken on House Bill No. 2, and

Whereas, This issue is vital and all important if recovery is to become a reality in our Commonwealth and Nation and aside from political beliefs and affiliations this subject is deserving of immediate and sincere consideration from all persons who represent the people of this State and Nation, and

Therefore Be It Resolved, and It Is Resolved, (if the House of Representatives concur), That this General Assembly does hereby memorialize the Representatives in Congress to vote for immediate consideration of House Bill No. 2, known as the Townsend Plan, and

Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be sent, the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Washington, the Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee and the President Pro Tempore of the United States Senate and a copy be forwarded to the President of the United States.

Referred to the Committee on Federal Relations.

And said bill having been read at length the first time, Ordered, To be laid aside for second reading.

THE SPEAKER (Ellwood J. Turner) IN THE CHAIR.

The SPEAKER. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Tioga, Mr. Snyder, for presiding.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 337, entitled:

An Act to authorize cities boroughs incorporated towns townships and school districts to file suggestions of non-payment and averments of default or to sue out writs of scire facias on certain tax or municipal claims and to revive judgments where the lien of such claims or the judgments thereon have been lost and providing for the reinstatement of the liens of such claims and judgments

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whenever any city borough incorporated town township or school district has heretofore filed in the office of the prothonotary of the proper county any tax or municipal claim and the city borough incorporated town or township or school district has not within the period of five years after the date on which any such claim was filed sued out a writ of scire facias to reduce the same to judgment or in the case of a tax claim has not within said period of five years filed a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default or whenever any writ of scire facias has been issued to reduce any such claim to judgment and by reason of defense or any other court proceedings judgment has not been entered within the period of five years after the date on which such writ was issued or whenever any such tax or municipal claim has been reduced to judgment and the city borough incorporated town township or school district has not within the period of five years after the date on which such judgment was entered or within five years after the date on which such judgment was last revived filed a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default or sued out a writ of scire facias to revive the same then in any such case any such city borough incorporated town township or school district may within six months after the passage and approval of this act issue its praecipe for a writ of scire facias on any such tax or municipal claim and proceed to judgment in the manner provided by law to obtain judgments upon tax or municipal claims or in case a writ of scire facias has been issued but the same has not been reduced to judgment within five years from the date of issuance issue its praecipe for an alias writ of scire facias on any such tax or municipal claim and proceed to judgment in the manner provided by law to obtain judgments upon tax or municipal claims or in the case of a tax claim where no judgment has been entered file a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default or in the case judgment has been entered on a tax or municipal claim either file a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default or issue its praecipe for a writ of scire facias on any such judgment and proceed to judgment in the manner provided by law to obtain judgments of revival and such claim or judgment so entered or revived shall be a valid claim or judgment and be a lien upon the real estate upon which it was a lien at the time the claim was filed or the judgment was entered and said claim or judgment may be revived or further revived and collected as other claims or judgments upon tax or municipal claims are revived and collected Provided however That the lien of any such claim or judgment shall not re-attach against any real estate transferred to any purchaser during the time when the lien of any such tax or municipal claim or judgment was lost nor shall the lien of any such claim or judgment impair or affect the priority of the lien of any mortgage or other lien which gained priority because of the failure of the city borough incorporated town township or school district to sue out the writ of scire facias or file a suggestion of non-payment and an averment of default within the five year period or was entered of record during the time the lien of such tax or municipal claim or judgment was lost

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. EWING. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary General for the purpose of further study.

The motion was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 10, entitled:

An Act providing for the conducting of and legalizing lotteries by the State creating a State Lottery Commission and making appropriations

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 An independent administrative commission to be known as the "State Lottery Commission" is hereby created. The Commission shall consist of the Secretary of Revenue who shall be chairman thereof the Secretary of Welfare the Auditor General and two members to be appointed by the Governor by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate. The appointed members shall be appointed for terms of four years from the date of their appointment and until successors shall have been appointed and qualified. The members of the commission shall serve without compensation

Except as otherwise expressly provided by law the commission shall be subject to all the provisions of the Administrative Code of 1929 and its amendments which apply generally to independent administrative boards and commissions

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Appropriations.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, be kind enough to tell the members of this House whether he made this motion as a personal motion or as the majority floor leader?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, it is pretty hard at times to distinguish between an individual motion and a motion made by the majority floor leader, but I am making this motion knowing that it is the will of the majority of the Republican members of the House that the motion be made.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman from Dauphin please tell me why the bill is being referred to the Committee on Appropriations?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, this bill is being referred to the Committee on Appropriations because the act in the first place contains an appropriation, and in the second place the act in order to be put into operation would require some funds, which, of course, would have to be paid out of the General Fund, and therefore would necessitate an appropriation out of the General Fund to at least get it started, in addition to the appropriation which is now set up out of the money realized from the sale of lotteries.

Mr. FALKENSTEIN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask the members of the House to vote this motion down. The Committee on Law and Order considered this bill since the first day this session has been opened. That Committee considered the bill, they revised it to suit themselves; it had the sympathy of the Committee; it had the Chairman behind it. This bill has caused comment all over the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. I have received numerous communications both in favor of and against the bill. Various newspapers in Philadelphia have run a forum on it, which indicates that the people are strongly in favor of it. Another newspaper ran a street corner poll, which shows a sentiment strongly in favor of the bill. I feel that after the length of time this bill has been in Committee it is unfair to send it back to the Committee now that it is on second reading. I think we should allow this bill to come up on third reading, when we can thrash out the whole situation. I might say to the membership of the House that this is the only revenue raising measure that has been introduced in this House at this session that will reduce taxes, and I ask the members who want so much for so many things to vote this motion down and allow this bill to remain on the calendar.

Mr. HUNTLEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill is one of the many proposals that have been made to raise revenue for the state. It has been reported out of Committee and it seems to me the proper thing to do would be to vote on it. If there are votes enough to send it to the pickling vat there ought to be votes enough to defeat it on the floor of this House. If there are votes enough to keep it from going to the pickling vat, then there should be votes enough to send it to the Senate. It seems to me we are getting no place with this bill. The thing to do is to bring it out on the floor of the House if the members of the House want it, vote for it and then send it to the Senate; if the members of the House do not want it then kill it and get it out of the road.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the motion?

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 514, entitled:

An Act abolishing the office of deputy constable prohibiting the appointment of deputy constables and terminating the terms of those now serving

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 The office of deputy constable in any ward borough or township is hereby abolished On and after the effective date of this act no appointments as deputy constables shall be made except for election purposes or in case of an emergency when recognized as such by the court to which application for such appointment is made All deputy constables appointed for such purposes shall be paid by the county treasurer out of county funds On the thirty-first day of December one thousand nine hundred and thirty-nine the terms of all deputy constables then in office are hereby terminated

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. ACKERMANN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Judiciary Special for the purpose of further study.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I ask that you vote against this motion. The bill has been thoroughly considered in Committee and in the sub-committee. I feel it has been amended all that is necessary and I see no reason for sending the bill back to be pickled. For that reason I ask each and every member of the House to vote against Mr. Ackermann's motion.

Mr. JACOB L. MOSER. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill does not provide for the compensation of a deputy constable. The bill provides: "All deputy constables appointed for such purposes shall be paid by the county treasurer out of county funds." It does not specify the amount that they are to receive. At the present time county treasurers do not pay deputy constables; they are paid by the elected constables.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 598, entitled:

An Act authorizing the compromise of delinquent taxes on real property and the penalties interest and costs due thereon before a tax sale of such real property and providing the procedure in such case

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Whenever taxes levied by any political subdivision upon real property are now delinquent and such delinquent taxes and the penalties interest and costs due thereon exceed in the opinion of the tax levying authorities the net amount which could be realized at a tax sale of such real property upon which the taxes have been levied it shall be lawful for the tax levying authorities or any of them if the court of common pleas of the county in which such real property is situated shall first have consented thereto to accept in compromise of such delinquent taxes, penalties interest and costs any sum less than the whole amount due and to enter satisfaction of all such taxes on the record.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 1, line 2, by inserting after the word "property" and before the word "are" the following: "except in counties of the first, second, and third class."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The second section was read as follows:

Section 2 Upon the presentation of the petition of any tax levying authority to the court of common pleas of the county setting forth a description of the real property on which such taxes are delinquent the amount of delinquent taxes penalties interest and costs due segregated by years showing also the total amount due to each taxing district the amount offered in compromise thereof the division of the compromise settlement between the taxing districts interested and such other information as may be deemed necessary to the court the court shall fix a day not more than ten days thereafter for a hearing thereon. At least five days' notice of such hearing shall be given to each taxing authority having an interest in such delinquent taxes.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend Section 2, on page 2, by striking out of line 13, after the word "than" the word "ten" and inserting in lieu thereof, the word "twenty"

Amend Section 2, on page 2, by striking out of line 14, after the word "least," the word "five" and inserting in lieu thereof, the word "fifteen"

Amend Section 2, on page 2, by inserting in line 15, after the word "given," the following: "by mail"

Amend Section 2, on page 2, by inserting in line 16, at the end thereof, the following: "and shall also be given by publication three times in a newspaper of general circulation in the city borough town or township in which such real property is situate and in the legal journal if any of the appropriate county."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section as amended?

It was agreed to.

The third, fourth and fifth sections were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 3 If after such hearing the court is satisfied that the proposed compromise is proper and to the advantage of the taxing authorities interested or any of them it shall enter a decree approving such compromise settlement with such petitioning tax authority and any other tax authority desiring to join in such settlement or such other settlement as the court may find proper and just The proceeds of such compromise shall be distributed to the respective taxing authorities in proportion to their claims

Section 4 All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed

Section 5 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment.

The title was read as follows:

An Act authorizing the compromise of delinquent taxes on real property and the penalties interest and costs due thereon before a tax sale of such real property and providing the procedure in such case

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title?

Mr. WAGNER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendment.

The SPEAKER. The amendment will be read by the Clerk.

The amendment was read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend title page 1, line 3, by inserting after the word "thereon" and before the word "before" the following: "except in counties of the first, second, and third class."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the title as amended?

It was agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 276, as follows:

An Act to further amend sections four and twenty-two of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-eight) entitled "An act establishing a State employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employees serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" by transferring the State Employees' Retirement Board from the Treasury Department to the Department of State and transferring certain appropriations

Section 1 Section 4 of the act approved the twenty-seventh day of June one thousand nine hundred twenty-three (Pamphlet Laws eight hundred fifty-eight) entitled "An act establishing a State employees' retirement system and creating a retirement board for the administration thereof establishing certain funds from contributions by the Commonwealth and contributing State employees defining the uses and purposes thereof and the manner of payments therefrom and providing for the guaranty by the Commonwealth of certain of said funds imposing powers and duties upon the heads of departments in which State employees serve excepting annuities allowances returns benefits and rights from taxation and judicial process and providing penalties" as last amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-three) is hereby further amended to read as follows

The General Fund of the Commonwealth shall not be held liable to appropriate the moneys required to build up the reserves necessary for the payment of the State annuities of contributors whose salary or compensation is payable from special operating funds or agreed to be paid by other agencies from moneys not in the State Treasury but the appropriations or payments necessary for such purposes shall be paid into the retirement fund only from moneys in such special operating funds or by such agencies In case any such special fund or agency shall fail to provide the moneys necessary for such purpose then for such period as moneys are not so provided the credits on which the State annuity of such contributors is based shall not be increased but the rights of such contributors in the retirement system shall nevertheless be continued and payroll deductions shall continue in the case of such contributors to be credited to their member's annuity savings accounts

(8) Immediately after the passage of this act the actuary of the retirement board shall make such investigation of the mortality service and salary experience of the State employees as he shall recommend and the retirement board shall authorize for the purpose of determining upon the proper tables to be prepared and submitted to the retirement board for adoption. On the basis of such investigation and recommendation the retirement board shall adopt such tables and certify such rates as are required in subsections (a) (b) and (c) of paragraph seven immediately preceding. On the basis of such tables the actuary of the retirement board shall immediately after the first day of January nineteen hundred twenty-four make a valuation of the various accounts created by this act

(9) The retirement board shall prepare and have published annually a financial statement showing the condition of the fund and the various accounts created by this act and setting forth such other facts recommendations and data as may be of use in the advancement of knowledge concerning State employees' pensions and annuities and said retirement board shall submit said financial statement to the Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and shall file copies in the offices of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of the State Insurance Department and of the head of each department for use of the State employees and the public

(10) Each member of the retirement board shall take an oath of office that he or she will so far as it develops upon him diligently and honestly administer the affairs of said retirement board and that he or she will not knowingly violate or wilfully permit to be violated any of the provisions of law applicable to this act. Such oath shall be subscribed by the member making it and certified by the officer before whom it is taken and shall be immediately filed in the office of the Secretary of the Commonwealth

(11) The retirement board shall keep a record of all its proceedings which shall be open to inspection by the public

(12) The retirement board shall perform such other functions as are required for the execution of the provisions of this act

Section 2 Section twenty-two of the said act as amended by the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws six hundred eighty-three) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 22 The retirement board created by this act and transferred [from] to the Department of State [to] from the Treasury Department shall be and be deemed a departmental administrative board within the [said department] Department of State and shall be subject in all [respect] respects to the laws of this Commonwealth limiting the powers of departmental administrative boards with regard to the expenditure of money and prescribing the duties of departmental administrative boards with reference to the making of financial reports the furnishing of financial and budgetary information to the department with which it is connected and the making of biennial reports

Section 3 The members officers and employees of the State Employees' Retirement Board which is transferred by this Act from the Treasury Department to the Department of State shall continue to be the members officers and employees of such board and to perform their usual duties upon the same terms and conditions as heretofore until removed or appointed to other positions. Provided however That on and after the effective date of this act the Secretary of the Commonwealth shall be the chairman of the board in lieu of the State Treasurer

Section 4 The unexpended balances existing on the effective date of this act in any appropriations whatsoever made to the Treasury Department for salaries wages or other compensation of the secretary and other employees and for the general expenses of the State Employees' Retirement Board or for the payment of any moneys into the State Employees' Retirement Fund are hereby transferred and appropriated to the Department of State for the same purposes as expressed in any acts making such appropriations and any such unexpended balances in such appropriations also are hereby appropriated to the Department of State for the payment of any bills or encumbrances incurred by the Treasury Department or the State Employees' Retirement Board prior to and remaining unpaid on the effective date of this act

Section 5 Any acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed

Section 6 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 304, as follows:

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, I desire to offer the following amendments to the bill at the request of the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Trout.

The SPEAKER. The amendments will be read by the Clerk.

The amendments were read by the Clerk as follows:

Amend bill, page 6, by inserting after line 28, the following sections:

"Section 8. The Secretary of the Department of Commerce shall appoint a Travel Publicity Advisory Board, consisting of four members, whose duty it shall be to suggest ways and means of effectively continuing the work hitherto done by the Pennsylvania State Publicity Commission. Members of the advisory board shall be chosen on the basis of their familiarity with the ways and means of attracting, servicing and promoting tourist trade. Members of the advisory board shall serve without compensation, but shall be entitled to receive traveling expenses incurred in connection with regular meetings, to be called monthly by the Secretary of the Department of Commerce as ex-officio chairman.

Section 9. Appropriations for the administration and general expenses of the Department of Commerce shall be made from time to time from the General Fund by the General Assembly: Provided, That supplementary appropriations may be made from the Motor License Fund for the exclusive use in conducting programs of information, advertising and publicity relating to the recreational, scenic, historic and highway advantages and attractions of the Commonwealth and its political subdivisions, including newspaper, magazine and radio advertising, both within and without the limits of the Commonwealth: And provided further, That all moneys appropriated from the Motor License Fund for such purposes, shall be segregated from any appropriations made from other funds for purposes not specified in this section."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the amendments which have been presented have been carefully considered and it is felt that they will complicate to a very large extent the administration of this fund and for that reason I ask that the members of this House vote no on the adoption of these amendments.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

They were not agreed to.

Mr. STOCKHAM. Mr. Speaker, permit me to withdraw the other amendments offered by me.

The SPEAKER. If there be no objection the other amendments may be withdrawn. The Chair hears none and the amendments were withdrawn.

The eighth and ninth sections and title were separately read and agreed to as follows:

Section 8 The act approved the nineteenth day of July one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (Pamphlet Laws one thousand nine hundred forty-eight) entitled "An act creating a commission to compile edit publish and distribute pamphlets descriptive of scenic and historic interest and making an appropriation" and the act amendatory thereto approved the twentieth day of May one thousand nine hundred thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws seven hundred thirty-seven) are hereby repealed

Section 9 This act shall become effective immediately upon its final enactment

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to as amended.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 668, (Senate Bill No. 13), entitled:

An Act regulating the issuance of marriage licenses prohibiting the issuance thereof to persons infected with syphilis in certain stages requiring each applicant to produce certain evidence of freedom from such disease imposing duties upon the Department of Health and the clerk of the orphans' court of the various counties and imposing penalties

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 No license to marry shall be issued until there shall be in the possession of the clerk of the orphans' court a statement or statements signed by a duly licensed physician of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that each applicant within thirty days of the issuance of the marriage license has submitted to an examination to determine the existence or non-existence of syphilis which examination has included a standard serological test or tests for syphilis and that in the opinion of the examining physician the applicant is not infected with syphilis or if so infected is not in a stage of that disease which is likely to become communicable. The physician's statement shall be accompanied by a statement from the person in charge of the laboratory making the test or from some other person authorized to make such statement setting forth the name of the test the date it was made the name and address of the physician to whom a report was sent and the exact name and address of the person whose blood was tested but not setting forth the result of the test

On the question.

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed upon the postponed calendar.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. MARR. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. MARR. Mr. Speaker, for what purposes does the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen, wish to have this bill placed on the second reading postponed calendar?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I particularly desire to see some type of regulation imposed upon individuals who attempt to enter into marriage contracts. However, only within the last month the American Medical Association, in an article written by the professor in charge of venereal diseases at the University of Pennsylvania, questioned the wisdom of such enactment due to the fact that the Wasserman test when made but one time is not an accurate determination of the presence of venereal disease in the subject. I personally feel that to deprive individuals of their right to enter into a marriage contract, which we all know is possibly the highest type of contract that one can enter into, due to a positive Wasserman test which might not accurately indicate a venereal condition in the individual, is imposing a tremendous hardship, and my thought would be to put the bill on the second reading postponed calendar so that suitable amendments to the bill might be drawn that would meet the situation without having it contain any defects. I cannot see why the opportunity to study an enactment such as this should be denied the membership of the House.

Mr. MARR. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this bill has passed the Senate; it has been given every consideration by the Committee of the House; it has the endorsement of the State Department of Health, the Pennsylvania Medical Society, the United States Surgeon General, and the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs. I feel that the bill has had every consideration due it and I would ask that it be not put on the postponed calendar on second reading.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would give this type of legislation my own unqualified endorsement, in fact I feel that the situation which the bill seeks to cure is very necessary, but that does not mean that the enactments as they are presented are perfect enactments.

My experience with the medical profession clearly indicates to me that this particular type of enactment and these particular bills are particularly dangerous. The same type of enactment as worked out in the state of New York has caused tremendous confusion. Now, I cannot see why we should not benefit by the experience of New York State in order to provide a better enactment to cover the situation. I heartily endorse the purpose, and it is only because I heartily endorse the purpose, that I say these particular bills should stay on the postponed calendar until a more scientific writing of them can be had in order to meet the situation.

Mr. MARR. Mr. Speaker, I will consent to having the bill placed on the postponed calendar.

On the question recurring.

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 667, (Senate Bill No. 12), entitled:

An Act for the prevention of congenital syphilis providing for and regulating the taking of serological tests of women pregnant with child and requiring notation thereof on the birth and stillbirth certificates of their children imposing duties upon the Department of Health and upon physicians and other persons attending women pregnant with child.

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

Section 1 Every physician who attends any women pregnant with child for conditions relating to pregnancy during the period of gestation or at delivery shall take or cause to be taken a sample of blood of such woman at the time of first examination or within fifteen (15) days thereof and shall submit such sample to an approved laboratory as hereinafter defined for a standard serological test for syphilis. All other persons permitted by law to attend women pregnant with child but not permitted by law to take blood samples shall cause a sample of the blood of every such pregnant woman attended by them to be taken by a duly licensed physician of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and submit it to an approved laboratory for a standard serological test for syphilis.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, this being more or less a companion bill to Senate Bill No. 13, I ask the favorable consideration of the House in having these bills remain in the same position on the calendar.

I therefore move that this bill be placed on the second reading postponed calendar.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from York, Mr. Cohen.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from York permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker, I desire to know the purpose of the motion to place this bill on the second reading postponed calendar.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker, I have the same reason to present on this bill as I presented on Senate Bill No. 13.

At the outset I wish to say that I heartily agree with the purposes of Senate Bill No. 13 and Senate Bill No. 12. I feel sure that if Mr. Denman or the membership of this House had the opportunity to read the article that was just published in the last issue of the American Medical Society Journal by the head of the Department of Pathology of the University of Pennsylvania, an outstanding authority on the subject, who analyzed this type of legislation in various states of the Union, that he would agree with me that until we are absolutely sure that these particular bills meet the problems sought to be cured, without any of the defects that have become evident in other states, that we should not pass these bills at this time. My only request for placing them upon the postponed calendar is that an opportunity for further study might be given to individuals who have scientific knowledge of the disease so that the bills might be scientifically drawn to accurately cover the subject.

Mr. DENMAN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I fail to see how the placing of this bill on the postponed calendar would provide sufficient time to go into a detailed study as suggested by the gentleman from York.

I feel that we all, as persons who have studied this legislation, are sufficiently familiar with this type of legislation and the purpose of it. I believe that we are all interested in seeing that children are well-born when they are born, and that they are not mentally defective or physically crippled as the result of careless treatment by the mother previous to birth. Certainly there is not a father in this House who is not interested in having children born just as well in body and mind as his own, yet I fail to see why we should put this bill on the postponed calendar. I ask the membership of this House to vote no on this proposal.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in speaking in favor of my motion, it seems ludicrous to indulge in any extensive argument, yet I feel sure that the membership of this House need do no other thing than to read the effective date of the act:

"This act shall become effective one year after final enactment."

Now there is not a tremendous emergency. The state of the Nation is not such that it would fall and the foundations crumble if this enactment were not passed at this time. I am asking that this bill be placed on the second reading postponed calendar so that it might be given further study in line with the latest medical and scientific knowledge. Nevertheless that action is opposed even though the bill does not become effective until one year after final enactment.

I might state that the few days or the week that might be lost by having the bill on the second reading calendar, can easily be overcome by having a new effective date inserted which would say that the bill should become effective fifty-one weeks after final enactment. In that way we can make up the seven days that we have lost. I see no reason why this House should not desire this bill to be given the intensive study that such an act requires.

Mr. SWEENEY. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I just want to take a moment of your time. I am very much in favor of this bill but I don't think it goes far enough. I agree with Mr. Cohen. I think it should be recommitted or postponed to have amendments inserted. In reading over the act I note it only requires a physician to report the condition of a woman who is pregnant, it does not require a woman who is suffering from the disease of syphilis to receive any treatment. If it can be done there should be an amendment inserted which would not only require that the physician report, but that a woman suffering from syphilis should receive treatment for that condition.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, in view of the fact that this bill is a companion bill to another one which has already been postponed until tomorrow, I would like to ask the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Denman, if he will not consent to have it postponed and be in the same position as the companion bill?

Mr. DENMAN. I will, Mr. Speaker.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the motion?

It was agreed to.

ADDRESS BY MR. KANE

Mr. KANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I would like to say in view of the fact that this bill has been in the Senate, through the Senate Committee and passed by the Senate, reported out of the House Committee, is now on second reading in the House and will again be on second reading in the House tomorrow so that amendments may be offered on the floor, and in view of the fact that a great many people have waited patiently for this enactment, which is similar to the uniform acts passed by other states, I would like to request the members of the House, who are interested in this matter to try to get the amendments that they have in mind in shape for tomorrow when it will be amendable on second reading.

RESOLUTION

THANKS EXTENDED

Mr. ROYER offered a resolution which was twice read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, Monday, April 4, 1939. Whereas, The Rev. Walter Evans Deibler, pastor of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ, of Highspire, Pa., who retires as Chaplain of the House of Representatives, has served this body in that capacity in a manner that has earned for him the respect and admiration of the members as a faithful public servant of outstanding Americanism and sterling Christian character; now, therefore, be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives does hereby extend to the Rev. Walter Evans Deibler, upon his retirement, its hearty thanks for a public service well performed and extends its best wishes for future happiness and success in the high calling to which he has dedicated his life, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and a copy transmitted by the Speaker to the retiring Chaplain.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 856, entitled:

An Act making a deficiency and emergency appropriation to aid certain school districts

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I desire to interrogate the majority floor leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, as a point of information, if he knows whether or not there is any money due second and third class school districts from the regular school appropriation at this time?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, does the gentleman mean whether there is any money due any of these districts which has not been paid, and which should have been paid according to the amounts set forth in the law for payment up to this time?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, except that possibly they will not receive one hundred per cent of what they should have received. However, they have not received their regular appropriation. This relates to second and third class school districts.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, that may be true as to second and third class school districts. I believe the fourth class school districts were paid in full some time ago, according to information which I have. I would like to be helpful, but I am depending on my recollection—approximately ninety-three per cent was paid to certain of the districts not of the fourth class, and I assume that would include second and third class districts.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, that is correct, money is due second and third class districts, but can the gentleman inform the members of the House as to why this money at this time has not been paid to these districts, many of which are in dire distress?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, as far as I know, the reason that the money was not paid was because of insufficient appropriation made in the 1937 session to meet the amounts which the law provided should be paid. In other words there were not sufficient moneys appropriated by the 1937 session to meet the requirements of the law.

As I understand the situation, to amplify that a little further, the law provides certain methods by which payments shall be made to school districts of the various classes under the general appropriation bill and there is a certain amount appropriated each biennium to meet this requirement of the law. If the appropriation bill is not sufficient, of course the state cannot pay in full the amount required by law, until money has been appropriated for that purpose. Therefore the answer to the gentleman from Schuylkill is simply this: The 1937 session of the Legislature which was bound to appropriate sufficient money to meet the requirements of the law did not do so, which left a deficiency to be met at this time.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the answers made by the gentleman from Dauphin, Mr. Woodside, are partly correct and in my opinion partly incorrect. At the present time the second and third class districts in the state have five and one-half million dollars of their appropriation yet to receive. The reason that they have not received this money—I beg to differ with the gentleman from Dauphin—is not because of failure to appropriate, because if that is so, the various departmental heads have misinformed me. From the information which I have received, there are eleven million dollars available for the regular appropriations, part of which as I stated, or five and one-half million dollars, is owing to these second and third class school districts, and by the way, Schuylkill County has thirteen or fourteen third class districts, many of which are in dire distress. If they were to receive their regular appropriation it would be a tremendous aid, but in February of this year, the Governor's office through the budget secretary, instructed the Department of Public Instruction to make no requisitions on the Auditor General for any further money until they were notified, and the Department of Public Instruction is helpless to make any requisitions until the Governor's budget officer says, "Go ahead and do it."

I can't understand why the Governor's office should take this stand except for this reason that possibly the funds for relief will not be sufficient for this biennium, but I feel it is unreasonable to have these school teachers suffer, when the State Treasurer's office informs me that that money is available for that specific purpose at this time. The whole sum and substance of the matter is that while the regular appropriation will not be sufficient, sooner or later Governor James will have to agree to a new tax, and it seems to me that it is just like extracting a tooth, you might as well do it now and have it over with.

While I am one hundred per cent for this one million dollar appropriation bill, I feel it is the duty of this Legislature to contact the Governor's office and ascertain whether this money can now be released, which will mean the payment of five and one-half million dollars to the second and third class districts.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Schuylkill, Mr. Schrope.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Schuylkill permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SCHROPE. I will, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, did I understand the gentleman from Schuylkill to say that the State Treasurer informed him that there are five million dollars available for distribution to the schools if the proper directions were given for the release of the money?

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker, for the regular second and third class school appropriations, possibly not for relief of fourth class school districts, but for the regular second and third class school district appropriations.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Dauphin, the majority floor leader.

The SPEAKER. Will the gentleman from Dauphin permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WOODSIDE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, does the statement made by the gentleman from Schuylkill agree with the information in possession of the majority floor leader?

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I did not hear all of the statement of the gentleman from Schuylkill, therefore I do not know and I do not want to commit myself to say that everything he stated is correct.

Mr. ANDREWS. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Schuylkill, as I understood him, stated that there was owing to various classes of school districts, five million dollars, which is now in the possession of the State Treasurer and is available for distribution to the districts to which that money is owing.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, my information is that that is not correct from this standpoint: There is now in the Treasury a balance in excess of five million dollars, and there is now due the school districts approximately five million dollars, but if that money were not held available to meet tax anticipation notes for which it has been actually set aside, then the credit of the Commonwealth would be very seriously interfered with and the possibility of floating tax anticipation notes at a reasonable rate of interest in the next biennium would be practically nil. For that reason it is necessary to keep at the present time a sufficient cash balance to make certain that the tax anticipation notes will be met. I am advised by the Budget Office that the probabilities are that the amount which is due the school districts, the five million dollars which the gentleman from Schuylkill has referred to, will be paid to them within a week or two, or at least shortly after April 15. It is possible that the full amount may not be paid at that time because sufficient money will not be available after the payment of the tax anticipation note installments, and for that reason the money is being held at this time. I think that will explain the situation. It is a matter of interpretation, as to whether the money is or is not available.

Mr. SCHROPE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, I do not know, but I would like to know, where you can get correct information. I went to the State Treasurer's Office today because I did not know where else to go. There they told me there was approximately eleven million dollars available, from which the five and one-half million dollars could be drawn. I do not know where else to go. If they did not give me the correct figures, then let us, instead of setting up a Department of Commerce, set up some other department of information where you can get information. That is where I got my information. If they misinformed me, you will have to accept it.

The SPEAKER. The Chair out of sympathy for the gentleman, in one respect, would remind him that he has been here long enough and has heard many, many debates on the subject of estimates and information as to where money was and how much was available.

Mr. WOODSIDE. Mr. Speaker, I was going to suggest to the gentleman that he is fortunate in having the State Treasury to go to, but he might also have gone to the budget office where I am sure he would have received courteous treatment. They would have furnished him the same information that has been furnished to me. They would explain the situation to him as they see it. I might, in order to clear up the situation, add this: We have been talking about a five million dollar appropriation which is due and for which an appropriation has been made. The matter to which I referred is also involved in this situation, and that is that there is $1,925,000 that under the law should have been appropriated to the school districts in the 1937 session, and there has been passed by this House a deficiency appropriation bill to meet that sum, so that eventually the school districts will get the full amount to which they are entitled under the law.

Mr. HERBERT B. COHEN. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, there apparently is some misinformation or confusion. I think that both the gentleman from Schuylkill and the gentleman from Dauphin are correct as I see the situation. There are funds available in the State Treasury. However, prior to the payment of those funds, authorization must come from the Secretary of the Budget to met the specific appropriation liability of the 1937 session. I understand that the Budget Office, acting upon the advice of the Governor and whatever other financial advisors he might call upon to aid him in his very apparent dilemma, has requested the cessation of payments for subsidies so that moneys might be conserved in line with the Supreme Court's decision in the Talbot Act cases, to meet the so-called ordinary expenses of government. As a result of that policy, the hospitals have not received their moneys, the state-aided homes have not received their moneys, the educational institutions have not been paid their quarterly payments, in an effort on the part of the administration to conserve assets for the payment of the so-called ordinary expenses of government. The Supreme Court was very kind, particularly to the membership of this House, because they included our salaries in the category of ordinary expenses of government. Nevertheless, I feel sure that the exigencies outside of ordinary expenses of government are so great that payment should forthwith be made to our hospitals, our state-aided institutions, our state-aided educational institutions, as well as the second and third class school districts who are looking to the Commonwealth to help meet their own ordinary expenses of government.

Mr. KANE. Mr. Speaker and members of the House, the debates here today brought out only one thing and that is that the schools, like the hospitals, sanitariums, and a great many other State institutions, are in need of money. The Governor and the other officials are doing their best to spread it around as best they can.

I sympathize with the gentleman from Schuylkill in the fact that it does seem to be very difficult to find out where some of this money is, how it is to be spent. I want to call to the attention once more of the gentleman on the other side the fact that House Bill No. 989 which I introduced, following my speech on this subject the other day, not only provides the method for raising money for distressed school districts but also for hospitals, sanitariums, and so forth which are badly in need of funds. If they want to really do something on this subject they should get back of the tax bill to raise money and not quibble any further out of which fund it shall come.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL ON SECOND READING

Mr. WOODSIDE asked and obtained unanimous consent to call up out of order House Bill No. 477, Senate Bill No. 34, Printers No. 10, on Page 10 of today's calendar, bill on second reading.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on second reading of House Bill No. 477, (Senate Bill No. 34), entitled:

An Act to further amend section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (P. L. 309) entitled "An act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" by further regulating the incurring of temporary indebtedness and the repayment thereof in school districts other than school districts of the first class

The first section was read as follows:

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section five hundred eight of the act approved the eighteenth day of May one thousand nine hundred and eleven (Pamphlet Laws 309) entitled "An Act to establish a public school system in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania together with the provisions by which it shall be administered and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof providing revenue to establish and maintain the same and the method of collecting such revenue and repealing all laws general special or local or any parts thereof that are or may be inconsistent therewith" as last amended by section three of the act approved the second day of July one thousand nine hundred and thirty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 2860) is hereby further amended to read as follows

Section 508 Any school district having no indebtedness or whose indebtedness incurred or created without the assent of the electors thereof is less than two (2) per centum of the total valuation of the taxable property for school purposes therein may at any time for the purpose of providing funds in any fiscal year for current expenses and debt service for permanent improvements or in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs with such limitations and for such length of term as hereinafter provided by or through its board of school directors incur in addition to any bonds therein authorized a temporary debt or borrow money and issue an obligation or obligations therefor under the seal of the district if any properly attested by the president and secretary thereof and bearing interest not exceeding the legal rate but no such obligation shall be sold for less than par Provided That the incurring of any such temporary debt or borrowing money upon such obligation shall receive the affirmative vote of not less than two-thirds of the members of the board of school directors therein

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred for current expenses and debt service in school districts other than school districts of the first class shall at no time exceed an amount equal to the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and the tax levied upon taxable property within such school district for school purposes and remaining uncollected for the current fiscal year Provided That any temporary indebtedness incurred for current expenses and debt service at any time during a period of five years from the effective date of these amendments shall at no time exceed an amount equal to the State appropriations not received but payable during the fiscal year and the tax levied upon taxable property within such school district for school purposes and remaining uncollected and unpledged All such loans shall be paid out of the receipts available or pledged for the repayment thereof when and as the said funds are received Provided That the total amount of the temporary indebtedness for such purpose remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year shall become an obligation upon the following year's budget and be included therein

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred in any school district for the purpose of permanent improvements shall at no time in school districts of the first and second class exceed one-half of one (1) per centum of the last assessed valuation of taxable property for school purposes therein and in school districts of the third and fourth class two (2) per centum of such assessed valuation Provided That at or before the time of incurring such indebtedness for such purpose provision shall be made for the collection of an annual tax sufficient to pay the interest and also the principal thereof within the term of such indebtedness as hereinafter provided Provided That the total indebtedness in any school district of the first class including all bonded indebtedness and temporary indebtedness shall never exceed two (2) per centum of the last assessed valuation of taxable property for school purposes therein and in school districts of the second third and fourth class shall not exceed seven (7) per centum of such assessed valuation

The total amount of temporary indebtedness incurred in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs as hereinbefore provided shall not exceed seventy-five (75) per centum of the full amount of bonds authorized by such bond issue

All money borrowed for the purpose of current expenses and debt service as hereinbefore provided and remaining unpaid at the close of any fiscal year shall be paid out of the receipts of the following fiscal year for school districts as heretofore provided but in all events not later than the first day of July of such following year in school districts of the first class and not later than the first day of November in school districts of the second third and fourth class Provided That all temporary indebtedness for such purpose existing prior to the first day of July one thousand nine hundred [thirty-seven] thirty-nine shall be payable at any time not to exceed three years thereafter.

All money borrowed for permanent improvements for which no bond issue has been provided and for which an obligation or obligations other than bonds have been issued shall be paid within three years from date of issue of such obligation together with interest and at least one-third of the total principal of the original loan shall be paid annually Such obligation or obligations may be paid in full or in part each year when the taxes are received and reborrowed again the latter part of the fiscal year Provided That the amount reborrowed is less than the amount borrowed the preceding year by at least one-third of the total amount of the original loan Provided further That each time the money is reborrowed the date and purpose for which it was originally borrowed shall be re-stated Provided further That the amount of the original loan shall be paid in full within a maximum term of three years from the date of the original loan for such purpose district in anticipation of proceeds from a bond issue already officially authorized and approved by the Department of Internal Affairs shall be paid in full together with interest out of the proceeds of such bond issue within one year six months from the date of authorization of such bond issue

In case of an emergency any school district in this Commonwealth in any fiscal year after incurring temporary indebtedness for current expenses and debt service to the full extent of the provisions hereinbefore provided and finding the receipts from said temporary loans together with all other receipts to be inadequate to meet the expenditures of the official fiscal year's budget may appeal to the State Department of Public Instruction for permission to increase the temporary indebtedness of such school district beyond the amount hereinbefore provided and shall present to the State Superintendent of Public Instruction or his agent such financial statements or reports as he may require to give him adequate facts relative to the necessity of such increase in indebtedness The State Superintendent of Public Instruction is hereby authorized after due examination of the need of such school district either to refuse or grant permission to such school district to borrow additional funds beyond the provisions hereinbefore provided and in case of approval he shall set a maximum limit of the total amount of additional temporary indebtedness that such school district may incur during the fiscal year in addition to all temporary indebtedness outstanding at the time of such approval Provided That such additional amount of temporary indebtedness together with all other temporary indebtedness at any time for the purpose of payments on current expenses and debt service in school districts of the first [and second] class shall not exceed four-tenths of one (1) per centum and in school districts of the second class shall not exceed three-fourths of one (1) per centum and in school districts of the third and fourth class shall not exceed one (1) per centum of the total amount of taxable property in such district and the total indebtedness for such purposes together with all other indebtedness incurred without authorization by vote of the electors of the district shall at no time exceed two (2) per centum of the last total assessed valuation of the taxable property therein All temporary indebtedness remaining unpaid at the end of the fiscal year shall be paid in the same manner as hereinbefore provided

SENATE MESSAGES

HOUSE BILLS CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, returned bills from the House of Representatives numbered and entitled as follows:

HOUSE BILL No. 211.

* An Act to amend section one of the act approved the twelfth day of June one thousand nine hundred nineteen (Pamphlet Laws 450) entitled "An act permitting counties of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to appropriate and expend moneys and to incur indebtedness and issue bonds and other obligations for the improvement and maintenance of State highways and State-aid highways or any public highway in any county of the Commonwealth and providing the method of applying for said moneys and for the approval thereof by the State Highway Department in certain cases" as amended by extending the provisions thereof to include the improvement and maintenance of public highways in towns

HOUSE BILL No. 400.

An Act to amend the title and the act approved the nineteenth day of May one thousand eight hundred and eighty-seven (Pamphlet Laws 132) entitled "An act to give preference of appointment or employment to honorably discharged soldiers sailors and marines who fought for the Union cause in the late war of the rebellion" by extending the same preference to veterans and nurses of any war in which the United States has engaged

With the information that the Senate has passed the same without amendment.

AMENDED SENATE RESOLUTION CONCURRED IN BY SENATE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced informed that the Senate has concurred in the amendments made by the House of Representatives to Senate Resolution as follows:

In the Senate, February 7, 1939.

Whereas, Milk Control has been the subject of much controversy, and

Whereas, The production and distribution of milk is a subject of such vital importance to the citizens of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concur), That the President Pro Tempore shall appoint three members of the Senate, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint four members of the House, who together shall constitute a joint legislative committee and whose duty it shall be to investigate and study, (a) all regulations, records and activities of the several departments and boards engaged in any manner in the administration of laws regulating the production and distribution of milk and to take the testimony of such witnesses as may be deemed necessary to ascertain full facts which will be useful and helpful in formulating future remedial and regulatory legislation

Resolved, That said committee shall have power to issue subpoenas under the hand and seal of its Chairman, requiring and commanding any person to appear before it and answer such questions touching matters properly being inquired into by the committee, and to produce such books, papers, records and documents as the committee may deem necessary. Such subpoenas may be served upon any person and shall have the same force and effect as subpoenas issued out of the courts of this Commonwealth. Each member of the committee shall have power to administer oaths and affirmations to witnesses appearing before it. Any person who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to appear and testify for said committee, or to produce any books, papers, records and documents, shall be subject to the penalties provided by the laws of this Commonwealth in such cases.

BILLS SIGNED BY SPEAKER

Bills numbered and entitled as follows having been prepared for presentation to the Governor, and the same being correct, the titles were publicly read as follows:

Whereupon,

The SPEAKER, in the presence of the House, signed the same.

CORRECTION

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I wish to call to the attention of the Chair to the fact that House Bill No. 404, Printer's No. 141, page 13 of today's calendar appears incorrectly under "Bills on Final Passage Postponed." It should be on the third reading postponed calendar.

The SPEAKER. If this be an error, it will be corrected on tomorrow's calendar. The Chair thanks the gentleman for calling our attention to the error.

ADDRESS BY MR. KANE

Mr. KANE asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I presume we are now at the end of today's business and if there is any one who does not care to hear this statement I will not be offended if he has to go elsewhere. However, I wish to have in the Journal for the benefit of those who are interested in the coal problem a brief statement of the contents and purposes of a series of bills which I introduced last night dealing with the coal problem in the Commonwealth and which are numbered from 1000 to 1008 consecutively. This is for the guidance of the members and I would like to have it in the Journal so they can use it.

In presenting a series of bills aimed to endeavor to help solve the coal problem of Pennsylvania, which is so vital a part of Pennsylvania's unemployment problem, it is not the wish of the sponsors of the bills nor the Mines and Mining Committee to lay claim to having solved the problems of that distressed industry.

It is the feeling of the Chairman that we owe a public duty to endeavor to reconstruct this vast industry or to provide a means whereby it may reconstruct itself.

House Bill 1000 sets up the Pennsylvania Anthracite Reconstruction Corporation, with all that the name implies. It can do many things to facilitate the anthracite industry. It cannot engage in the mining business, the railroad business, nor the retail selling business. We farmers are willing to regulate and rebuild and reemploy in anthracite and we do not want the State to go mining, railroading or competing with the retail dealers, nor can it speculate in stocks and bonds.

House Bill 1001 sets up a Pennsylvania Anthracite Control Board, which can standardize quality and sizes and control production of anthracite coal. It sets up the machinery to do by a legally constituted board what has thus far been done with difficulty by obtaining temporary agreements among the operators. Temporary arrangements continue to make the dealers, the buyers, the laborers and the investors uncertain and they lie back for lack of confidence in an industry so chaotic. It gives the miners a break too by requiring that where mines are controlled on a basis of so many days' production, those days must run consecutively or else control shall be by weeks or months, so the men have some idea whether they have work or don't have work and can use their idle time to some advantage.

House Bill 1002 requires a license from the Secretary of Mines for any anthracite mine and requires evidence of ownership of the coal, a plan of operation and a bond to assure compliance with the mining laws. The fees are very low.

House Bill 1003 provides a licensing system for anthracite breakers or preparation plants. This is the choke at which this industry can most easily be controlled. There are hundreds of mines, thousands of dealers, but only a few over a hundred breakers.

House Bill 1004 requires that all coal shipped or delivered from any anthracite breaker shall be accompanied by a state-created and state-issued certificate of origin without which certificate the possession or transportation of prepared coal by any method on a conveyance shall be severely punishable.

I might add at this point that attempted forgeries or duplications of certificates of origin will be punishable under this bill by an imprisonment of five years in the penitentiary.

House Bill 1005 provides an appropriation of $100,000 to the Attorney General to conduct a fight for lower carrying charges on anthracite coal and authorizes and directs that he shall conduct such fight wherever and whenever needed during the next four years. It settles the question of his right to do so by directing that he shall and shall be the superior in charge thereof, to any other department or commission of the State, in conducting such fight. It does not direct the Attorney General to fight railroads, but only to secure lower transportation charges. He may use the fund to help the railroads help themselves. He may join the railroads of Pennsylvania to fight for a change in the system of freight rates so as to enable them to regain their lost business. It is a surprising thing to me that the railroads alone of all the utilities either will not or perhaps cannot legally grant better rates to those who use their services in volume over those who use them very little. Who pays the same price for a hundred pair of shoes or a hundred kilowatts of electricity as for one? And what trucker will not give you a better rate on a truckload of coal a day than on a truckload a year?

House Bill 1007 does the same with reference to soft coal transportation charges. The problem is as vital and the sum appropriated the same—$100,000.

House Bill 1006 is a bill to prevent the use of smoke-producing fuels in a region in the northeastern section of the State, which is primarily served by smokeless fuels at present, and which has great possibilities as a resort region. We have city ordinances to abate smoke nuisances and when a person next door to your house uses a great deal of smoky fuel and you do not it causes you a great expense by making you paint your house oftener, wash your curtains oftener and all that sort of thing. I do not see any reason why we should not prevent the use of smoke-producing fuels in the Pocono Mountain and northeastern Pennsylvania resort region, when smokeless fuels are actually cheaper to obtain there. There will be no hardship on the consumer, but a great benefit.

Furthermore, there is strong evidence to indicate that the railroads which haul out the anthracite coal out of our already distressed anthracite region, in many cases, use soft coal in the engines which haul it. Those statistics seem to prove that the railroads could have saved money by using the anthracite they haul. If this bill does not do anything more than make people think about this problem and go into the statistics on the question, it will have served a useful purpose. It seems to me like kicking a man when he is down to run a train into an anthracite coal mine facing bankruptcy and use soft coal in the engine to haul out what little coal he is able to ship on the railroad. It also seems to me that the power plants of the region which serve those anthracite people might all use their product. I understand this is entirely practical and that the biggest power company in the region, the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company, does use anthracite coal, very successfully.

House Bill 1008 does the same thing for soft mines as House Bill 1002 does for anthracite. It will prevent illegal mines commenting in the soft coal fields by requiring licenses etc. The fees are very low.

These bills are not in final form. There will, doubtless, be public hearings thereon. We welcome suggestion from operators, laborers, transporters and dealers. We are not for price fixing on the general public and have rejected all such proposals. We represent the coal people, but we also represent the consuming public. We are interested and concerned because of the danger to the great coal resources of the Commonwealth and the tremendous cost to all of us of the widespread unemployment in this industry.

In my opinion this presents a complete and comprehensive program. However, it is susceptible of improvement by members of the House who have amendments to offer which will go a long way to solve this very vital unemployment and industrial problem.

I wish to thank the members of the House for their courtesy and I wish to thank you, Mr. Speaker, for giving me this opportunity.

ADDRESS BY MR. DENMAN

Mr. DENMAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker and members of the House, yesterday Dr. Hindman took up the matter of tuberculosis and the Butler Tuberculosis Hospital. This morning I received a copy of a resolution passed at Butler in regard to the Butler Sanatorium which I desire to read to the House. The resolution reads as follows:

"At a special meeting of the Butler Chamber of Commerce, March 27, 1939, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Whereas, Pennsylvania is in need today of approximately 3,800 additional hospital beds for tuberculosis sufferers in order to reach the standard of two beds per death, and

"Whereas, The new Sanatorium in Butler County was planned for 550 beds, and new accommodations at Mont Alto and Hamburg are to provide 738 additional sanatorium beds, or a total of 1,288 beds, which represents only one-third of the 3,800 additional beds Pennsylvania needs, and

"Whereas, There are approximately 44,000 cases of tuberculosis in Pennsylvania at the present time, and at a conservative estimate, at least 12,000 of these are in need of hospital treatment, and

"Whereas, There is a dire need for provision for additional hospital beds for tuberculosis victims, and

"Whereas, The Western Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Butler, costing taxpayers of this Commonwealth in excess of $2,500,000, is now nearing completion, and

"Whereas, The Governor recently recommended to the Legislature in his budget message that the Sanatorium be not opened for two years,

"Therefore, be it hereby resolved that this organization respectfully petition Governor Arthur H. James and his

Secretary of Health to reconsider the needs of the state's tuberculosis victims and that a sufficient amount be included in the budget for the opening and operation of the Western Pennsylvania Sanatorium, the only institution of its kind in this section of the Commonwealth,

"And be it further resolved that copies of this resolution be sent the Governor, the Secretary of Health of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and to members of the State Legislature from the Butler District and to State and County Tuberculosis Associations of Pennsylvania.

"ARTHUR O. BLACK,
President.
"GEO. N. BURCKHALTER,
Secretary."

Mr. Speaker, I read this for the purpose of getting into the Legislative Journal information for the benefit of the people of the state who are interested in the plight of tuberculosis victims.

The SPEAKER. The Chair feels that if the members are going to read all of the petitions they receive into the Journal we might as well forget everything about Legislation.

The Chair receives very many resolutions daily which are referred to the Clerk.

Resolutions received, if they are to be filed, should be filed in the proper way and sent to the proper Committee. The Chair directs that this resolution be filed with the Clerk in accordance with the Rules.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS

There will be meetings of the Committees on:

Constitutional Amendments, Wednesday, April 5, 1939, at 10:30 a. m. in Room 333.

Public Health and Sanitation, Wednesday, April 5, 1939, at 11 a. m. in Room 323.

There will be an important meeting of the Sub-Committee in charge of the Criminal Code on Wednesday, April 5, 1939, at 10 a. m. in Room 147.

ADJOURNMENT

Mr. SETH W. BROWN. Mr. Speaker, I move that this House do now adjourn until tomorrow at 12 noon.

The motion was agreed to, and (at 5:41 p. m.) the House adjourned until Wednesday, April 5, 1939, at 12 noon.
